AT THE THEATERS

Pearl Diving Side Line In Filming Picture

Pearl diving turned out to be a bigger source of revenue than motion pictures for the executive staff of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "White Shadows in the South Seas" company during their stay in the Islands. The picture is now playing at the Arcadia theater.

The situation occurred when the company moved to the island of Motu, a famous locale for pearls. Cameraman Clyde De Vinna and Monte Blue, who plays the lead, succeeded in inventing a amateur diving helmet which, to the surprise of everybody, worked.

Reed Howes Comes to Life In "Sky Ranger"

Reed Howes, of feature fame, here of many thrilling situations, is a character of fiction come to life in his new picture, "The Sky Ranger." Educational's two-reel air thriller playing at the Colonial theater today.

For Howes is "Russ Farrell, Aviator," fiction hero of many thousands of boys throughout the United States through their acquaintance with the character in Thomson Burris' widely read series of air stories in The American Boy Magazine.

"The Sky Ranger" is the first of a series of air stories which are adaptations of Burris' widely read "Russ Farrell" tales of the Border Patrol. Howes is seen as "Farrell," the young aviator of the Patrol who rescues his sweetheart's father from a gang of smugglers.

The picture is crowded with thrills which come in some of the most unusual air sequences ever filmed. Howes, who is a skilled aviator and noted for his daring picture stunts, has an opportunity

Flash, Dog Star, In "Honeymoon" At the Star

Flash, the uncanny police dog who is seen in "Honeymoon," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer farce-comedy which will play at the Star theater Saturday is one who doesn't believe in capital punishment. Seeing a dog-catcher's wagon driving toward the dog pound with a score of "pooches" headed for their doom, behind the bars, Flash adopted Houdini's methods and freed the lot. The result is one of the many uproariously funny episodes in the film.

Flash appears with two of the screen's greatest laugh-provokers, Tolly Moran and Harry Gribbon, both masters of the art of creating mirth. Both Moran and Gribbon were stage comedians before they came to the screen, and both are graduates of the old Mack Sennett lot. Another famous player in the cast is Bert Roach, no mean laugh-getter himself.

E. Richard Schayer, who made the screen adaptation from which the story was filmed, and Robert A. Golden, who directed, have provided, with their unusually gifted cast, one of the most sensationally funny comedies that the screen has yet revealed. It's the story of a honeymoon that gets not only thwarted but turned into a bedlam of commotion by the faithful devotion of a dog.

They tell of the blushing bride Who to the altar goes, Down the aisle of the church Between the friend-filled rows; There's Billy whom she motored With...

And Steve who called her "lamb," There's Ted, the football man she owned, And Don of tennis days; There's Herbert, too, and blonde Eugene; They took her to the plays, And there is Harry, high school beau, With whom she used to mope, No wonder she's a blushing bride, Ye Gods! She ought to bludge!

HOW SOUND TRAVELS
Scandal—1,000 yards per second. Flattery—500 yards per second. Truth—2 1/2 yards per second. Alarm clock—barely 1 foot per second.

No woman could win an argument by picking up her hat and walking out. She couldn't decide which hat to take.

"Do you get?"
"Sure—animals."
"Go ahead, then, I'll be the goat."

A witness was testifying in a case concerning cubic measure, but it was evident from his loose, vague talk that he didn't know exactly what cubic measure was. The judge, to test him, said: "Now, friend, look at this inkstand. Let us assume that this inkstand is one yard across the top this way, and then one yard across the top that way, and one yard deep, how would you then describe it?"

The witness chuckled—"I'd say, judge she was some inkstand!"

How poor Eve managed to dress without a mirror the devil only knows.

A doctor used alcohol as an anesthetic in an operation the other day, but it a little too high priced to be used that way?

Calculated Frenzy?

A new way of avoiding paying for one's dinner was practiced in Paris recently, according to the London Morning Post. When the customer's bill was presented to him he went off his head and had to be removed to the nearest hospital under control. It is a matter of speculation whether the composition of the menu or of the bill was the cause of the diner's attack of frenzy.
