AT THE THEATERS

"Last Warning" Makes The Spine Creep

The lure of the mysterious—the fascination of the unknown—the fun and the thrill and the excitement—these are the things that make the "Last Warning" a picture that has nothing else but, or by giving away this arresting mystery picture? We won't, although we'd like to communicate the thrill of the whole thing. There's a murder to be cleared, a twin brother of a suicide who impersonates his brother in order to get the gang leader, and the daughter of the slain police officer, who goes right into the den of crooks, to get her revenge, and incidentally (or not so incidentally, as you please) the man she loves. See "State Street Radio" with sound and dialogue in important sequences if you want to see the best mystery crook picture of this or any other season.

Heroism Of Boys Give Tot Chance

APPLETON, Wis., Apr. 16—(AP)—Fire and high water have been conquered to save four-year-old Leona Martin from death. Leona's clothing caught fire as she played with matches in her home at Shiloh. She was burned so severely that her life was despaired of unless she could be taken to a hospital. Bonds were impassable from mud and high waters. Two school boys, a physician and a county nurse became stretcher-bearers. Over many miles of land flooded by the Wolf river they carried the child. Often the stretcher-bearers waded in water hip high. At the hospital here Leona's chances of recovery were said to be good.

Crook Mystery Talkie Coming To Arcade

An exceptional crook mystery play is offered Thursday at the Arcade Theater. The slum-bang episodes certainly provide all the thrills that any one can want of a single entertainment.

The same team that made "The Girl From Chicago" such powerful melodrama, heads the cast in this Warner Bros. production. Certainly Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy fit the parts like the proverbial glove and go to this time attraction which will fill the most blue picture patron with suspense and eagerness to learn what's going to happen next.

The others in the cast are perfect. Pat Harrison is Pat Harrison. John Drinkwater, British play-wright, arrived in America the other day. Do you suppose that's a part of the new dry campaign?

HERE—QUICK AS A FLASH—THERE—

Like grained lightning—that's the way we serve our patrons every day. You'll hear it said that our moving service is worth while. That describes it. We're capable, prompt and reasonable.
