Mrs. P. S. Robinson Hostess To Club At Sacajawea Inn

Mrs. P. S. Robinson was hostess to the Thursday bridge club members yesterday afternoon at a bridge luncheon at the Sacajawea Inn. Mrs. P. S. Robinson received club prize.

The Swastika Bridge club met last night with Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Nowland at 305 Main street. High scores were made by Mrs. W. H. Perry and Lowell Williamson. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hoppel received guest prize.

Decorations were in keeping with the Washington birthday motif. The hostess served a two-course luncheon. The next meeting of the club will be held Mar. 7 with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pattison.

Mrs. C. S. Padlock entertained the Hon. Ton club last night at her home in the Grande Ronde apartments. Mrs. Lyle Kiddle was awarded high score prize.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Godecke entertained members of their bridge club last night at a delightful dinner at the Sacajawea Inn. The George Washington motif was used in table cards and for other decorations.

Mrs. E. R. Morris received first prize for high score for women and Lou Russell received first for men. Five tables were at play.

Mrs. Don L. Gully entertained the N. B. H. club yesterday afternoon at her home at 1205 Eighth street. Three tables of bridge were at play with first prize going to Mrs. J. H. Duvy and second to Mrs. A. E. Hux.

After cards the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

The Trilodge club was entertained Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Clark. Decorations for the occasion were red, white and blue. Mrs. V. E. Hall led the devotional.

Following the business meeting a program was given which included the following numbers: mandolin solo, Mrs. Ledy Clark; reading by Mrs. Hickey; Miss Myrna Ward; Miss Myrtle Willock; Mrs. How-

Annual Banquet Of A. G. S. Held Thursday Night

The G. I. A. met yesterday afternoon at the Knights of Pythias hall with 12 members in attendance. Regular business was transacted.

The annual banquet of the Associated Girl Students of La Grande High School was held last night in the manual arts building to enjoy a meal which had been prepared by the students of the domestic science classes of Miss Iona Ruth Harrison.

Miss Ruth Smalley, president of the A. G. S., was chairman of the evening and in her opening remarks told of the purposes, ideals and organization of the club whose membership consists of all girls in the high school. Miss Smalley introduced the officers of the association who spoke briefly of their duties and introduced the committee chairmen working under them. First vice president, Ruth Gobel, second vice president, Lena Duckett, third vice president, Theresa Taber, secretary-treasurer.

Other girls who spoke during the evening were: Laura Fox, Frances Clay, Jane Stange, Frances DeLong, Ruth Niederer, Irma Kennedy, Juanita Shanks, Naomi Twitwell, Edna Jensen, Bethel Fleishman and Winifred Smith. Girls introduced by their excellent work were: Alta Fairbanks, Edna Mae Wilson, Emma Chandler. Girls scheduled to speak but who were unable to attend were: Mary Culp, Layette Hickey and Julia Smith. Illustrating the work of the association, several clever skits and stunts were given during the program. The first was a tumbling act participated in by Jacqueline O'Brien, Eleanor Dahl and Marjorie Gore, in which a girl injured her ankle and is given first aid, indicating what the girls of the health committee of which Jacqueline O'Brien is chairman, learn to do.

The standards committee, headed by Doris Cade, entertained with a stunt illustrating the need for proper dress for school wear. A girl wearing very high heels, acted by Jane Stange, turns her ankle and her classmate Doris Cade appears and impresses her with the need for sensible footwear for school.

The friendly committee, of which Edna Mae Wilson is chairman, was responsible for the making of the attractive place cards, each with a verse on it expressing a sentiment of friendship. Red, white and blue candles and flowers also adorned the table.

An enjoyable piano, violin and singing number was given by Jennie Neilson, Ruth MacAllister and Ruth Gobel.

Lena Duckett and Mildred Blackland, chairmen of the committee, performed in a scholarship stunt which illustrated how girls need help in lessons are assisted by members of the committee.

The talent committee performed with a folies skit entitled "Sunshine," which was staged by Maxine McNeil, chairman; Juanita Shanks, Naomi Kidwell and Ruth Smalley.

A hiking skit was given by Verle Haman and Marjorie Gore.

At the close of the program Marjorie Baxter, chairman of the publicity committee, appeared with a newly issued copy of La Grande High School News which she distributed to the guests.

"There is one person whom we always go to school for moral advice or can't work out problems. She is always willing and ready to help and answer questions about anything. She is Miss Eleanor Vernon, our advisor," said Ruth Smalley, introducing Miss Vernon, who spoke.

Guests at the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Towler, the new teachers of the high school, members of the school board and the Rev. and Mrs. J. George Waltz.

Plans were made for a basket social to be held next Friday by members of the Wakelita Camp. Five girls who met last night at the home of Amelia Asia. Ten girls were present. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Asia.

Bonding hand in tropical clime has become almost a habit with Lieutenant Herman Hanneken, lower left, of the United States Marines. His newest feat is the single-handed capture of the rebel chief Sanido's leading general, Manuel Jiron, above, whose hand is responsible for many outrages on the east coast of Nicaragua. Lieutenant Hanneken already had gained distinction by trapping the wily bandit Charlemagne in Haiti in 1919, going alone through several lines of sentries.

REDUCING THE DANGER OF THE BABY'S BOTTLE

By George M. Retan, M. D., Syracuse, New York

There is an established idea that bottle feeding is dangerous. In fact, a few years ago we were told that four bottle fed babies died every time one breast fed baby died. This ratio no longer exists, although there are no statistics available to prove this statement. Bottle feeding is perfectly safe if carried on under a doctor's supervision and if the mother is careful regarding her technique.

Years ago, before the advent of the children's specialist, the important duty of directing the baby's feeding was left to the grandmother. This is no longer a practice with wise mothers, as they realize that the task requires specialized knowledge and skill and that a physician's advice is necessary. During the last 10 years there has been a great advancement in our knowledge of nutrition and of infant feeding and of the prevention and cure of nutritional diseases. Today the aim of the children's specialist is not only to nourish the baby, but to prevent certain nutritional diseases such as rickets and scurvy and to build a strong and vigorous child.

Strong, healthy and vigorous babies cannot be developed in a haphazard way by a set of formulas taken from some book or pamphlet. No mother is sufficiently well versed in nutrition to carry on this important duty without skilled guidance.

Only today I saw in my office a baby who illustrates this problem. He was brought to me because, in learning to walk, one foot was badly rotated outward. The mother had fed the baby from a book of formulas and had given him cod liver oil. She was very much surprised that the cod liver oil had not prevented the rickets. This BREAKFAST—Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal cream, codfish balls, cranberry muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of mushroom soup, croissants, tomatoes and bean soup, sliced fig pudding, lemonade.

DINNER—Scalloped ham and potatoes, baked green beans, citrus fruit salad, cottage cheese, apple ginger pudding, milk, coffee.

Kumquats are in season now as one of the citrus fruit family and are delicious in salads or thinly sliced and used in delicate meat sauces. The dinner salad uses thin slices of well washed kumquats with the seeds removed scattered through sections of oranges and grapefruit.

Apple Ginger Pudding—One-fourth cup lard, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped apple, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind.

Cream lard and sugar. Mix and sift flour, spices and baking powder and salt and add 1/2 cup to first mixture. Add egg well beaten. Mix thoroughly and add molasses. Add remaining flour mixture and mix smooth. Dissolve soda in sour milk and add. Mix well and stir in lemon rind and apple. Turn into oiled molds and steam one hour. Serve with hard sauce or whipped cream.

bles, bottles and utensils should be boiled. The entire day's formula should be prepared at one time. The water used in diluting the milk should be boiled and cooled. The sugar should be dissolved in the measured quantity of boiled water, and the milk added to make the formula. The formula should then be poured into separate nursing bottles. These bottles are covered with rubber caps or absorbent cotton and placed on the ice. The nipples may be kept in a sterile, covered fruit jar, or in a solution of boric acid.

Breast feeding still remains the ideal feeding and should be carried out whenever possible. If bottle feeding is necessary, it can safely and successfully be carried out.

How Much Butter?

NO! How Good Is It.

When it comes to butter the "goodness" of it is the all-important question. No one person uses a great deal—you always know there will be enough, but you want to know that you are eating good sweet butter—and you do know because the taste tells—you can always be sure of it by ordering Meadow Harvest from your dealer.
