Vesper Services Begin
A series of ten vesper services, to continue each Sunday afternoon until Easter, began yesterday at the English Lutheran church at 5 o'clock. The Rev. L. H. Aves gave the first sermon of the series on "The First Things First." The service was well attended and the choral society provided special music. Following this the members adjourned to the parlour for a social hour, the Ladies Aid serving refreshments. The morning services were also well attended.
Many other excellent services were held in the various La Grande churches yesterday, with splendid attendances.

Portland Plane Crash Kills One

(AP)—Aviation authorities here today were unable to determine definitely the cause of the fatal plunge of the May monoplane at Swan Island airport here yesterday in which William R. Penton, citizen flier, lost his life. The general theory is that Penton attempted to bank the plane before he had gained sufficient flying speed.
The plane burst its nose in the mire at the extreme south end of the island. Penton, badly mangled, died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital.

Bride Stabs Her Husband In Chest

(AP)—A bride of seven months plunged a butcher knife into the breast of her husband early yesterday and then ran screaming for help, that he might not die.
Monte Tennes, 21, a power in a concrete for dissemination of race track information, had quarrelled with his 19-year-old wife over "practically nothing."
"Monte and I had gone to a party at a friend's," Mrs. Tennes told police, "and I guess we had too many drinks. When we got home early yesterday morning we started to quarrel."
The condition of Tennes was critical today. His left lung had been punctured.

Tariff Booster

19:55 o'clock.
Young Doheny stepped into his father's oil industries after graduating from the University of Southern California in 1916, and at the time of his death was a guiding hand in the Petroleum Securities company with the position of vice president and treasurer.
The assets of the Doheny company are reported in financial circles to total more than one hundred million dollars.
Mrs. Doheny, formerly Lucy Smith, Pasadena, Cal., society woman, and five children ranging from three to 14 years of age, survive.
Leader in the movement for an upward revision of the tariff on manufactured products at a special session of Congress after March 1 is Joseph R. Grundy, worsted manufacturer of Bristol, Pa., and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Grundy is a prominent Pennsylvania politician, having raised large sums for the G. O. P. in all recent campaigns.

Every lady loved nice dinners, and beautiful glassware. The two go together to make up an attractive table. She takes a personal pride in the appearance of her table. Entertaining is a pleasure indeed when she has attractive, serviceable things to do it with. Mad Father Beats Girl, Kills Himself (AP)—Elma Williams, 16, was recovering today from severe head wounds and bruises inflicted last night by her seventy-year-old father, W. G. Williams, who, after beating the girl, killed himself and destroyed their house by fire. Williams had been released four months ago from the Oregon State hospital for the insane.

Father and daughter quarrelled last night over whether the girl was to attend church services. The girl's mother was not home. Williams attacked her and after beating her severely, started a fire in the woodbox in the kitchen. He then went into the bathroom, turned on the gas jets and slashed his wrists with a razor.
When police and firemen broke into the house Williams was in a dying condition from loss of blood.

to quiet the man by having him lie down. That Plunkett refused was indicated by the undisturbed pillow.
Topped and disarranged furniture and furnishings indicated to the investigators that Doheny had battled with his murderer. The temporarily insane man tore loose from his friend and employer, firing the fatal shot from an obsolete model revolver, which he had possessed several years. They also observed the possibility that Doheny had for a moment quitted Plunkett, and that both were seated in chairs a few feet apart when the shot was fired.
Immediately Plunkett left the room, only to be met in a hallway by Mrs. Doheny and Dr. Flinbaugh, who had been called from a theater to attend Plunkett. "You stay out of here," Plunkett shouted, according to the physician who said the crazed man turned about and slammed the bedroom door behind him. A shot followed. Dr. Flinbaugh sent Mrs. Doheny back to her living room, and entered Plunkett's room to find both bodies.

Infant Badly Burned

(AP)—Left playing alone in the kitchen for a few moments, Thelma Fawcett, two years old, fell against the stove and was severely burned today when her clothing caught fire. Hospital attendants said the burns were serious but that the child probably would recover.

percent limitation.
Expect Night Sessions
House bill 237 is the commission's plan to strengthen the "local budget law."
With the overwhelming volume of business still confronting the lower house at the opening of the last week of the "40 days" regularly allotted for the session, there are rumors of night sessions and of the extension of the session until March 1 at least.
The committees still having a dozen or more bills under consideration are the constitutional law, the judiciary, the repeal of laws, the revision of laws, and the ways and means committees. Roads and highways have two house bills and five senate bills, including the major road proposals, still in committee.

Lindbergh Stops At Washington

(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, after a leisurely flight from Miami, Fla., was in the capital today, but he planned for his stay to be a short one. He was busy with matters affecting the Transcontinental Air Transport company and before the day is over he will probably be in New York where a conference of company officials is to be held soon. After this conference, Lindbergh intends to take to the road, or rather the air, again, this time for a trip that will carry him to the Pacific coast over the proposed route to be established by the transport company. His destination will be Los Angeles.
Lindbergh has consistently refused to answer questions about his personal affairs, including his engagement to Miss Anne Morrow.

Woman Sentenced To Jail, Fined $500

(AP)—Camille Christie, who with her husband operates a hotel in Klamath Falls, appeared in federal court here today for sentencing on a liquor-sale charge and drew a jail sentence of 30 days and a $500 fine.
Mrs. Christie failed to appear last week when her husband and other defendants were sentenced. Her attorney put up the plea that there was "nobody home to run the business if she is sent to jail."

Saloon League.
"His was wrong to make the people believe in hell fire," continued Reed. "He preferred force. That is the spirit that was taking the place of the kindly ministrations of the temperance folks a few years ago."
"It is the spirit of force opposed to the kindly spirit of the savior of mankind. Here you can't compel free people. Hence, this law has become a miserable failure."
"Think of that degrading and

Fought Storms, Gas Fumes, in Record-Breaking Hop

For more than 18 hours after hopping off from Los Angeles, Captain Frank Hawkins, right, battled winds, rain and sleet from the open cockpit of his May monoplane in a dash across the continent. Meanwhile, Meacham, Oregon, left, crowded in the May cabin, pumping gasoline into the tanks and being almost overcome by the fumes. They when they swooped down on Rosemead Field, Long Beach, they found the record had been broken by 25 minutes. Here you see the plucky fliers, with Mrs.
