THE CHIEF

In both single and double breasted models with style built into them, so that it will last as long as the garment itself. And how important this is—especially in an overcoat! You know how a coat gets out of shape after you've had them a while. Try one of ours. Wear it month in and month out. See how its smartness endures.

Not So Long Ago

Thousands of Women Could Not Afford Nice Clothes!

There was no place to buy them except the General Store with its dusty, jumbled stocks and last year's styles.

Today, you see stylish, well dressed women wherever you go. Many of these women are our customers. They have learned that they can buy a smart, up-to-date coat or frock, at the nearest J. C. Penney Company Store. They know, too, that it will be well cut, of excellent material and the price is often lower than if they made it at home.

Trades Farm On Wolf Creek To La Grande Man

By Lathel Forrstrom

(Observer Correspondent)

NORTH POWDER, Ore., (Special)—Jack Kilby has traded his farm interests on Wolf creek to Henry Davis of La Grande. Mr. Kilby has purchased the Union Pool hall on Depot street and will move his family Saturday. He owned the same pool hall three years ago, selling out and purchasing the ranch known as the Neal ranch on Wolf creek.
