Mystery Man In Solitary Cell, Salt Lake City
SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 7 (AP)—A man who staggered into a service station yesterday afternoon handcuffed, blindfolded and gagged and declared he was J. C. Price and that he had been kidnapped by two men at his ranch near Big Timber, Mont., 14 days ago and brought to Salt Lake was held in solitary confinement at the city jail this morning.
Police were awaiting the arrival from Billings, Mont., of Sheriff Ed Brannin and County Attorney John N. McFarland before proceeding with their investigation. In the meantime Police Chief Joseph E. Burdige has issued orders that the Montana mystery man may be seen by no one.
Information was received from Big Timber authorities shortly before midnight yesterday that the charred body of a man found on the Price homestead was identified as Price and buried at Hopeman, Mont. A telegram to police also stated $14,000 on an insurance policy which Price held had been paid to his father.
"I am Price," declared the man in the city jail. "I was kidnapped 19 days ago and carried away from my homestead by two men. They kept me blindfolded and handcuffed and I didn't see the light of day again until I escaped yesterday. They left me alone in the automobile in the city jail. I kicked out one of the windows and got away. I ran to the service station and until the attendant there took off the blindfold, I had no idea where I was."

LESS GUARDS ON GRID TEAM IS SUGGESTION
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (AP)—If the football rule makers wish to speed up the game and make scoring more frequent, Lawson Robertson, trainer at the University of Pennsylvania and head coach of American Olympic teams, suggests the removal of the two guards.
"There are too many men on the fields now," he said, "and I would suggest dropping the guards. They are there; they work hard; nobody sees them. They just make the game more complicated by their presence on the field without adding in the least to the thrill. Removal of the guards would mean more scoring."
Robertson's suggestion found little favor with Lou Young, Penn coach. "So far as I am concerned," he said, "I wish they would let football alone. It's all right the way it is."

Lanza Bryant Is Held For Murder
CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 7 (AP)—Lanza Bryant was indicted today by the Benton county grand jury on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Lewis "Ray" Dickerson, Oregon State college student and assistant-football coach. Bryant was charged with stabbing Dickerson in a fight here the night of Dec. 17. Dickerson was escorting a young woman to her home when he was attacked by Bryant, who was an admirer of the girl. Circuit Judge Skylesworth set time for arraignment this afternoon, when Bryant will enter his plea.

"Actors" Get Big Sum at Dice Party
NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 7 (AP)—Five men made up with rouge, burned cork and false eyebrows, staged a private show entitled "hands up" before a select little blue party in St. Bernard's Parish yesterday, and today they were $5,000 richer because of their efforts.
Although the act was far from funny for the gamblers, six shooters made it convincing. One of the "actors" threatened to "blow the audience to hell" if the skit was stopped. It was not stopped.
Afghanistan's army has gone on strike for its pay. Maybe the soldiers do not propose to stand for any old army games.

Italian Cardinals Are in Minority
ROME, Jan. 7 (AP)—An unprecedented situation in the red college was created today by the death of Cardinal Tosi, archbishop of Milan. For the first time since the so-called Babylonian captivity (when the popes lived at Avignon in the 14th century) the Italian Cardinals are in a minority of four.

There are now 29 Italian Cardinals, 33 others and 8 vacancies. This makes it practically certain that the pope will bestow several red hats at the spring consistory.

World Not So Big—That the world isn't so big after all has again been illustrated, this time in the case of Clyde Robertson, who has just returned from a month's vacation trip. He is back in La Grande now at his job at the desk of the Sacajawea Inn. While in Cody, Wyo., Mr. Robertson "Doc" saw an old acquaintance, F. A. Fisher, who is well known in La Grande as representative of the Hess and Son company, of St. Louis. He has been making this territory for the last seven or eight years, Doc says, and he is the only La Grande person Doc saw during the whole trip which took him to Cody to visit his brother, Ray Robertson, and to Omaha to visit his two sisters and three brothers. He also visited in Spokane, Wash., on the trip there.

Mr. Andrews' Brother Dies—E. T. Andrews and A. V. Andrews, of La Grande have been notified of the death of their brother, Matthew Andrews, at his winter home in St. Augustine, Fla., following an illness of several months. Mr. Andrews was an active member of the M. A. Hanna company, of Cleveland, operators in iron ore, copper and coal mines and also railroads and steamships. Mr. Andrews' funeral will take place tomorrow from the First Presbyterian church of Cleveland. Burial will be in Lake View cemetery beside the grave of his only daughter, who died in Paris two years ago. He is survived by his wife, a son, Donald Andrews, of New York, four grandchildren, three brothers and two sisters.
