NEW YORK, Apr. 10 (AP)—Skirts of knee length will continue fashionable this summer, it was indicated last night at the style promenade of the Garment Retailers of America held at the Astor.

The popular silhouette for daytime wear, it was indicated, will be slim and straight, while the bouffant and princess style will predominate for formal wear. The ensemble was the outstanding style for both street and evening wear. The popular colors were peach, Nile green and sky blue.

Bathing suits were featured in flared and fancy styles with open backs to permit ample sunbath. There were many exhibits of beach pajamas.

sisting of a great number of stems springing from the base of the plant after its first blooms from seed to replenish the supply. The old stems should be cut back when they grow a little straggly and the tufting process will make nice neat, compact bushes.

Rock gardeners have been responsible for the development of many viola types. Viola hirsuta, a crimson type or a clear magenta, is one of these. It is a species and comes true from seed and is a brilliant bit of color. It now has hybrid forms.

One of the daintiest and most graceful of the violas is viola gracilis, which has also been hybridized into a number of colors, some of them very rich and velvety. Viola Hasselmers comes close to being pink and is a very pretty, small but profuse, flowering viola. Some very pretty blue forms often occur among Hasselmers seedlings, such that are fully as fine as the type.

Lord Nelson is a rich, deep-colored hybrid viola that has attained much popularity. All of these forms bloom the first year from seed if given a reasonably early start to get them into good growth before hot weather starts. The tufted pansies stand heat much better than the true pansies. In the latter strain there is such a wealth of variety that it is merely a matter of taste in selecting and amassing size has been obtained in some of the strains. Pansies are readily raised from seed and need an early start, but plants are always available if seed sowing has been neglected. Favorite forms of the violas are easily propagated from cuttings in wet sand in midsummer, the tufted habit furnishing plenty of material for propagation.

Seven Pianos In Ensemble Number During Recital

A very unusual and interesting feature of the piano recital given last night by the advanced students of the Eastern Oregon School of Music at the Scajawewa Inn was the ensemble of seven grand pianos. Under the direction of Leo Cullen Bryant, these selections played were done excellently. The recital was attended by 600 La Grande persons. It is reported. A notable feature of the ensemble was that but two of those taking part were more than 14 years of age. The encore played was Beethoven's "Minuet in G."

A feature which caused considerable interest was the violin and piano duet by the "gray haired lady and gentleman." They were Miss Isabelle Williams, age 11, and Eugene Hunt, age 8, dressed in colonial costume with powdered wigs.

All the pupils performed well with credit to the training by their teachers, Mr. Bryant and Mrs. William H. Parkinson.

Those taking part were: Genevieve Crum, Atha Damerel, Jeanne French, Phyllis Douglas, Isabelle Williams, Eugene Hunt, Ernest TAYSON, Mildred Shumate, Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Bethel Trill.

ESCAPES INSURANCE AGENT

CONCORDIA, Kan., April 10 (AP)—Hoping to rid himself of a life insurance agent, Walter Cyr, a young farmer, left a goodbye note to friends and disappeared.

For three days he was sought near his farm home by hundreds of men and finally was located yesterday, sitting on a straw stack. When searchers approached he swallowed a small quantity of poison but was saved by medical attention.

Have varied flavors on your table

ONE of the greatest joys in eating is in being able to taste first one flavor, then another — to contrast something sweet, for instance, after the delicate salt of some other food; or the clear tang of juicy fruit with a piece of cake.

It is sugar that helps these delightful contrasts most. It lends emphasis to other flavors by the sweetness of its own. Then it does something more. It accents the true flavor of the food it blends with. A sprinkling of powdered or confectioners sugar over strawberries softens their acid, and clarifies their flavor. Or a small portion of sugar on peas in cooking, makes them taste more richly like peas.

If you have varied healthful foods on your table, you have varied flavors... milk, fruits, vegetables, cereals, meats, simple desserts. For greater joy in eating, flavor with sugar. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.
