FAKE BID DETECTED BY ROAD BOARD

contractors and road men.

Rumors of Whispers

It was said after the meeting that there are a few contractors, angered because they have not been able to get any highway work because their bids are too high, who have been whispering about that the commission lets the contracts to the lowest bidders without investigating them as to qualifications and financial ability to do the work.

Every effort will be made by the commission to run down and punish the perpetrator of the forgery, Van Duzer declared.

Many bids were opened at today's meeting, chiefly for the resurfacing of old roads that were paved years ago and are now in bad condition.

A start is to made on the surfacing of the Bend-to-Burns section of the Central Oregon highway, and sixteen contractors put in bids for this work. There will be 13.1 miles of rock paving placed on the Sage Hen Hil-Burns section of this highway.

Local Bid Opened

The resurfacing jobs are on the Corvallis-Newport highway, Siuslaw highway, Old Oregon Trail and the La Grande-Wallowa Lake highway.

Bids were opened for a steel bridge over the North Powder river on the Old Oregon Trail and on three small bridges on the Roosevelt highway between Bandon and the Curry county line.

Bids will be awarded at the late afternoon session of the commission.

EXPRESS DOUBT THAT FARM AID IS NOT DISTANT

replied Senator Norbeck, of North Dakota.

High Tariff His Idea

Horst said that all the farm relief that was needed was a tariff high enough to shut out one-half of the amount of farm products imported.

"Shut out 40,000,000 acres of competitive farm products," he said, "and we won't need any other relief."

Speaking of the proposal for a farm board, Horst said, "Deliver the farmers from a farm board if it is not made up of real farmers."

Vesecky said he favored a creation of a federal farm board. If stabilization corporations were formed, he said, they should be controlled by the corporation groups.

If the bill were so formed as to make it of benefit to the farmers to organize, he said, it would be fairly easy for the co-operative group to gain control of a large volume of farm products. This, he added, would enable them to influence the price.

Vesecky said that there also should be changes in freight rates.

Cove Women Buy Lot For Library

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin
(Observer Corespondent)

COVE, Ore., Mar. 29 (Special)—The Woman's Club of Cove has bought for the Cove library a lot which is located adjacent on the west to the present location. The lot is 40 by 106 feet and formerly was owned by S. H. Weimer, of Cove. The consideration is said to be $100. This additional space is a welcome asset to the library and will afford a great deal more room The deal was consummated yesterday afternoon.

State Official Warns Against Peddler Food

A note of warning regarding the buying of food products from itinerant peddlers is sounded in the quarterly bulletin issued this month by J. D. Mickle, state dairy and food commissioner.

"This class of peddlers", says Mickle, "selling inferior quality stuff, usually claim to have special bargains, but investigation often shows that the nice big apples were all on the top of the box and many of the eggs were stale."

This form of trading is seldom employed by reliable peddlers, who make return visits to their customers, or by reliable local dealers, who are anxious to secure the confidence of their customers and build up a trade, it is said.

Not only does Mickle warn the housewife, but he also advises the small local grocer against the practice of purchasing produce from fly-by-night hucksters.

SNOW FLURRY VISITS SALEM THIS MORNING

SALEM, Ore., March 29 (AP)—A flurry of snow fell in Salem this morning, continuing for a quarter of an hour. It was followed by the steady rain that had fallen most of the night.

MEDFORD, Ore., Mar. 29 (AP)—Orchardists of the Rogue river valley this morning lighted their smudge pots when the mercury dropped to 25 degrees. It was largely a precautionary measure.

OIL COMPANY IS ACCUSED BY LONG, LOUISIANA CHIEF

ernor of this state with these conditions when I am pledged to correct it, I will give myself over to the impeaching authority any time."

Circularize Dodgers

Friends of the accused governor circularized the capital with printed dodgers, calling on the legislators to stand by the governor and crush the "money ring." Supporters of the impeachment move urged their followers to hold to their lines and rid the state of its youthful governor, who attracted national notoriety by his spectacular raids on gambling houses with the state militia, by his refusal to commute the death sentences of Ada Bonner Lebouef and Dr. E. Dreher, hanged for murder and later by his controversy with Colonel Robert Ewing, democratic national committeeman from Louisiana.

The committee of twelve representatives named by the house agreed to meet Monday to complete arrangements for the impeachment hearing which will be prosecuted by Attorney General Percy Saint with the aid of Charles A. Moon, Oklahoma representative, fresh from the successful impeachment operations against the governor of that state.

Driver Of Death Car Bound Over

PORTLAND, Mar. 29 (AP)—Harold Grutze, 19, waived preliminary hearing in municipal court today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and was bound over to the grand jury.

The case against the youth grew out of an automobile accident last Saturday night in which a boy and a girl were killed. Grutze, driver of the car, admitted he had been drinking.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Mar. 29 (AP)—"Hailstones" that would not melt on a hot stove fell here yesterday. An examination of the white substance was said to have proved it to be a form of polished silicate.

Named Assistant War Secretary

Patrick Jay Hurley of Tulsa, Okla., shown above, has been named by President Hoover as assistant secretary of war, succeeding Colonel C. C. Robbins of Iowa. Hurley received the D. S. C. for services overseas as a lieutenant-colonel of the Judge advocate-general's department, and a silver star for gallantry in action near Louppy, France, under heavy fire.

Bismarck Flood Ruins Much Soil

BISMARCK, N. D., Mar. 29 (A. P.)—Spring temperatures today were doing what men and dynamite failed to accomplish and water levels in the Missouri river dropped as the huge ice gorge between here and Huff 20 miles south crumbled.

Although he was unable to estimate the damage which resulted when 50,000,000 tons of ice jammed a 20 mile stretch of river and backed up water over a wide area of lowland, O. W. Roberts, federal meteorologist, said thousands of acres had been ruined for agricultural purposes.

In many places, he explained, much surface soil has been washed away, and in other spots sand deposits, left by the flood waters have virtually ruined the soil.

H. L. CALE ARRESTED

PORTLAND, Mar. 29 (AP)—Arrested in Seattle on a charge of driving while drunk, H. L. Cale, former agent for a Portland savings and loan association, is to be brought back to Portland by Constable Gloss who left to get him today. It is charged that Cale defrauded Miss Lorena Williamson, of Pendleton, out of $500, and that he took $125 from a Vancouver, Wash., woman.

TO ISSUE COUPON WARRANTS

SALEM, Ore., March 29 (AP)—To raise the $50,000 that is required before the state appropriation of $100,000 will be available for the construction of a combined grandstand and exhibit building at the state fair grounds, the state fair board will issue negotiable coupon warrants. These will be underwritten by C. P. Nelson, Salem broker, with whom will be associated the firm of Hawkins & Roberts of Salem.

NEW YORK, Mar. 29 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith has been elected a director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. He is also a director of the County Trust Company of New York.

PARIS, Mar. 29 (AP)—The French senate today unanimously ratified the Kellogg renunciation of war treaty.

Witness' Father Slain Last Night

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 29 (AP)—Police today were investigating three angles in the mysterious slaying late last night of Jack Crawford, 42, a former Los Angeles policeman and father of Donald Crawford, 20, scheduled to appear today as a witness in the Councilman Carl I. Jacobsen alleged frame-up arrest case.

Crawford was shot twice, once through the head and then through the heart, while standing at a telephone in his home. His wife and two sons told police that his life had been threatened by a man named Evans who is alleged to have told Crawford that unless he "kept his kid off the stand they would get him." Donald Crawford told police a man offered to give his father $5,000 if Donald would leave Los Angeles.

Councilman Jacobsen, after visiting the scene of the crime, expressed his opinion that the killing was not connected with the Jacobsen "frame-up" case, in which a woman, five policemen and a politician are on trial.

Sees Need For New Political Party

WINTER PARK, Fla., Mar. 29 (AP)—Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president last year, addressing the Institute of Statesmanship here today, pointed to "a vast need for a new political party" and declared the logical method of organizing it is "through the common action of labor and farm organizations and the socialist party."

The institute is in session here under the auspices of Rollins College to discuss the general topic, "the future of party government in the United States." Mr. Thomas with Albert Shaw, editor of Review of Reviews, and others spoke on "Is a Distinctly Liberal Party Possible in the United States?"

BUYS 5-ACRE TRACT FROM EARL ZUNDEL

By Mrs. C. M. Hale
(Observer Correspondent)

Imbler, Ore. (Special)—Lee Grayhill has purchased a five-acre tract from Earl Zundel, of La Grande. This is the place where the Alvin Crader family lived during the winter. They are now making their home in La Grande.

An Easter program has been prepared by the union Sunday school which will be given at the hall next Sunday morning following the regular Sunday school hour after which all will enjoy a basket dinner. There will be preaching services at the hall in the evening.

Mrs. Frank Martin has been quite ill during the last week. She is suffering from neuritis.

A few of the apple men still have a few apples to dispose of. Grant Tucker sold a truck load in Wallowa Wednesday and Frank Martin took a load to Enterprise the following day.

The Elgin team met the Imbler volley ball team at the Wade hall Tuesday evening, defeating them 3 to 1. After the ball game the athletic club gave a dance to help defray the expenses of building the tennis court.

Word has been received here by relatives that Mr. and Mrs. Joel Van Meter of Zillah, Wash., are the parents of a baby boy born to them Feb. 16. Mrs. Van Meter will be remembered as Miss Irma Woodell.

The junior class of Imbler high school will present a play, "The Bride Breezes In" at Wade hall Friday evening, March 29.

BRYANT WILL SPEND LIFE BEHIND BARS

Monday at 10 a. m., Bryant was led back to the jail. Only after he was inside did he show any emotion. Tears came to his eyes but he quickly regained his composure. He slept soundly until late this morning.

"Verdict Satisfactory"

Prosecution attorneys, who had held out during the trial for death of the defendant, today said the verdict was satisfactory, in that it established premeditation and vindicated Dickerson who had been pictured by the defense as the aggressor when Bryant sought to "protect" his former sweetheart. Miss Mae Troxell, town waitress.

Whether appeal for a new trial will be made is uncertain. While defense counsel had hoped for more leniency at the hands of the jury, their closing arguments indicated that their main object was to save Bryant from the gallows.
