MORGAN DEFEATS SAN BLAS INDIAN

Turns Back Challenger in Los Angeles; 15th Time to Defend Title

By VICTOR G. SIDLER (Associated Press Writer)
LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—Tod Morgan might be the fruitest of the ring kings, but he also is the tightest of them all—in more ways than one.
The junior lightweight champion had night—in the same Olympic auditorium ring, where in 1925, he battered Mike Battlerino, stock-haymaker, N. J. ring man, almost senseless to win the 128 pound crown—thrust aside with decisiveness the second title challenge of Santiago Zorilla, 21 year old native of the Panama jungles. The bushy haired San Blas Indian battered Morgan to a draw last December at San Francisco.

Decision Popular.
Morgan's victory over the dusky challenger gained at the cost of a badly slashed left eye was his without question of a doubt. A crowd of 8,778 fans witnessed the titanic fray and few were the dissenting voices raised when Lieut. Jack Kennedy of the U. S. Navy, lifted Morgan's hand. Ringsiders almost unanimously agreed that the title holder had won six of the ten sessions, gave one to Zorilla and labored the remainder even.

Morgan facing a tiring foe, took the last four rounds.
The leading, swaying, kinky haired challenger made his biggest bid in the early rounds, but the pace, a fairly fast one, combined with Morgan's sharpshooting and greater ring generalship combined to thwart him through the deciding sessions. Zorilla was continually baring in with gloves valleying punches, but Morgan scored heavily by at long range with his stinging left hook and used a chopping right effectively, when in close.

Injury Spurs Champ.
Morgan's eye was cut in the second round, either by a bump from the black head of the challenger or from one of Zorilla's looping rights. The injury, but spurred the champion on, and although Zorilla landed to the cut, Zorilla, frequently landed to the cut, Zorilla landed dozens of punches, but none appeared to trouble the titleholder.

Zorilla was warned several times by the referee against hitting low and hitting with his head in the clinches. In the ninth round Zorilla landed a low blow that caused Morgan to double up. After a brief pause to recuperate the champion signified willingness to continue.
Morgan has defended his crown 15 times since winning it December 2, 1925.

Orangemen Sought For 1930 Grid Game

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 5 (AP)—Negotiations for a post-season football game to be played either at New York or Philadelphia in the fall of 1930 by the Oregon State college, victors over New York university in New York City last fall, are under way.

E. H. Leibner, Oregon State graduate and now head of an accounting firm in New York, was in Portland today conferring with Coach P. J. Schissler relative to the game.

New York Noses Out Portland, 4-3

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 5 (AP)—Laurel Conacher, 28, star defense man on the New York American hockey team, was in a hospital here today suffering from a severe cut on his head. He was injured last night in the last game of the season here when Jacques, of the Portland Beavers, slid over him after they had collided and crashed to the ice. Jacques' skate slashed Conacher behind the ear.
New York won the final game, 4 to 3.

Seattle	3 6 322

SAN FRANCISCO, Apr. 5 (AP)—Bill Braxton whistled over the baseball bats yesterday, but it seems they helped to improve the batting averages. The Missions won from the Seals 6 to 5, and the Seattle Indians gave in to the Oakland boys 8 to 4. Rain put the Angels, Hollywood Stars, Senators and Beavers out of commission for the day.

The Missions-Seals game was a hard fought affair, which the Killers won in the eighth scoring no less than three runs. The Missions tied the count on hits by Hoone and Huff, and a sacrifice, while Ingeon Jones, relieving Couch on the mound for the allowed the winning run with a bad throw to home. Thurston of the Seals was a leading hitter, with a homer, double, and two singles in four times at bat. Smead Jolley, Seal right fielder, who led the league in home runs and hitting last year, struck out with the bases full.

Oaks Trim Prose
Four Seattle pitchers were pounded by the Oaks for 16 hits. Seattle had two different leads, but each time heavy hitting by Leonard, Frasier and Vergez put the Oaks ahead. Vergez, third sacker, hit a homer in the eighth after Arlett had tripled.

The standings of the eight Pacific coast league clubs this week are:
Missions 2, San Francisco 0, Oakland 1, Seattle 1, Los Angeles 1, Hollywood 1, Portland 1, Sacramento 1.
