OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR HITS FOES

On the eve of the Oklahoma legislature's launching of proceedings to impeach Governor H. S. Johnston, leading to possible impeachment, the governor is pictured above addressing the antiautomatic house of representatives. His opponents say he will be impeached within 30 days. At the right is Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to Governor Johnston, and alleged to be a power in Oklahoma politics.

AUTO WRECK AT ALBANY KILLS 2 and R. J. Nichols, 27, pool hall employe, were killed at Weed when their automobile upset. They had bought the machine for a trip to Chicago.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK
CENTRALIA, Wash., Jan. 25 (AP)—One man was killed and two girls were seriously injured when an automobile skidded and turned over several times on the Pacific highway just south of Centralia, early today.

George Boersall, driver of the machine, died a few minutes after the wreck. His left side was crushed. Mary Vandeburg, 15, suffered a fractured skull and Mary Fuller, 19, received a broken shoulder. Harold Brewer, the fourth occupant of the car, was unhurt.

FORMER SENATOR UNDERWOOD DIES IN VIRGINIA HOME

senate, a leadership he was not loath to surrender since his party had lost control of congress.

Elected in 1891
First elected to the house of representatives from the Birmingham district of Alabama in 1894, Mr. Underwood assumed leadership of the democrats there when they took control of the house in 1911. Two years his friends advanced him for the presidential nomination at Baltimore. Mustering nearly 100 votes, he remained in the fight until the forty-sixth ballot when his name was withdrawn without either his knowledge or consent and his strength thrown to Woodrow Wilson.

Returning to be considered for the vice presidential nomination with Wilson, he continued his service in the house and through his parliamentary skill and his tact of leadership he contributed very materially toward making Wilson's first four years of administration a period of far-reaching legislation. At the same time he brought country-wide recognition to himself as the author of a tariff bill which supplanted the famous Payne-Aldrich act.

Move to Senate
After 29 years in the house, he moved over to the senate. His fame had preceded him and with the death of Senator Thomas Martin of Virginia, he was chosen democratic leader, a place he held until 1921.

Retired to the senate in 1929, he announced just before the expiration of his second six years' term that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself in 1926. Meantime, he had purchased Woodlawn, on the Potomac river, a part of the original Washington estate at Mount Vernon, and there he made his home part of each year. Entering congress in the days of iron rule of republican speakers, Underwood had a part in breaking

EAST NORMAL SUPPLY BILL IS FAVORED

heard of the danger to human life from fire in a state institution. This time it was the industrial building at the state hospital for the insane. A sub-committee reported a building to be in a dangerous condition, even in danger of collapsing. Otherwise the institution was reported in first class condition, and the full amount of the appropriation requested, $466,575, was recommended to the general committee.

Three times previously had the committee heard of fire danger. Governor Patterson and Superintendent Meyers of the state prison emphasized the danger from fire in the women's quarters at the institution. A sub-committee explored a dangerous condition at the Monmouth Normal school where three students recently lost their lives in a fire, and a delegation of members of the University of Oregon students Wednesday night pleaded for an infirmary at the University that would replace the present frame building that is without fire protection.

Sub-committees reported favorably on the appropriation asked by the state tuberculosis hospital at Salem, which is $225,775; Normal school at La Grande, $75,000; and the Eastern Oregon hospital for the insane at Pendleton, $451,985. The committee visiting the new tuberculosis hospital at The Dalles made no recommendation relative to the appropriation of $102,500 recommended by the Governor, for the reason that since the institution is yet incomplete an estimated requirement is considerably a guess. This was admitted by Budget Director Koser.

At its next meeting, which will be next Tuesday night, the committee will pass on a bill of the 1927 session, voted by Governor Patterson, to appropriate $275,000 for a library at the University of Oregon. Senator Bell last night moved that the committee recommend that the veto be sustained, but at the request of other members action was deferred.

The committee has not yet taken final action on any requested appropriation, except $25,000 for a garage and dormitory at the penitentiary and to change the old boys' training school into an intermediate institution for first-offense prisoners.

AIRMAIL PILOT 'IS MISSING NEAR SALT LAKE CITY

found passenger plane, left Elko yesterday to cross Ruby mountains to Salt Lake City, and has not been seen since. He carried two passengers, names unknown, and was flying one of the small passenger planes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25 (AP)—The passengers on the Boeing Air Transport plane reported missing between Elko, Nev., and Salt Lake City, Utah, today are A. P. Ames and T. L. Pfeuger. Ames is a tourist who made his reservation through a travel bureau here. Pfeuger is a San Francisco business man.

Perries Not Operating

According to word received by the Local Three A from the Oregon State Automobile association at Portland, Montana is suffering from a share of heavy snows. The reports say "We had a tourist in from Montana, yesterday and he said he found it necessary to ship his car to Spokane as all the roads leading out of Montana west at that time were blocked." All ferries on upper Columbia river are not operating on account of ice in the river, the report states.

Evidence Against Hardy Introduced

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (AP)—The district attorney's office today gave a state legislative committee evidence purporting to show that the $2500 check given Judge Carlos S. Hardy, by Almee Sempie McPherson, was issued from the evangelist's "legal defense fund" at the time her kidnaping story developed a grand jury investigation.

The evidence which had been closely guarded by the office and which was seized at the time Judge Hardy acknowledged acceptance of the check, was obtained from the private files of the evangelist and consisted of a private account book kept by Mrs. McPherson, the district attorney's office said.

Byrd Plane Sends Message by Radio

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Direct two-way radio communication between the Stars and Stripes, an airplane of the Byrd antarctic expedition and the new Robert Dollar radio station here, was established this morning. Operators here exchanged messages with Malcolm P. Hansen, wireless expert of the expedition, who was testing the radio gear of the plane. The Stars and Stripes was 3,000 feet above the Bay of Whales. Greetings were exchanged.

QUITS AIR STUNTING

OAKLAND, Cal. (AP)—Harry Crandall has quit stunting before the movie camera to fly the air mail "straight and level." Once during his stunt days Crandall's aide was dropping flour over the side of a plane to make "smoke" for a movie when a tall sack fell on the rudder bar. The plane dived 300 feet.

BACK TO HUSTINGS

ST. PAUL, (AP)—A veteran of the Civil war, John B. Hompe, who once retired from politics in 1892, is a member of the Minnesota legislature this year.

the power of "Uncle Joe" Cannon and later in liberalizing the rules of the house. By his industry and energy he had gained a place on the judiciary committee and later served on the ways and means and appropriations committees, two of the most powerful of the house.

Born at Louisville, Ky., on May 6, 1842, the son of a lawyer, Mr. Underwood spent his early life on the frontier state of Minnesota. His family moved there when he was three years old, traveling up the frozen Mississippi into St. Paul on sledges. St. Paul was a military outpost and throughout Underwood's boyhood the streets were filled with Indians.

PLOWS BUCK OVER STATE ROADS TODAY

a mile this side of Hot Lake. He says he nearly from when he got out of his automobile to see if he could get out of the drifts. He started to walk and a short time later was picked up by the driver of a heavy truck. "There must have been 40 or 50 other automobiles abandoned in that vicinity," Mr. Baker says. "I wouldn't go through that experience again for $500." He was making plans this morning to have his car brought to La Grande.

The wind-blew fiercely in the blizzard section also, according to Guy I. Patton, of Elgin, who left home about 6 o'clock last night. The bakery truck in which he was riding went into a ditch and he had to walk back. He started again in a freight truck driven by Harley Smith, of La Grande. Near Imbler he was unable to go further so the men spent the night there and came on to La Grande this morning.

snow dragged from the streets and shoveled from the sidewalks are ranging in depth from three to more than six feet. The additional 10 inches of snow yesterday gave the weather men a chance to gain on the city and private crews working to clear streets and sidewalks.

The minimum temperature in La Grande last night was 10 above but at 7:30 o'clock this morning the mercury had climbed to 15 above. The maximum the day before was 11 above with a minimum of 4 above.

Many farmers are still out off from state highways and several school children, who went to La Grande, Imbler, Elgin, Union for classes, are involuntarily absent from school because of impassible roads.

UNION HAS DIFFICULTIES

(Observer Correspondent)
UNION, Ore., Jan. 25 (Special)—Cars are being pulled into Union constantly from roads leading from this city today. The machines, caught in drifts and ditches last night and yesterday, had to be abandoned by their drivers.

Jack Bagley and Bruce Thomas, of Baker, have had considerable difficulty in the last two days. Wednesday evening they figured in a collision with a car driven by E. J. Hanner, of Portland. Both machines were damaged and Mr. Bagley and Mr. Thomas suffered cuts about the face. Yesterday they tried to drive to Hot Lake but went into the ditch twice and were unable to make the trip. During the difficulties, their purchased dog was lost.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 25 (AP)—Southwest storm warnings were ordered up at the Columbia river mouth and at Washington coast guard stations today. Strong winds were predicted from the southwest, shifting to northwest today and tomorrow. Gale at sea were forecast for tonight.
