A druggist was worried by people coming in to ask the time. To stop the nuisance he bought a clock, which he placed conspicuously in the window.

When the salesman called to inquire if the clock had the desired effect the druggist answered sorrowfully: "Well, not quite. Things are still bad. People come in now to ask if the clock is right."

A young man had been trying his wit on his fellow passengers in the train, and they were getting tired of it. When an old man in the corner spoke up, they listened with interest.

"Here, young man," said he, "two persons were walking down the street. One was tall, the other was short. The tall one was the short one's son, but the short one was not the tall one's father."

"That's impossible," said the young fellow, after pausing awhile. "No, it's a fact," said the older man.

"What relation, then, was the short one to him?"

"His mother."

The man who was hurt when a bottle exploded "just as he was ready to drink its contents" is lucky, he thinks, for a slice in the hand is worth two in the stomach.

Minister: "I am very sorry to hear of your misfortune. I should have thought that to drink himself would be the last thing your husband would do."

Mrs. Flatbush: "He was."

Miss Charlie Pumphrey, the Snake's first social favorite, is puffed. Just yesterday her little brother came up and said: "Sis, you're pretty in two ways."

Curled was tickled. "How?" she inquired.

"You're pretty homely," answered little brother, "and pretty apt to stay that way."

A young woman went to the manager of a touring theatrical company and asked for a job.

"What experience?" inquired the manager.

"I haven't had any experience," she replied. "I just had an awful quarrel with my husband and his family, so I decided to go on the stage and embarrass them."

An organization for the improvement of divorce laws suggests that luncheonettes be made sufficient grounds. As an added starter we recommend the quotation, "My mother said that father never contradicted her."

AT THE THEATERS

"Perfect Crime" Written For Clive Brook

An instance of the manner in which modern screen writers mould their stories to the ability of a definitely chosen screen artist is presented in the case of Clive Brook, who appears in the featured role of "The Perfect Crime," the first mystery drama now playing at the Star Theater.

The author, William LeBaron, vice-president in charge of production of KRO, having to mind a role of extraordinarily difficult dramatic content, immediately thought of Brook, who on the basis of his performance in pictures of similar type alone was qualified for the role.

For Brook has thoroughly established his ability to portray emotional roles of great intensity. The story was accordingly modeled with Brook in mind.

As a master criminologist, a man of high intelligence who becomes obsessed with the idea that he can commit the "perfect crime," after having solved criminal problems for years, Brook presents a dramatic character in a picture which is an adaptation of Isaac Zangwill's story, "The Big Bow Mystery."

Tarzan Picture At Colonial Beginning Friday

The most thrilling and adventurous novel written has been brought to the screen by Universal and the Colonial Theater is proud to announce that it has scheduled the film version for showing here. The story, which Universal has made into a chapter play, is from Edgar Rice Burroughs' epochal book, "The Jungle Tales of Tarzan." The screen name is "Tarzan the Mighty."

Readers who have thrilled at the mere mention of the name Tarzan, will welcome this announcement. Tarzan, the ape-man—raised from childhood by a jungle ape—falling in love with a white woman he had over come—protecting her from the ferocious of the jungle—fighting the animals whose rule he had once been—these and a thousand other attributes that spell romance, courage, strength, and adventure have been brought into the chapter play to hold and delight audiences.

"Tarzan the Mighty" will be here every week, starting Friday with the first episode.

Frank Merrill, one of the country's outstanding athletes, will be seen in the starring role of "Tarzan the Mighty."

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them ere they start. Creomulsion, an emulsified cream that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Always Use The Telephone Directory

Many times every day, telephone patrons call the wrong number. This is bad for everybody. If you've been called out of bed at 4 o'clock in the morning by "wrong number" you've been madder than a hornet and you blamed "Central" for it. And the one who tried to call the party got mad, too, because there was a delay.

HERE'S A SAFE RULE FOR EVERYBODY: Consult the telephone book. Don't rely on your memory.
