Father—So you wish to marry my daughter, eh? You believe, young man, that you could support a family?

Suitor—Well, er—that is, you see, sir, I was only reckoning on Ellen, but I suppose if it's necessary I can take care of the rest of you, too.

Father—You are very brave to want to marry me. Do you know that the first man that married me died shortly afterwards?

Suitor—And the second one committed suicide?

Father—Really?

Suitor—And the third one is in the insane asylum?

Father—Is that so?

Suitor—Now don't you think I am a very sensible woman?

Father—Lady, you ain't no woman—you're a pig.

Suitor—"Clara," her father shouted upstairs, "I think that bashful young hardware clerk of yours is out on the porch."

Suitor—"Well, Pa," exclaimed Clara, hustling down the stairs three steps at a time, "I didn't hear him ring."

Father—"Neither did I," admitted her father, "but I heard his knees knocking together."

The newly wed, beautiful-but-dumb young thing dashed into the house in the greatest of anguish.

"Oh, Hector," she wailed, "I've just been bitten by a dog!"

"There, there, darling," soothed the brand-new husband, "don't worry. Just you go and put some peroxide on it."

"But-but I-I can't," she sobbed. "It-it's run away!"

Whenever you hear a 50-year-old man say he feels like a widower "taking notice" again.

George, is there any connecting link between the animal kingdom and the vegetable kingdom? asked the teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," answered little George, "hash."

Conductor: "Can't you see the sign 'No Smoking'?"

Sailor: "Sure, mate, that's plain enough. But there are so many

AT THE THEATERS

Norma Shearer In "Lady Of Chance" at Star

"Oh, for the light that lies in a woman's eyes, and lies, and lies, and lies!"

The old adage is, in a sense, a suggestion of the story of Norma Shearer's "A Lady of Chance," which is the feature attraction at the Star theater. Miss Shearer is seen as a hotel telephone operator who looks innocent enough but is, in fact, a professional gold digger. An impressive bit of shyness, a few tears and the lonely, sympathetic men who like to take unfortunate little girls to dinner and the theater, fall for her appeal. Then the gold digger takes advantage of the opportunity and gives her prospect a "panning" and his bankroll shrinks.

Miss Shearer is seen as "the good bad girl" in this play and Johnny Mack Brown is the boy who falls hardest for her innocent eyes. Lowell Sherman, Gwen Lee, Buddie Messinger and Eugenia Rossner are prominent in the supporting cast.

"Lilac Time" Now Showing At Arcade Theater

"Double-barreled" exterior settings were erected for First National's special, "Lilac Time," starring Colleen Moore, in the remote camp in Southern California where the thrilling aerial sequences were made for this production, now at the Arcade theater.

Although every foot of lumber, every nail and every sack of cement had to be hauled tediously overland by truck, every setting was built as though it were to stand for a hundred years.

A small army of carpenters, plumbers and mechanics spent a month in constructing the seventeen buildings. Each unit was complete and practical. No detail was overlooked to make the cantonment not only the exact replica of those that dotted France during the hectic war period, but also habitable for the hundreds of persons taking part in the making of the picture.

The huge camouflaged hangars housed the many airplanes used in the picture. The flying field repair shop contained the necessary machinery and equipment for the construction and repairing of the ships, while close by the mechanics' barracks housed the mechanics and their helpers, who lived almost within an arm's length of their ships day and night.

The field hospital, its exterior expertly camouflaged, comprised in every detail with the regulations of the British War Department, Dr. George F. Jukenman was in charge and was assisted by a staff of trained nurses and orderlies.

A quarter of a mile away the players were quartered in an 80-tent village. Miss Moore lived there several weeks, as did the entire supporting cast. This includes Gary Cooper, Burr McIntosh, George Cooper, Cleve Moore, Kathryn McGuire, Eugenie Besserer, Emilie Chautard, Jack Stone, Edward Dillon and others.

Carey Wilson wrote the screen play, "Lilac Time," from Willis Goldbeck's adaptation of the stage success. It was produced for First National Pictures by John McCormick.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
