Nissen-Mulhall Love Pair In New Picture

New combinations in film lovers are always interesting. The most novel to date, perhaps, is that of genial, whimsical, humorous Jack Mulhall and fiery Greta Nissen in "The Butler and Egg Man" at the Star Theatre Sunday.

Mulhall, whose wide popularity in First National pictures won him the featured title role in "The Butler and Egg Man," has played opposite many stars and leading women. Never before this, however, has he exchanged screen kisses with a blond, flaming, exotic young lady like the very Scandinavian Miss Nissen.

However, the combination not only phases, but it fits the story of "The Butler and Egg Man." First National's elaborate film version of the stage hit.

Richard Wallace directed the picture. In supporting character roles that will bring smiles of fond remembrance to those who have seen the stage play, are Gertrude Astor, as Mrs. Lehman, Sam Hardy and William Demarest as the shady play promoters.

Glenn Tryon Comedy At Arcade Sunday

Another hilarious Glenn Tryon screen comedy is to be seen here when "The Kid's Cleave," The Universal fun-maker's latest photoplay is presented at the Arcade Theatre Sunday. It is promised as a worthy successor to such Tryon hits as "Painting the Town," "Hot Heels," "The Gate Crasher," "How to Handle Women," and "A Hero for a Night."

William James Craft, who has directed most of Tryon's successes, also was at the helm in the making of this new laugh-film. The story, an original by Vin Moore, noted screen writer, presents Tryon as an inventive service station owner in a large city, who has devised a combination auto-hoat that is fueled by electricity or something drawn from the air. There is a pretty girl, the daughter of a wealthy auto manufacturer. There is a demonstration of the trick auto-hoat, with that craft doing odd, weird things in a thrillingly exciting dash. There are humorous incidents galore and a sensational wind-up, with Tryon winning both a marvelous contract and the girl. The sweetheart role in the pictures is played by Kathryn Crawford, a newcomer to the screen. She formerly was a musical comedy favorite and was signed by Universal following a successful season in a Los Angeles playhouse, as the lead in "Hit the Deck." She is heralded as a charming and appealing heroine.

Others in the cast are Russell Simpson, Lloyd Whitlock, George Chandler, Joan Standing, Florence Turner, Virginia Sale, Max Asher and Stepin Fetchit. In addition to the no-fuel auto-hoat, the picture contains a number of ingenious and laugh-making gadgets of the type for which Tryon comedies are noted.

ROME, (AP)—Italy is preparing to celebrate the 2,000th anniversary of the poet Virgil. Naples, where Virgil wrote the Aeneid, is building a monument for the poet's tomb at a cost of $160,000.

MUNICH, (AP)—The cities of Munich and Strasbourg have exchanged monuments. In return for a foundation symbolizing "Father Rhine" presented by Strasbourg, this city has sent to the other municipality a statue known locally as "the nice tempter," the nickname of Strasbourg.

A pipe is suggested for bringing "embassy" liquor from Baltimore to Washington. Wonder what kind of metal they think can stand the test of the regular run of "embassy" stuff.

The sap is stirring and spring cannot be far behind, says the city clerk who has reported a gradual increase in marriage licenses.

Lady Customer: "Have you a rifle-pocket size?"

Hardware Man: "I guess you mean a pistol."

Lady Customer: "No, I want to rifle my husband's pocket."

Are you sure that knife was lost?" asked the mother, eyeing the new-looking pen knife.

"Of course it was lost. I saw the man looking for it," answered her young hopeful.

Frate Customer—You can't fool me! Do you think I've bought groceries here for fifteen years for nothing?

Grocer—I shouldn't be at all surprised.

He Was Right.

Man: "I should have thought that a night club was the very last place a daughter of mine would go to."

Flapper Daughter: "It usually is, father!"

What a vast difference between the break of day and being broke at daylight.
