REGIME OF REPUBLICANS IS SCORED

The senator without mincing words reviewed the eight years record of republicanism in Washington and then of that party's new chieftain said:

"Mr. Hoover as the president's trusted adviser is perhaps more directly responsible for the failure of farm relief legislation during the eight years referred to than any other single political leader. His present position touching legislation for agricultural relief marks no material advance. In his speech of acceptance it is asserted 'the most grave economic problem in our nation today is agriculture.' Differences of opinion as to both cause and remedies have retarded the completion of a constructive program of relief.

"This language expressly recognizes the persistence of the problem and what is more significant the failure of the party to relief."

Then the senator added that although the republication for principal was not expressly approved the democratic platform did recognize the "principle of distributing the cost of operations with the respect to surplus crops over the marketed units whose products are benefitted thereby," and that the time had come "when an economic adjustment is justified in behalf of the millions of farmers throughout the nation."

He passed from farm relief to prohibition.

"There has always been room in the Democratic party" he said "for those who differ as to the best means of attending temperance and of suppressing the traffic in alcoholic beverages.

"The convention recognized that the democratic party is neither a prohibition nor an anti prohibition organization but is entrusted with power as they would be to enforce all laws."

Applause interrupted him when he quoted from Governor Smith's telegram to the Houston convention and again a few seconds later when he declared, "Can it be said that because Governor Smith believes that a return to the old style of the saloon, temperance and respect for law can be promoted through changes in the present system, he is a nullificationist and a enemy of the constitution? Such arguments impeach the intelligence of their authors."

He asked that President Wilson had vetoed the Volstead act but that the authority of his purpose was not questioned and has good faith generally conceded.

As to the American merchant marine, he said that the democratic party looked upon an "adequate" fleet as essential to the safety of the nation and the independence of the country.

He concluded with a denunciation of political corruption holding that honesty in public affairs is of transcendent importance and that corruption is the red signal of decadence.

Smoking his pipe he left the face of his audience of nearly 15,000 persons in front of the Arlington hotel and leaning close to the microphone from which his words were being carried out by air to millions scattered over the four corners of the nation, the senator shouted:

"The Democratic party protests itself to serve the government from those who have betrayed their trust by disgrace or ineptitude."

Texas Guinan Gets Slap For Glad Hand

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 31 (AP)—When Texas Guinan of New York night club fame arrived in Los Angeles one civic club gave the little girl a great big hand—but it was given in a back-hand slap that smashed the principal item out of the welcoming program. A thousand-plate dinner at the Breakfast club pavilion was the principal feature of the round of festivities announced when Texas Guinan, heavily laden with pearls, platinum and diamonds disembarked from a train here yesterday. But the band had hardly stopped playing for the parade of welcome when the Breakfast club served notice on the reception committee that permission to use the pavilion had been withdrawn "because of lack of official approval and because of unfavorable comment."

Mayor George Cryer, of Los Angeles, had refused to take part in the welcoming of the "Queen of the Night Clubs" to Los Angeles, and also declined an invitation to attend the dinner. Members of the reception committee and officials of the film studio where Texas Guinan will be starred in a talking motion picture said Mayor James Rolph Jr., of San Francisco, accepted and was southward bound to attend the dinner, and attempts were made to head him off when it was cancelled.

Navy Football Star Dies of Sunstroke

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 31 (AP)—Miles Sweet Fox, 19-year-old star on whom Navy had built high hopes for its coming football season, died early today after suffering a sunstroke at football practice yesterday afternoon.

Fox was described by William A. "Navy Bill" Ingram, academy football coach, as the "finest broken field runner the navy has had in several seasons," and newspapermen and football fans here, observing his work as a plebe, had dubbed him "the second 'Red' Grange" on the basis of a jim-flexsy they saw in his style of play.

In practice yesterday observers noted the activity of Fox, whom they described as almost in mid-season form. The practice was held, consisting mainly of running down punts, and included no tackling or scrimmage. After practice from 2 to 5 p. m., under a sizzling sun, the team ran to the dressing rooms and Coach Ingram had just congratulated Fox on his showing when the youth collapsed. He was taken to the naval academy hospital where physicians worked until 11 o'clock last night, when they held out hopes for his recovery later, however, he lapsed into unconsciousness and died at 1:30 this morning.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles M. Fox of Steelton, Pa., were summoned last night but did not arrive here until about dawn today, after the boy had died.

STOCKHOLM, (AP)— Full rigged sailing vessels, once the pride of Sweden's ocean commerce, are being driven from the trade lanes by modern steam and motorships. Only six of the old wind-jammers are in service and not one of the being is carrying cargoes where in 1905 there were 220 full-rigged ships and 69 brigs flying the Swedish colors.

In fourth place is Miss Louise Barnett with 5,550, Miss Marjorie Goro has 5,300, Miss Doris Cade has 4,950, Miss Vivian Hansen has 4,580, Barbara Hiatt, 4,250 and Beulah Shanks, 4,000. The contest is in its final spurt today and tomorrow and will close at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night and results will be announced at the Saturday night dance at Eagles hall. The results will be printed in a supplementary sheet of the program for Labor day.

Much interest is being shown in the Labor Day boxing matches, those in charge declare, and it is expected that one of the largest crowds assembled in many years will witness them. The card will be given at Rex hall at seven o'clock Monday evening.

The main 10 round event is to be between George Ingersol, 144 pounds from Astoria, and Del Allen, 140 pounds, of La Grande. Last night Allen won a decision from Benny Dotson in a fight at Astoria. This is the second time Allen has taken a decision from Dotson. In the six round semi-finals Soldier Bliss, 180 pounds, of Fort Stevens, will meet Herman Yeske, 180, of La Grande. There will be a four round curtain raiser between Glen Ford and Russell Anderson. O. D. Scott is to referee and J. B. Peare will be timekeeper. The card is approved by the La Grande boxing commission.

County Gets Insurance Cash

A check for $7765.74 was delivered to the county court of Union county today by Richard Copsey, a Carr-Copsey Insurance firm, as their share of the insurance loss sustained by the county in last week's fire. Mr. Copsey says the payment was made just six days after the adjustment and nine days after the fire. The policies were those of the Oregon Fire Relief, of McMinnville, Ore.

W. G. Sawyer, manager of the Sawyer-Holmes mercantile company: "I am not prepared to make a statement as I have not delved into the questions as to the cost of repairing or rebuilding."

L. D. Noah: "If the building would cost as much as $200,000 I believe it would be better to prepare the old one. The people of Union county have about as much tax burden now as they are able to carry."

Audmer Playle: "If water can get in those vaults—and it did—fire can. The people of Union county should take no possible chance in having vaults liable to fire. The loss of the county records would be far greater than a total building loss. If those vaults in the court house cannot be rebuilt, we should have new ones. This seems a logical time to build a courthouse."

Dr. J. E. Woodell: "I would like to see a new court house, if the people think they can afford it. If they think that is not possible we will have to manage with the old one until some future time when the tax burdens are not so heavy."

E. Earhardt, train conductor, "I believe we should not have a new court house at the present time considering the heavy taxation under which we are now laboring."

was accused."

Later Novak said, Gaines had told him "I am sorry I was drinking that night," but in the same breath denied that the crime was his.

From the prison Novak went to a hotel room here where William Gaines, brother and Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis Gaines, wife of the dead man, were waiting.

During the previous night Mrs. Gaines appeared composed. When told it was rumored her husband had made a confession, Mrs. Gaines merely smiled and said the rumors were ridiculous as her husband had no confession to make. She affirmed her belief in him to the last.

As the hour of execution struck, Mrs. Gaines said "It's near the time, isn't it?" She wept quietly when told that it was all over.

William Gaines on the other hand was much distracted, pacing the floor in an almost hysterical manner. He was prevailed upon to calm down, however, but often put his hand up to his neck as though the rope were about his own.
