county are reported to be ideal.

HEAVY SNOW IN INLAND EMPIRE

SPOKANE, Wash. Jan. 26 (AP) Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho today faced the prospect of being snowbound within 24 hours.

Heavy falling snow after blowing in some places by blizzard winds, had blocked hundreds of private and county roads. By noon the main highways in every direction from Lewiston, Ida., had been reported blocked, cutting off the city. Lewiston had 14 inches of snow in the city and even more in the surrounding country.

Newport, Wash., reported that cars were still coming through 20 inches of snow today. Colville had 15 inches. Cars were getting to Wilbur, through more than a foot of drifted snow. Colfax reported 18 inches.

Moscow, Ida., had 20 inches of snow and it was beginning to drift, with city streets blocked and highways piled up. Wallace, Ida., reported automobiles being halted by badly drifting snow on Windy Point, where snow was 30 inches deep.

53 Inches Reported

At Lookout, on the Idaho-Montana divide, 53 inches fell. Coeur d'Alene had snow more than 12 inches deep.

Spokane and surrounding country had from six inches up and the blanket was thickening fast, for the steady snowfalls today appeared likely to continue many hours.

Road crews labored on many highways while railroad operating chiefs here were on their mettle as reports came in of snow drifting all the way from the Palouse to Nelson, B. C.

COLD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dropping temperatures today riveted an icy coat of mail onto the eastern half of the country.

Sleet and freezing rain coming in the vanguard of the cold have hampered transportation and resulted in numerous traffic accidents while pedestrians found precarious footing on ice coated walks.

Edward Bennett and his daughter, Edna, were killed near New Haven, Conn., when sleet on the windshield of his car prevented him seeing an express train approaching a crossing. He ran into the locomotive.

Assails Michigan Life Term Law

NEA Detroit Bureau

Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, D.D., bishop of Detroit, in a public statement declares that Michigan's habitual criminal act should be amended and Mrs. Etta Miller, mother of 10 children, pardoned from her life sentence. Under the law, four felonies automatically sentence the violator to life, and Mrs. Miller was arrested four times for liquor offenses.

STATE RESTS IN TRIAL OF NORTHCOTT

the out-of-the-way farm.

Northcott Loses Point

Northcott lost one shot from his defense locker when Judge Freeman denied his petition that he be allowed to obtain a deposition from Winifred Clark, his supposed sister, in Vancouver. Mrs. Clark, mother of Jessie and Sanford, has been debarred from entering the country as witness by American officials.

Sheriff Clem Sweeters, of Riverside county, was on his way to San Quentin prison today, bearing a court order for the release of Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott for appearance as a witness in Northcott's behalf. Mrs. Northcott, Gordon Stewart's mother, pleaded guilty to the murder of Walter Collins, for which she was indicted jointly with her son. Northcott has indicated that she will be first witness when on Monday he takes up the task of attempting to refute the state's evidence.

Fresh Stock of Books

Northcott today had a fresh stack of law books in his cell, and indicated he would spend the weekend in intensive preparation for his defense moves. The young Canadian was very subdued when he returned to the court room from his Wineville ranch yesterday. He indicated that he was planning to carry through his already tentatively made defense plans, but he had lost all appearance of bravado.

HEALTH

BIENNIAL REPORT SHOWS INCREASE OF HEALTH WORK IN OREGON

By Dr. Frederick Strieker

The thirteenth biennial report of the Oregon state board of health has just been published and shows that there has been a great increase in public health work in this state.

The financial report shows that the work has been done on a five cents per capita appropriation. This is less than the cost of sending an average business letter to every person in Oregon. Oregon's appropriation is much less than the majority of the states. Health authorities consider that ten cents per capita is the minimum amount to provide adequate funds for the efficient administration of modern methods of disease prevention.

A survey made by the International Health Board or Rockefeller Foundation, of all of the states contains the following criticism of Oregon: "The (Oregon) state board of health is giving the maximum service that a five cents per capita appropriation will permit."

The activities of the board are conducted through six divisions:

1. The division of administration and communicable diseases has concentrated its efforts toward the eradication of diphtheria. The success of this work is shown by the following figures:
1925—1370 cases 101 deaths
1927—602 cases 58 deaths.
2. The division of the hygienic laboratory has more than doubled its work during the last five years.
3. The division of sanitary engineering has examined every public water system in the state. In addition to this all plans for new water or sewer systems have been carefully investigated.
4. The division of public health nursing and child hygiene has done a remarkable piece of work which has resulted in Oregon having the lowest infant death rate in the United States. In addition Oregon has shown the greatest reduction in the deaths of mothers.

on the scoring end, dropped five goals to lead at halftime, 12 to 8.

Baker came back stronger in the third period, scoring 6 to the home team's 4. Early in the last period, Carson, who had been injected into the lineup in this half, went on a scoring spree that accounted for 8 points. He was ably aided and abetted by his teammates and when the timer's gun sounded, the Tigers found themselves losers by a 3 to 2 margin. Baker simply speeded up in the last period while La Grande became over eager and ragged, fumbling the ball frequently. Carson was taken from the game in the last 15 seconds because of an injured ankle.

Braden, La Grande forward, and Carson, of Baker, tied for high point honors with 10 each. Guarding on both teams was strong, except that occasionally the guards would be "sucked" out of position and an opposing forward would slip through for a set-up. Faus played a strong game for La Grande after he replaced J. Berry at left guard.

Music was furnished by the La Grande High band.
