Catches "White Squirrel"— A timid little animal all cuddled up in the corner of a box was caught in a trap by Charles Claud Noyes who lives three miles north of Island City. Charles believes the animal to be a white squirrel. He caught it yesterday afternoon and the morning brought it to La Grande. Charles is in the sixth grade at Central school. A friend of Charles was hunting yesterday when he saw the "white squirrel" and told Charles about it. Since weasels are brown in the summer in the winter change part of their brown fur to white. It is possible that Charles' "white squirrel" is a weasel. That is the opinion which Mr. Klinghammer, county auditor expressed this morning when the animal was described to him.

ORDER SOLDIERS TO NACO, ARIZONA

Another Small Detachment of Americans Is Added to Forces

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14 (AP)—Another small detachment of American troops was reported to duty on the Mexican border to reinforce those sent two days ago to Naco, Arizona, to protect that town and the water supply of the city of Blaine.

Major General Wm. Lassiter, commander of the corps area at San Antonio, reported to the war department today that Colonel Douglas McCaskey, commander at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, had ordered out the second squadron of the tenth cavalry and a small detachment of infantry, all under command of Major Charles B. Hazeltine, of the tenth cavalry.

Conditions across the border from Naco, according to latest reports, indicate the possibility of battle between Mexican federal and rebel troops at that place. With the new detachment, a total of 300 American cavalrymen and 100 infantry are now concentrated at the border point.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14 (AP)—Secretary Kellogg announced today that an investigation has been started by determining the circumstances surrounding the release of the Mexican rebel, General Borgez, by immigration authorities at Nogales, Arizona, on Tuesday night.

Changes Anticipated. Mr. Hoover's attitude to the White House some very definite ideas about a reorganization of the diplomatic corps, based not along upon his observations during his good-will tour of Latin America, but also upon a thorough-going study of the whole foreign service situation. As a result, changes affecting the American diplomatic representatives around the globe are anticipated.

A new ambassador is to be sent to the most important of all the posts, that at the court of St. James. Alexander B. Houghton, of New York, soon is to retire as ambassador to Great Britain and while his successor has not yet been selected, it is known that President Hoover is hopeful that he can obtain the services of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes.

The present representatives to the larger countries on the continental Europe may be retained. Hugh S. Gibson, who is to head the American delegation to the preliminary arms conference at Geneva, is expected to return to his post as ambassador to Belgium after his special assignment at Geneva has been concluded.

Herrick May Remain Myron T. Herrick probably will remain at Paris despite his advancing years.

There is speculation, but no official information, as to whether Henry P. Fletcher will remain as ambassador to Rome or be transferred to some other country. He accompanied Mr. Hoover on the Latin-American mission and perhaps is better versed in Latin-American affairs than any other of the diplomats, having served as ambassador to Mexico and Chile and also as American representative to practically all of the Pan-American conferences.

One suggested change in the far east—and a number are expected in that section—is the transfer of John Van A. MacMurray, now minister to China, to Tokyo, with the rank of ambassador, succeeding Charles MacVeagh, who is expected to retire.

Morrow Sure of Post. While there are some fixtures in the Latin-American service, many of the representatives in the southern republics are expected to go. Dwight W. Morrow is to remain at Mexico City.

There long has been an apparently authentic report in political circles here that but for his own insistence on retaining the ambassadorship to Mexico, Mr. Morrow could have had the post of secretary of state.

The president regards Latin-America as the first line trench of American diplomacy and so far as may be he probably will send to the posts that are to be made vacant three men who will go into the respective countries either with a knowledge of the language and customs of the people or who are determined to acquire that knowledge as speedily as possible.

the action of Naco in returning to government allegiance, a breach between the authorities took place in Agua Prieta and it was uncertain whether the town had returned to the government fold.

General Olasheu, who took Naco in the name of the government with 1,200 Mayo and Yaqui Indians, is firmly entrenched and has been in touch with General Calles, the federal commander-in-chief. He is expecting reinforcements.

The rebels claimed the capture of 700 federal soldiers in an encounter at Artega yesterday, but this was refuted by reports from General Almazan, who is leading one of the main federal armies against Torreon, that he had captured 4,000 revolutionists on four troop trains.

General Almazan is continuing his drive westward from Monterey and Saltillo on Torreon.

Calles Pressing North At the same time, General Calles is pressing northward through the state of Zacatecas and has whittled his headquarters from Rio Grande to El Paso bringing him more closely in touch with events in Durango.

Desultory fighting between federal and rebel outposts were reported. In one skirmish 14 rebels being reported killed, many wounded and some captured. Of these seven were court-martialed and executed.

The insurgents on the west coast were standing still. The government reported them demoralized and ready to bolt northward at the first sign of collapse of the rebel movement.

AMERICANS LEAVE MEXICO EL PASO, Tex., March 14 (AP)—Flight of American and Mexican refugees today continued in increased proportions from the vicinity of Torreon, where a conflict between the government and the rebels. Preparations were made here to send a train of Pullmans from Juarez to Torreon to bring more families of Americans and Mexicans attempting to leave the zone of military activities.

Excellent Reputation N. K. West & Co., has had numerous chances to dispose of its business during the last year, according to Mr. Herman Siegrist, but gave a preference to the Falk company because they have known it in Boise for many years and knew Mr. Falk's reputation for operating a high grade store.

The main store of the Falk chain is in Boise and has been in operation since 1848. It holds the record for stores west of the Missouri river in that it has never moved from its original location, which was 20x122 feet, and which is now a part of their big store in Boise, 126x122 feet. It has three stories and basement, the largest amount of selling space in Idaho or Oregon, outside of Portland, Mr. Falk says.

The next largest store in the group is the Nampa store, located there in 1888. The N. K. West & Co. store has been in business in La Grande for thirty years, succeeding J. Brooks, who started here over forty years ago, so there has been one continuous operation of a store on the present site for forty years.

Mr. Falk stated on his recent visit here that he was very much impressed with La Grande and that he considered his firm fortunate in securing the West store, particularly so in that he will have the active help and co-operation of the present management. Every effort will be made, he said, to keep the store up to the splendid standard that has been maintained in the past. He emphasized the fact that the Falk policy is to make every store an integral part of the community, to have its executives have their homes and interests in the city and to take an active interest in civic affairs.
