"Golf Widows" Now Showing At Arcade

Crook Plot In Clever Drama At the Star

You'll like Columbia's "Golf Widows" at the Arcade Theatre. It is refreshing to see something different flashed upon the screen. The picture is unique in plot, clever in development and overflows with spontaneous humor and situations which are entirely new.

"Golf Widows" relates the adventures of an insurance salesman, who is ready to write policies on every possible risk. He has two clients, who prove exceptionally profitable. They insure their game against rain; themselves against losing their wives; and their homes against damage from a misjudged ball in practice matches. The dramatic agent learns that his profession is at times dangerous and frequently leads to embarrassing complications, which endanger his own love affair.

The two golf enthusiasts find that information for the game is a sure source of domestic troubles and a highly expensive pastime. The advice is given that if you don't pay to go hunting for adventure, if you are married to a golfer, plenty of them will come to you without looking.

Starting with an unusual situation in which a wife gets out of her husband's car and starts to walk home, "Golf Widows" is filled with surprises and thrills. The beautiful scenic background, show Hollywood's famous cinematographers upon which may be seen screen celebrities, popular gathering places, and shops in which actresses purchase their wardrobes. There are also air views, between Los Angeles and Los Angeles, taken from a passenger plane, glimpses of the famous Mexican race track and gambling halls and beautiful shots of the open country.

Vera Reynolds and Harrison Ford head the cast, which includes John Patrick, Kelly Rand, Kathleen Key, Vernon Dent and Will Stanton. Eric C. Kenton directed.

ACTOR SHOTS SELF

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—A. M. Zerk, 35, of Seattle, Wash., once a famous comedy director and a lyricist, shot and fatally wounded himself late yesterday at the La Salle Street railway station. Despondency over the death of his wife, known on the stage as Frances Vanita Grey, was a reason assigned for his act.

In Chicago continuation schools courses in the use of ropes and make-up have been started. Maybe that rule should be changed to read, "fitting and round."
