LESSONS WE LEARN FROM THE GREAT

Lives of great men all remind us,
As their pages o'er we turn,
That we're apt to leave behind us
Letters that we ought to burn.
—California Pelican.

Lives of great men all remind us
That our friends oft lift the lid
From the deeds we left behind us
That we fondly hoped were hid.

A stock clerk fell and injured his hand. A week later, when he was getting better, he asked the doctor anxiously:

"When this hand gets well, shall I be able to play the banjo?"

"Certainly you will," said the doctor.

"Thanks; you're a wonder," said the clerk. "I never could before, but I've always wanted to."

A countryman on a railway station platform went up to a slot machine, which bore the inscription: "Pull the handle with a jerk." He inserted a penny, then began searching anxiously for something on the machine.

A porter passed just then. "Hallo," he said, "what's the matter? Won't it work?"

"I dunno," replied the countryman. "It says 'Pull the handle with a jerk,' but I can't find the jerk to pull it with!"

OBEYING THE IMPULSE

The head of a large business house bought a number of "Do It Now" signs and hung them up around his office. When, after the first few days of these signs the business man counted up the results, he found that the cashier had skipped out with $20,000, the head bookkeeper had eloped with the stenographer, three clerks had asked for a raise in salary, and the office boy had lit out for the West to become a highwayman.

INTRICATE SPELLING

"Spell your name," said the court clerk sharply.

The witness began: "O, double T, I double U, E, double L, double—"

"Wait," ordered the clerk; "begin again."

The witness replied: "O, double T, I, double U, E double L, double U, double O—"

"Your honor," roared the clerk, "I ask that this man be committed for contempt of court."

"What is your name?" asked the judge.

"My name, sir, is Ottiwell Wood and I spell it O, double T, I double U, E, double L, double U, double O D."

AT THE THEATERS

"Lady Be Good" Featured At Arcade Today

The filming of "Lady Be Good," the First National Picture which opens today at the Arcade theater, was unusually interesting for every member of its cast, for it recalled the days of their theater experience before the movies got them.

Almost the entire picture takes place backstage in a vaudeville theater, with the principal action of the story taking place in the wings, the dressing rooms and "out in front."

The same waiting about in cold dressing rooms and dingy theaters for rehearsals and the old, familiar atmosphere of the theater took the actors back to the days before the moving pictures changed their lives for almost without exception the members of the cast had training in the legitimate theater.

First National's permanent theater set in a building by itself is a playhouse complete in every detail.

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall play featured roles in "Lady Be Good," with John Miljan, James Finlayson, Yola d'Avril, Nita Martan, Jay Eaton, Eddie Clayton and others in support.

The story was directed by Richard Wallace.

Colleen Moore Is Star In Film at Star

Every so often, the motion picture industry decides that Colleen Moore is definitely established as a specialist in this or that sort of characterization, and just as often she makes an unqualified success in an entirely different field of dramatic work.

For Miss Moore, whose new picture "Happiness Ahead," is the Star theater's attraction, now playing has always insisted on variety in her portrayals. In the early days of her career she was put in straight leading roles as a sweet unsophisticated country girl. Then she made a sensational success as a flapper in "Flaming Youth," and the industry agreed that she was the ideal type. Next she played a powerful dramatic characterization in "So Big," amazing everyone with her versatility, and then turned deliberately into comedy-drama, in which she attained new heights of popularity.

Just when most producers and directors decided that she was the ideal Cinderella type, Miss Moore selected "Lilac Time" for her next picture, in which she will be seen as a French peasant girl in a story that is a romantic drama.

Miss Moore appears in still another type of portrayal in "Happiness Ahead," which demands both sprightly comedy and emotional drama. Edmund Lowe plays opposite the star in "Happiness Ahead," others prominent in the cast being Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Sellon, Arthur Hoyt and Virginia Sale.

Will King Heads F. & M. Idea Wednesday

Will King will be here Wednesday with a brand new girl and giggle revue. Fanchon and Marco have signed the coast's favorite comedian to make a return tour over the West Coast circuit after nearly a years absence.

Will has named his new show the "Theatrically Speaking" Idea and it runs the gamut of all things entertaining. There'll be bits of drama, comedy, mystery, vaudeville, musical comedy grand opera and burlesque, between which the famous Will King beauties assisted by specialty performers will appear in song and dances.

With a trunk full of new gags and blackouts this year, the show will keep audiences in constant laughter.

Besides the Will King girlies, who hold all coast honors for beauty, charm and ability, there'll be Lew Dunbar, comedian and character actor who has trouped with Will these last fifteen years.

June Clyde, the little blonde soubrette with the 1000 candle-power personality and also Don Smith, the tenor whose voice made such an excellent impression on West Coast audiences. Among the specialty players are: Frances Williams, acrobatic dancer, Helen Thurston, aerialist and Dolores and Georgian.

"Theatrically Speaking" has been staged by Fanchon and Marco in five scenes, with numerous blackouts and specialty numbers.

It's to show at the Arcade theater Wednesday.
