AT THE THEATERS

Mackaill-Mulhall Team Featured In Arcade Film

What's this thing, "modern etiquette on his lap," "Skeets" bluffs his way through, makes a deep impression on a high society girl, sells her father a flock of motor cars and winds up by giving him advice on how to raise pedigreed cows on his Long Island Estate.

The story is punctuated by a laugh a minute. Patricia Avery plays the society girl, Ruth Dwyer is attractive as the city cousin of "Skeets," and Charles Byer is the min-about-town who seems to have the inside track on the society girl's favor until the country boy breaks into the scene. Byer is an especially fine actor. He has appeared in some of the big pictures of the past year.

HEALTH

WHY DRINK SO MUCH WATER

By Dr. Frederick Stricker

Many people ask why we should drink six glasses of water per day. This advice is for persons in health and not for invalids. For those who have good health and want to keep it, plenty of water every day is an absolute necessity. The fact is that our bodies are sixty to seventy per cent water. We get rid of water by the processes of nature; we breathe out water vapor and we evaporate water from the whole body surface, every day and all day. If we did not balance this loss by a sufficient intake we should soon wither up.

Water softens the food we eat, making it more easily digested and absorbed. It so dilutes the digestive juices that they can reach every particle of food. It dilutes the blood and lymph and keeps the membranes soft. It helps regulate the body temperature by distributing heat to its various parts and by disposing of surplus heat through perspiration. And last but not least, water is a most important factor in the removal of wastes. Food is burned in the body to keep us warm and give us power to work and move. There is a constant breaking down and wearing out of cells and tissues and this broken down and worn out material is thrown into the blood to be gotten rid of by the skin, lungs, kidneys, and intestines. Copious water drinking aids the action of these organs and prevents the accumulation of poison in the system. Every day about four pints of water is lost through the various organs of elimination and this loss must be made up if the human machine is to do its work properly. Since only a part is replaced by the food that we eat, it is necessary to make up the deficit which amounts, roughly, to six glasses.

Many people fail to drink a sufficient quantity of water. Such people are accustomed to giving their systems less than the required amount and although they may suffer from headaches and indigestion they never think that lack of water may have something to do with such disturbances.

"Alex, the Great" To Be Shown At the Star

Anybody who likes to see the "home town boy make good"—and who doesn't?—should join the rush to see "Alex, the Great," an F B O special, which opens Tuesday at the Star theater. It is a great mixture of chuckles, giggles and plain old-fashioned roaring laughs. It has its serious moments, too, when a great ambition and a great love seem to be hanging in the balance.

The central character is Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, a new-comer to F B O pictures, but an old-timer as far as the vaudeville and legitimate stages are concerned. He has also had plenty of picture experience. "Skeets" leaves a Vermont farm determined to show his talents to New York. Lots of others have done it and have had the crowd knocked out of them, but "Skeets" accepts the kidding and the knocks and has his baseball manager brother-in-law (Albert Conti) gasping for air before he knows anything is wrong.

There is an unusual scene in a hotel dining room when Conti tries to get through a de luxe dinner with the aid of the book of

CONVENIENT AFFLICTIONS

"Lend me a dollar, RL."
"How's that?"
"I say, lend me a dollar."
"Somehow can't hear a word you say."
"Wait a minute an' I'll write it down for you."
"Tain't no use. Can't see without my glasses."
"Now, Jimmy," said the Sunday school teacher, "which would you rather be, the wheat or the tares?"
"The tares," answered Jimmy promptly.

"Why," asked the teacher in surprise, "How can you say that, when you know wheat represents the good and tares the bad?"
"Oh, that's all right," replied the precocious youngster, "the wheat gets thrashed and the tares don't."
Salesman: "Does your wife open your letters?"
Radio Salesman: "Only those marked 'private'."

A man with an uncanny mania for juggling figures placed a pad of paper and a pencil in his friend's hands, and said:
"Put down the number of your living brothers. Multiply it by two. Add three. Multiply the result by five. Add the number of living sisters. Multiply the result by ten. Add the number of dead brothers and sisters. Subtract 150 from the result."
The friend did as directed.
"Now," said the other with a cunning smile, "the right figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters, and the left-hand figure the number of living brothers."

They were discussing the North American Indian in a school one day when the teacher asked if anyone could tell what the leaders of the tribes were called.
"Chiefs," answered one bright little girl.
"Correct. Now can you tell me what the women are called?"
There was silence for some time, and then a small boy frantically waved his hand for recognition.
"Well, Frankie?" said the teacher.
"Mis-chiefs," he answered proudly.

Frank—What did you do with the blonde you had out last night?
Ernie—Oh, I gave her the air. She turned out to be one of these town girls.
Frank—What do you mean, "town girls"?
Ernie—You know. I owe a month's rent, etc.

Beware the Cough from Colds that Hang On

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, a qualified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
