Will King's Wit Liked at Arcade Last Evening

(A REVIEW) Will King's wit and there was a jangling color in plenty at the Arcade theater when Fanchon & Marco presented their Theatrical Idea yesterday.
It didn't take Will King any longer to tickle the audience's funnybone than it took him to get on the stage.
The comedian has a way with him that brings out the chuckles all the time and his several acts were something new and different.
But Will wasn't the whole show—and don't think so. Not to the extent of a dozen pretty girls he wasn't!

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 28 (AP)—From the four corners of the nation, democrats were trooping today into this valley in the Ozarks for the formal notification of a southerner, Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, of his selection as party's vice presidential nominee.
They found a city belted for the occasion and nearly every one expressed surprise at the natural beauty of the valley in the Ozarks for the formal notification of a southerner, Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, of his selection as party's vice presidential nominee.

Screen Comedian's Mother Buried Today

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP)—The world of make-believe pays homage today to a mother who gave to it her life and her best—two sons who in their way as screencomedian's great comedians have carried to the fore her name.
Among her kind in life, Mrs. Hannah Chaplin goes to her grave here today in the midst of the city in which her famous sons found fame and fortune as she found it a score of years before in old England.
In a verdant cemetery over which a forest of mountain foothills watch in their sleep down to the nearby sea, she will be laid to rest.
At her side, Charles Chaplin, her eldest son, together with a few intimate friends will stand. His brother, Sydney, in Europe, will mourn her abroad, unable to attend the rites, which will be severely simple.
More than the mere passing of a loved one, the burial will be the loss of a great ideal to the two sons. It was she who taught them a love of the theater, encouraged their first efforts and applauded their first successes.

the city would be preferred if the county is to build. Yet if the insurance money will be enough to restore the present court house to its former state of usefulness, I can see no more necessity for a new building now than there was before the fire. However, this matter will have to be decided by the people of the county.
L. A. Wright, druggist and state fish commissioner: When asked the pointed question of whether he favored a new court house or not, he replied, "Of course I do. I have always favored a new court house—in Union, seriously, I doubt if the people are ready to vote the tax for a new building.
Tom Brazier, real estate and insurance: "I would rather know more about the proposed new building and the cost to be incurred before making a definite statement of opinion about the matter. Of course the present location is a little inconvenient and a new building nearer the business section would be more convenient for those who find it necessary to frequent the county courthouse. The county is gradually improving its financial condition, and it might be a good idea to keep it that way for a few years.
E. F. Cooley: "Times are hard right now. It would be alright to build but it would be better to repair the old one until they could build. It ought to be put to a vote of the people. As for the site, I'd just as soon see it where it is."

W. E. Vandermaule, farmer, says: "Considering the present heavy tax burden of Union county, I believe the court house should be repaired and not a new one built.
Ira Day, farmer living near Summerville also says he believes the thing to do is to repair the old building.
"Build a new courthouse by all means," says R. E. Cunningham of Union, who was a La Grande visitor today. "The old one is not a fit one for La Grande.
"Repair the old one. We have too many taxes and bonds to pay now, and the site of the court house now is as good as any in town," says F. N. Ford, real estate man of La Grande.

THREE MISSING RESULT OF BOAT MISHAP TODAY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 28 (AP)—Three persons are missing and are believed drowned while 28 others, members of the crew of the tugboat Alhambra of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, were rescued when the tugboat turned over in the Ohio river early today.
The accident occurred directly opposite the Alhambra plant of the steel corporation as the tugboat was maneuvering to pick up a few of 10 barges on which a few tons of steel to be transported to Memphis, Tenn., today.
A double crew on the tugboat when without warning it turned level upward. Quick work on the part of a ferry boat crew, nearby the scene of the accident, prevented a large loss of life. Jones and Laughlin officials said. "The ferry crew tossed life preservers to those struggling in the water and all but three are thought to have reached shore.
John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee; Senator Peter G. Gerry, Rhode Island, a member of the democratic committee and on the committee of notification. She also had a full list of engagements for the afternoon.
Angus others to arrive was Claude G. Bowers of New York, the party's keynote at the national convention and the man selected to notify formally the sources of his selection for second place on the ticket. But aside from those known nationally in the wigwag of the party, the great bulk of the gathering thousands were southerners, principally from the southern states.
To Arkansas, the day is one of great importance. To the thousands of friends who for more than a quarter of a century have supported Robinson in his campaigns for public office, the notification afforded an opportunity to show their esteem.
By special proclamation of Governor Harvey Parnell, the day is a holiday throughout the state in honor of the first native son ever to be accorded a place on a presidential ticket.

LOCATE MANGLED BODIES OF FLIERS

(Continued from Page 1) veteran commercial pilot and associate of Merrill, reached the wreck at 6:20 a. m., an airplane piloted by Raymond L. Kitchellman of the Curtis flying service flying overhead guided them to the place.
Kitchellman in his report said the bodies were found 50 feet from the wreck. They were not burned, he said.
The plane was a total wreck and had evidently crashed into the trees at a terrific speed and was dashed to bits.
A fairchild pilot who flew over the scene reported the ground and trees for several feet around the wreck had been burned, indicating that the plane had caught fire after crashing.
The spot is inaccessible except by foot and the bodies will be packed out today, Mr. Russell said.
Donna's body will be shipped to Buffalo, where he was manager of the municipal airport. Merrill's body will be brought to New York by train.

COVE, Ore., Aug. 28 (Special)—The sentiment in Cove seems to tend toward building a new court house. Many men, when interviewed, questioned the cost of the new building, yet were in favor of it, if the taxes would not be too greatly increased. Some of the statements follow:
A. A. Antles: "If we need a new court house, I am heartily in favor of building one large enough for our needs."
S. H. Wetmer: "It would cost something, but I'd much rather the building was down town, and so would have to put up a new building sooner or later."
W. J. Hallmark: "I think now is the time to build it. They are going to have to build it, so why not now?"
A. M. Starkland: "It was a good building, but it was not made right. It will cost all they get out of the insurance to fix it up and then it won't be satisfactory. If they can sell the old building for what it is worth, it would be better to build a new one."
Mrs. Everett Powell: "We ought to have a new court house."
T. H. Conklin: "It seems to me that we will almost have to have a new one."
T. C. Hefty: "If it doesn't cost too much, we'd better have it."

Death Premonition Of Man Comes True

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP)—A strange premonition of death yesterday came true for Frank Field, a photographer of the fashionable and film notables of New York and Hollywood for many years.
