OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Huh! "So you've finished the story? Did it end to suit you?" Wife (disgustedly): "I don't know. The reading time is given as 15 minutes and 10 seconds and my time was up before I could find out whether they married or not."

And now let me tell you about the girl who went airplane riding and took her water wings along. Making a fool of a man is one job woman can't beat nature at.

English
A fair young girl flounced her way into the Baker bus and sat down in the only remaining seat beside a young man. "Excuse me a moment, but I began the young man, but the sentence was cut short when the young girl gave him an icy stare. Some time passed, and the same process was repeated. Finally the man muttered up his courage for one blow and said: "I don't care whether you like it or not, but I want that package of eggs you've been sitting on for the last two hours."

We sometimes get up in the morning feeling like an ace and go to bed at night feeling like the deuce.

The owner of a small store whose premises had been burned out a friend. "A terrible affair! I am ruined, I am ruined. I just stood there helpless, watching it burn. My fur coat was white, white, white as your shirt." Then looking at his friend's shirt, he added, "whiter."

Mr. Hillerton, the butcher, was a jovial soul. As he was cutting up an order of lamb chops for a lady customer, she asked curiously: "Mr. Hillerton, what led you to choose your present occupation?" "Well, really, I don't know, ma'am," explained Mr. Hillerton. "Maybe it was because I have always been fond of animals."

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—It is back the audacious way to cross the street through a funeral procession.

Fred D. Stevens drove his car through the line of machines following the body of the late state representative Thomas Curran yesterday, and was killed when his car collided with another.

TO TELL OF FLIERS' FATE
LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Walter G. H. Hinchcliffe, whose husband flew to his death last March in attempting to fly across the Atlantic with the Honorable Keesie Mackay announced today that she had become interested in aviation and would tell the full story of the fate met by the fliers in a lecture on Wednesday.

AT THE THEATERS

Comedy Hit Now Showing At Star

Outstanding among the successful comedy presentations of the season, according to the verdict voiced in all parts of the country, is "Taxi 13," the big comedy special which was made for PBO by Director Marshall Neilan and is now playing at the Star theater.

Character Conklin plays the featured role of Andy Smith, a hapless taxi driver who becomes entangled with a band of crooks. "Taxi 13" has all the thrills, suspense and love interest, against a background of broad comedy, that spells success.

Martina Sleeper, the dainty ingenue who has won fame in previous PBO presentations, heads the supporting cast in the role of Flora Macintosh, the cabby's daughter.

Richard Wales, Gustaf, Van Beffering, Lee Moran, Hugh "Boss" Charles River and Jerry Miller are also prominent in the supporting cast.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the picture upon which Universal Pictures corporation has been lavishing time and great sums of money for the past two years. Month after month passed before river conditions were right for Linda to cross the ice, but when it was secured a good job was done. We see Linda, leaving her baby Harry, leaving from one cave of ice to another, the bloodhounds of her pursuers but on the trail, while on the far Ohio shore, the right, you must recall, was from the Kalanick, over to Ohio from a slave state into a free state; the helpful Quaker, Phineas Fletcher, waited to lend assistance.

Then there is the story of the Shellys, kind slave owners who were forced by money troubles to sell Uncle Tom, most faithful of the slaves, down the river to the slave market at New Orleans.

One of the best performances in the film is given by a Negro actor, James T. Lewis. Margarita Pinheiro is Linda and Arthur Edmund Carew is the George Harris.

It's way down the muddy Mississippi, Uncle Tom and in his chains cheered up by a sight of that angelic Miss Eva St. Clair, an only child, whose desire was law with her adoring father—who wants Uncle Tom and he is bought for her. Here the Topsy episodes follow; those episodes wherein the devilish Topsy steals from the pious Uncle Tom, steals and is caught in the act.
