A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Girl: "Really? But where are the mirrors?"

A very stout woman got in the trolley car and plumped herself down beside a very small man. Her massive form completely obliterated him, and, except for the crown of his hat, he was hidden from view. "They ought to charge by weight," he remarked in a smothered voice.

"Weight, indeed," snapped the stout woman. "If they did it would hardly be worth their while stopping to pick up a featherweight like you."

Before marriage he calls her "dear" because he thinks she is and after marriage because he knows she is.

The screen rights to this story were purchased by Fox Film and the directorial assignment went to William K. Howard, youthful director, who has surpassed his prior efforts, including "White Gold," "The Main Event" and other successes.

The central figures are a pair of boom companions, a hard boiled sailor and a mere youth, who team together and engage in river piracy working in the dark of the night and never pursued by watchful harbor police.

Blonde Haired Marie In Star Film

Blonde hair surely does make a difference. Marie Prevost, who is an authority on the subject, frankly admits it.

Miss Prevost should know. She is the star in "A Blonde for a Night," a new rollicking William Cullen comedy produced by the Miller and it gives her a big chance to transpire her emotion from the jettison of "In to Reno" to the different qualities which go with the type said to be preferred by gentlemen.

"Blonde hair releases some complexes which make for mental freedom," explains the piquant Marie. "Nothing daisy or dilly, but just a happy, carefree effect that gives a new outlook on life which is bright and cheery."

Nearly everyone associated with the picture, including Director E. Mason Hopper and F. McGraw Willis, supervisor, aided in the transformation ceremony. And Miss Prevost became so fond of her new process that she has threatened to "go permanently blonde."

Co-starring in important supporting roles are Pranklin Pangborn, Harrison Ford, T. Roy Barnes and Lucien Littlefield. The comedy is now on view at the Star theater.

"Little Yellow House" Opens Run at Arcade

That a sweet, simple story of mother love, duly directed and well acted, comes near the heart of the average theater-goer, is evidenced by the warm reception accorded "The Little Yellow House," an Elio production that opens tonight in the Arcade theater.

This story taken from the McCall magazine serial story by Beatrice Burton, deals with the problems of a gallant little mother who endeavors to make a home for her family in an old house that has little in its favor but the memories of happier days. Her husband, a wastrel and much-dissipated, does much to make things uncomfortable. Her daughter, besides the things she cannot afford, and her son is a smart aleck. But she loves them all and manages to bring everything out all right in the end with the aid of a worthy young man in love with her daughter.

Of course there is a villain in the person of the wealthy young broker in whose office the daughter works.

Leo Meahan has handled this picture with no streak and understanding a touch as to which has characterized his screen presentations of the time. Beatrice Burton's story, which won the motion picture public by storm.

The critics cast asides credit for its work. Martha Moberg, a comparative newcomer to dramatic roles, does admirably, as does Orville Caldwell, who plays opposite her. No mention need be made of such well known artists as Lucy Beaumont, Edythe Chapman, and
