OFFICE CAT
TRADE MARK
By Junius

The school teacher had brought a blue bowl containing goldfish to school.

"Now," she said, "can anyone tell me what a goldfish is?"
"Yes, teacher," replied a little girl. "It's a machine that has got very rich."

USELESS
A La Grande man on a four-wheeled escapade walking over a congested sidewalk. Naturally, he was very angry and seeing a man working near the spot, exclaimed:

"He nearly fell over the dangerous machine over there! Why on earth don't you have a sign board put up there?"

"Well," he said slowly, "we did have a sign up, but nobody fell over, so we took her down again."

Another way to keep cookies and doughnuts safe from juvenile hands is to lock them in the pantry and hide the key under the soap on the washstand.

He: "I've found a A-lent clover."
She: "That means we will soon be married."
He: "Oh, I thought it meant good luck."

Buzz Barton Coming In Western Film

The young in spirit as well as the young in years will be crowding into the Colonial theater to see fifteen-year-old Buzz Barton, the PHO western star, in his latest production, "The Bantam Cowboy," if the reception accorded this fresh-faced cowboy wonder on his previous appearances is any criterion. The new Buzz picture will open on Friday.

Buzz, who holds the distinction of being the only boy western star on the screen, has packed the houses when any of his former productions have come to town. "The Bantam Cowboy" is his seventh starring vehicle and the last of his first series for PHO. It is said to be his best.

Louis King, director of Buzz in many former success, handled the megaphone from this picture, which is taken from a story by Robert South Bradley, veteran western writer. The cast includes Frank Rice, Tom Lingham, Dorothy Kitchner, Sam Nelson, Bob Fleming, Bill Patton and others.
