More Beige In Sight For New Paris Styles

By Diana Merwin
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP) — Another beige season for spring street and tailored costumes is being forecast on all sides. Many of the new models will be of creamier beige, or beige and brown mixtures, than those of former seasons, but on the whole it will be the same old beige that has been prominent for several years in a row.

The reason, according to fabric manufacturers and couturiers who can be persuaded to talk, is that the modern woman has adopted beige with just as much determination as she has adopte, comfort and convenience in her styles. It is a generally becoming color, easy to wear and slow to soil.

"It is practical," summarizes the masculine head of one of the houses most conspicuously committed to beige for daytime wear.

"Modern women," he adds, "insist upon clothes that are practical and suitable as well as beautiful."

Mixtures, with basis of beige and colored threads combined in the weave may be expected for many ensembles. More than a few of the ensembles are to have long coats, skirts and blouses that tuck under the belt, it is prophesied here.

Hats of the same mixture as the costume will be a development of spring for the travel costume, and sport houses are preparing costume, hat and handbag to match.

Library Chats

By Mabel E. Doty, Librarian

These are busy days at the library. When we are not rushing around with pots and pans to catch the little rivers running down our walls, we are waiting on our patrons who think this the best month of all in which to do a bit of reading. Snow and cold means a keener appreciation of home and fireside and a book. We feel sorry for anyone who is snowed in without a book to read. Many are finding it just the right time to start and finish that long planned reading course on some subject which they have been interested in and would like to know more about. One rural borrower wrote in for a course on Art Appreciation and a course was planned and mailed to her of books on this subject available at the library. Any one else interested in this subject or any other line of reading may consult with the librarian at any time.

One of the most popular class of books are books about interesting men and women. Here is a list of ten titles most in demand, which would be a splendid reading course for anyone interested in biography.

"Uncle Joe Cannon" Busbey.
"Adventures of an African Slaver" Canot.
"Trader Horns"
"Andrew Jackson" Johnson.
"Napoleon" Ludwig.
"Son of Man" Ludwig.
"Disraeli" Maurois.
"Lady of the Limberlost" Meehan.
"Daughter of the Samurai" Sugimoto.
"General Grant" Woodward.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS ESSAY ON LONGFELLOW

By Mrs. M. F. Raymond
(Observer Correspondent)

PONDOSA, Ore., (Special)—The Medical Springs Women's club held their regular bi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Whitten. Mrs. Chester Thompson read an essay on the life of Longfellow, and Mrs. Whitten read "The Bridge" by Longfellow. Hostesses for the day were, Miss Wilma Kennedy and Miss Mona Jays.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitten, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Duncan and Mrs. M. F. Raymond drove into Baker Tuesday morning to attend the Grange meeting and hear the address by the national lecturer, James Farmer. They intended to return the same evening, but a storm during the day, caused the snow to drift into the road so badly that it was necessary for them to stay until Wednesday morning.

Howard and Zebbie Harris, sons of Mrs. C. F. Turner, arrived on the stage Wednesday from Weiser for a visit with their mother, Miss Nelda Harris, daughter of Mrs. Turner, and Miss Grace Neslin, her sister are also visiting at the Turner home.

Mrs. Clarence Stephensen and daughter, Marie Lou, are in La Grande where the little girl is having dental work done.

The mail and freight is being hauled between here and Medical Springs on a sled. That short section of the road has not been kept open and snow has become too deep for the automobile.

The P.-T. A. gave a benefit dance in the school house Saturday evening. Each lady wore a bow and placed a second in a sealed envelope. The men bought the envelopes and so determined their partner for the evening. The dance was a success socially as well as financially, about $20.00 being cleared.

Mrs. Loren Nelson and Mrs. D. E. Nelsop entertained a dozen friends Sunday evening at the home of the latter. Games were played during the evening, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Mary Murray returned from Baker Wednesday where she has spent a week in order to be near her son, Thomas, who is in the hospital with pneumonia. He is reported to be improving, and expects to come home shortly.

Mrs. John Evans was complimented with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. N. Fallows Wednesday afternoon. The time was spent in visiting. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Twelve ladies were present and many useful gifts were received by the honored guest.

Robert Northcott was called to Port Angeles Wednesday where Mrs. Northcott has been visiting and is reported to be critically ill.

SCHOOL CHILDREN DIE IN STORM

These pictures show the ruins of the schoolhouse at Mannie, Ill., where two children were killed and 25 injured when a violent cyclone struck the town. The cross in the upper picture marks the spot where one of the little victims died at his desk as the storm hurled the walls and roof upward. Inset shows Glenna Irwin, 11, one of the injured children. They were cared for by the Red Cross.

FLOWERY FOOTWEAR FOR A FINAL TOUCH

CANNES (AP)—Flowery footwear for the afternoon is the Riveria's contribution to women's winter fashions. However flowery it is, it must match the pocketbook to be really stylish.

In general, shoemakers for women seem to be breaking away from traditional designs. They have offered more elaborate models than have been seen for years.
