Organ and Song Recital Feature Sunday Evening

Claude C. Pratt to Preach Farewell Sermon; Rally Day at Central Church of Christ

Several very interesting services are scheduled for Sunday in La Grande churches, including among others, the following: organ and vocal solo program at the Episcopal church, a rally day at the Christian church, a farewell sermon by Claude C. Pratt at the Church of God Sunday evening, and special individual members at several of the other churches.

Much interest is attached to the organ recital at St. Peter's Episcopal church, as this also happens at the beginning of the evening services. The morning program follows: 8 a. m., holy eucharist; 9:45 a. m., church school; 11 a. m., morning prayer; 7:30 p. m., "The Cross at Human Fall"; Mrs. H. N. Astley, at console, will play psalms by Bergquist, organist "Meditation" by Massenet and postlude "March" by William Hill. The Workers' Guild will meet at 2:45 for a discussion of the election.

The program for the evening recital, under the direction of Mrs. E. N. Astley, with Mrs. P. E. Pullman, vocalist, at Baker, assisting, follows: Organ prelude "Thou Art Triumphant";

Chiropractic
Adds Nothing Takes Nothing Away—A revelation in the healing art!

For thousands of years it has been customary when a person was sick, to either "give him something" or "cut out something." Unless this was done his chances to survive were rather slim. At least this was the general opinion held. A radical change has come about with the advent of Chiropractic.

The Chiropractor adds nothing and takes nothing away. He gives the Almighty Creator credit for having done a perfect job when the human being was created—that nothing was added and that nothing should be taken away.

A little fixing now and then on any machine becomes necessary. This has been known by the mechanic of the past, and thus reasons the Chiropractor—the body is a machine, it also is liable to get out of adjustment in the daily grind of existence. Correct this and every organ should function properly—and it will. There is not a mischievous about this any more. This has been demonstrated to any practitioner of this new health science time and again.
