TRADE MARK REG.

"What sort of reception did your wife give you when you got home?"

"Ah, the dear woman threw flowers at me."

"Good gracious! How did you get that black eye, then?"

"She neglected to take the flowers out of the pot."

THE CHAIN GANG

The melancholy days are here,
And there's a darn good reason;
The overcoat I wore last year
Won't stand another season.

—Washington Star

The melancholy days are here,
I don't upon my soul.
Know where to get the money, dear,
To buy my winter's coal.

TAKING NO CHANCES

A clerk brought his umbrella into the office and stood it up in the rack.

The boss looked at him curiously. "What you got that for?" he asked. "It isn't raining and doesn't look like rain."

"I know, but some of the wife's relatives are out at the house and this is the only umbrella I own."

The train came to a sudden stop between stations with a tremendous grinding of brakes. Immediately a worried-looking man rushed down the track and demanded the reason of the guard.

"What is it?" he asked. "An accident?"

"Somebody pulled the communication cord," was the reply. "The driver put on the brakes, you fish."

AT THE THEATERS

African Lions In Picture At Arcade

Monarchs of the jungle hold no fear for Jacqueline Logan! In fact, the charming De Mille player has marked ability in the management of wild beasts.

In "The Leopard Lady", in which Miss Logan plays the title role, this daring screen actress whipped six huge leopards through their tricks. As a circus performer in this melodrama of the Big Tops, many gruelling scenes with the animals prancing and lunging against the iron bars of the cage were filmed with Miss Logan calmly wielding the cracking whip, and the monstrous cats snarlingly obeying.

As Mary Magdalene in Cecil B. De Mille's "The King of Kings," Miss Logan worked with other ferocious spotted leopards, but as quickly, and one of the cars went off the rails. We'll be held up here about four hours."

"Four hours!" exclaimed the passenger. "But I'm to be married today!"

Instantly the guard turned on him.

"Say," he demanded, "you ain't the fellow who pulled the cord, are you?"

A grocer was striving hard to add a few cents to the total value of his sales.

"We've got some fine alligator pears," he suggested.

"Silly," scorned the young housewife. "We don't even keep goldfish."

"Tenth Avenue" Has Novel Background

Tenth Avenue of New York City—lawless and untidy—menaced by gangsters and guns—murder and marauding—inhabited by sinister moving shadows—such is the tremendously powerful background against which was filmed "Tenth Avenue," a De Mille Studio production for Pathe which is now at the Star theater.

Just five blocks from fashionable Fifth Avenue, but only a short distance to the other side of the world, "Tenth Avenue" is an intimate glimpse into the lives of those whose code is based on widely different standards from other sections of the metropolis.

Phyllis Haver, Victor Varconi and Joseph Schildkraut portray the principal featured roles. The picture was adapted for the screen by Douglas Doty from the stage play of the same name. Robert Edeson, Louis Natheaux, Olsson Fergusson, Ernie S. Adams and Ethel Ferguson, Ernie S. Adams and Lydia Wales are prominently cast.
