A little girl was riding in a street car with her mother, a woman of very slender build. Presently an extremely stout woman walked heavily into the car and sat down opposite the child. "Mother," contemplated the newcomer for some minutes, then, turning to her mother, inquired in a loud voice: "Mother, is that all one lady?"

"Sure, she suffers terribly from insomnia."

"Well, it's her own fault. She wears such long pajamas."

"Have you any cheese?"

"Yes, we've got some nice cottage cheese."

"Oh, but we don't live in a cottage any more. We live in a nice apartment house now. Have you any cheese fit for that sort of place?"

AT THE THEATERS

Western Star At Colonial In "The Danger Rider"

Hoot Gibson in the role of a supposed ex-convict is now appearing before local picturegoers at the Colonial theater, where "The Danger Rider," his late Universal picture is being presented.

The locale is that of a ranch run by a pretty girl who employs only ex-convicts who cannot find honest work elsewhere. With Hoot posing as a notorious criminal, the picture has numerous comedy situations, as well as plenty of thrills of the well known variety supplied by the cowboy stars.

Gibson, who has a record of daring deeds and thrilling stunts for the screen, is reported to have made "The Danger Rider" one of his most entertaining productions.

Eugenia Gilbert appears in the feminine lead with Reaves Eason, one of Gibson's directors, playing the villain. Others in the supporting cast are Monte Montague, King Zany, Frank Beale and Milla Davoport. The band of Universal Ranch Riders also appear with the company.

Super-Production, "Man Who Laughs" Now at Arcade

"The Man Who Laughs" is probably Carl Laemmle's finest super-production and one of which his producer-rivals should justly be envious.

This picture is a production of Victor Hugo's immortal novel of England about 1795 opened yesterday at the Arcade theater.

Once in a blue moon a motion picture critic is happy to be what he is and "The Man Who Laughs" has the strength which comes to the screen just about that often.

The entire cast, from the stars to the supernumeraries, seem to have been imbued with the captivating qualities of this powerful drama of love and court intrigue, and to have enacted their roles with inspiration.

The cause of overweight Not due to any one food alone

THERE has been so much discussion in this country about the cause of being overweight that we decided to go to one of the leading scientific authorities on diet. We requested him to state the facts for the benefit of the public.

"It is the fashion to blame sweets for everything," he said. "Overweight is not due to sweets alone."

"If the dietary habits of overweight individuals are scrutinized," he went on to say, "it will be found that sugar is the foodstuff gorged by some, starches by others, and oils by others, and meats by others."

"Strictly speaking," he said, "the average increase in overweight cannot be attributed to increase in intake of sugar or any other single foodstuff."

Note that he speaks of gorging. How intelligent it would be if everyone in the United States would refrain from gorging any one kind of food, and ate in moderation a great variety of all kinds of healthful foods.

It is clearly up to the women in the home to see that all adults and all children are furnished a variety of appetizing foods and to remember that sugar is the mainstay for making healthful foods delicious and appetizing.

One excellent way to prevent gorging is to feed your family a varied and well-balanced diet. Sugar develops the incomparable flavors of cereals, vegetables, fruits and many meats. It makes vegetables taste fresher and improves their color. Nothing can take the place of intelligent cookery. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.
