with gold on Morocco. The pad within is bound into the cover, and the lower edge of each sheet sticks out below and is perforated at the edge of the cover. Each day is dated and may be torn off.

Books on Open Shelves
Open shelves for books as in a library are becoming a feature of some of the new offices. Besides books, one or two objects d'art may be used appropriately. Should your friend wish to collect postcards, or candlesticks, or old ivory, or clocks, why not place part of his collection on the shelves of his office? Where does the gift come in? Well, you can add to his favorite collection, can you not? Or buy him a lamp that will show off his treasures.

Lamps deserve a complete story in themselves. In the Modern Art style, a lamp seems to fit very nicely into the formalities of office furniture and furnishings. This is one of the few places where the modern art fits without jarring on its surroundings. In some illustrations lamps in this style are good too.

Fine Designs in Lamps
It is quite possible to fit every modern piece and antique together as some decorators have already shown us. But it takes skill and knowledge to do this. When it comes to lamps, however, there are so many lovely ones designed in Italian pottery, Spanish, Colonial, Venetian, that one need not despair.

Before you leave the subject of gifts for men, there is one line of gifts that is comparatively new—if you have plenty to spend. This line includes radio cabinets. One of these was of carved oak in Gothic design with appropriate brass hinges, a lock and door pulls. Another one of interest was covered entirely with petit point. One can imagine it fitting in beautifully in some homes.

Suggestions in Wrought Iron
When a man and wife have a mutual interest in any garden, the problem of giving to them is simplified. For their indoor garden, there is a number of new suggestions in wrought iron. Flower stands in all sorts of paints and finishes are offered. These hold one, two, three, six pots or more. One, two, three, six pots or more, iron safe in its general flat appearance. Here and there on it are arranged pots for trailing vines.

Fancy pottery jars to hold plants are imported from other countries. These are gay and modern in design and color. A number of them are especially designed to hold cacti. If your friend is not cultivating cactus you can offer him an other variety. There is a clever imitation cactus in pale green velvet that is most deceptive in its pretty little flower pot. Even the spines are imitated.

Breakfast Set for Two
A useful present for a young couple who are starting a home-keeping would be a breakfast set for two. Plates, butter plates, cups, egg cups, cereal bowls in pairs, a teard tank, a coffee pot, a hot water jug and the usual sugar and creamer constitute one set. These are of a cheerful but-tercup yellow in English china with bright flowers dashed on the sides.

If one were to consider gifts in the electric department there are ever so many that are practical and decorative, too. Waffle irons come in more attractive designs, every year. Percolators too, wear new looks—new designs. Toasters do everything but think. We haven't found one yet that will ring a bell to remind one's husband (who is reading his paper at the breakfast table and told to "send the toast") that the toast is done. One always wonders that out when it is burned to a crisp. He is so surprised. Even into the fourth class at the same school.

Electric Grills Useful
The electric grills offered to you these days are enough to convince any bride that a range is quite unnecessary. You can poach eggs, fry bacon, toast and cook a few other things all at the same time—why buy a range?

Hasn't each of us forgotten our first school desk? And we know this year's advertising will invite the first woman to buy one of these better school desks for the little woman for her Christmas. (The letter is especially recommended not to show appreciation? It has always seemed to us to be a bit hard on Santa to deliver a range—such shipments the way they are now and after that, boy-boys are bound to mind. We think we will ask Santa some day. "Now, liberal allowances, we ten dollars, please on the old range.")

DIAMONDS AND TRAGEDY

Nearly all of the famous diamonds of history have a record of violence and sudden death behind them. No other precious stone has been the subject of so much emotional romance and tragedy and sorrow. The tales of the great diamonds go back to the time when the world was still a wild and lawless place and the world's great cities were still in their infancy.

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

When the Christmas season approaches and the advertisements everywhere are permeated with gift suggestions, it seems as though every known article of merchandise is offered as a gift—by the advertiser at least.

This year one fully expects to see some advertiser extolling the merits of his plum colored sink (plum being the favorite color of plumbers) and showing a wife accepting it with pleasure from her beaming husband, the faucet being tastefully decorated with holly. Not that we object to merriment or holocaust sinks! Not in the least. And of course there are wives here and there (the survey has been made as yet) who would prefer a new sink to any other gift they might receive! However, when gifts for women predominate in the gift shops, why choose a sink?

Logical Gifts for Men
Appropriate gifts for men are much harder to find. There are always things in leather, and ash trays, globes. But he really can't carry more than seven bill folders, and if he doesn't smoke, what then?

Why, then you must strip to
