LENA WILL LEAD THE WHITE SOX

Man of Action Gets His Big Chance; Chicago Fans Pleased at News

By Paul R. Mickelson (Associated Press Sports Writer) CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—"Lena" Blackburn, man of action, at last has his big chance—a chance to lead Chicago's once mighty White Sox out of baseball's wilderness.

As manager in his own right of the team which was tumbled from its pinnacle by the notorious "Black Sox scandal" of 1919, the fiery, moody "Lena" has a chance to become the miracle man of present day baseball.

After applying his mastery of strategy as infielder and then coach to the faltering team for more than a decade, Blackburn was called upon to pilot the team last July when Ray "Cracker" Schalk resigned. But while the job was actually cast for another year, "Lena" did wonders with the machinery left him by piloting it to 525 baseball. His reward came yesterday, when he was named as manager for 1929 and given as free a hand as any White Sox manager ever had.

Chicago fans were elated by the news and the general prediction was that "Lena" was the man to turn the trick. If he does, the turnstile at Comiskey park, a giant stadium holding 65,000, probably will do a land office business again for the first time since the scandal.

Blackburn, however happy over his managership and free rein, forego discouraging task. He needs a ratcher, pitcher and at least an infielder. He believes he can get them.

Two newly purchased players, however, may mean a lot to Blackburn. They are Bob Wolland, young southpaw obtained from the Mississippi Valley league, and outfielder Clarence Hoffman, who was lead man for Pacific Coast league pitchers last season. The White Sox paid $20,000 to get Hoffman from Sacramento.

Owner Comiskey said he planned to give Blackburn whatever help he needed and that if "Lena" could lead the team to first division in 1929, he would be satisfied. "My check book is open and we're all for 'Lena,'" the old Roman said.

JACK SHARKEY WINS DECISION IN BOSTON GO

BOSTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, who is assaying a comeback, won a decision last night over Arthur Dekuh, New York heavy.

Sharkey gave Dekuh a terrific beating in their ten round encounter but lacked punch and fitness. He was heavy and slow, and his timing was woefully off with the result that he seemed unable to land his hooks cleanly.

Although Dekuh appeared paralyzed with fright when the bout started and contented himself throughout with merely staying the limit, he took all Sharkey had and never seemed in danger except in the sixth when Sharkey had him down for the count of nine. But he took seven left hooks to the jaw and a hard right uppercut to turn the trick.

It was Sharkey's first fight since his meeting in New York last April with Jack Delaney. He weighed 194 pounds while Dekuh carried 204.

Five Knockouts Are Registered In Four Scraps

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 11 (AP)—With four events scheduled on last night's program, boxing fans had the unusual experience of witnessing five knockouts.

George Ingersoll, Astoria welterweight, knocked out Ken Kent, Hood River, in the first round of a scheduled eight-round event.

Ted Rogaway, Portland, scored a second-round knockout over Jack Dillon, Portland, in what was to have been a six-rounder. They are welter.

Jimmy Anderson, Astoria featherweight, knocked out Hugh McKnight of Portland in the second round of a bout that was to have gone four rounds.

All this was witnessed after the evening had got off to an auspicious start when Harry Carlson, Knappa, and Art Theodoss, Astoria, middleweights, had stood in the center of the ring and hammered each other into a double-knockout in the first round of a scheduled four-rounder. Carlson, who was credited with being knocked out in the "sevens," fell prone on his father's brother, and both were unceremoniously pulled from the ring.
