Calendar Tea At M. E. Church Is Attended By 350

The Calendar tea given last evening by the Ida Belle Lewis circle of the First Methodist church was pronounced a very genuine and complete success by the 350 people who were present to enter into the cleverly arranged party. The evening's program consisted of a concert program given in the church auditorium, the numbers arranged according to the four seasons, spring, summer, autumn and winter, this followed by the refreshments served in the dining room according to the calendar months.

Preceding the program proper, the president of the hostess society, the Ida Belle Lewis circle, Miss Mabel K. Morton, told something of the forming and purpose of the society, welcomed the guests in its behalf and introduced Miss Hannah Clark, who in the affair's program had served as the year, and to whose efforts so much of the success of the evening was due. Miss Clark announced the complete program, and immediately following her, came charming little Miss Sarah Patton, representing the spirit of the seasons, and she herded the approach of each of the four groups of entertainers. The program was carried out according to announcement, all who appeared having been so warmly and enthusiastically received that encores were necessary in each instance.

Representing spring was Mrs. H. S. Ashley singing "The Spring Within Our Hearts" accompanied by Mrs. T. L. Maxwell, and a group of readings by Miss Ida McMeekin, Miss Jennie Nulsen, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Hess, gave two violin numbers, "The Flower Song" by Lange and "And Then Came the Dance." She told of the summer season with her numbers. Autumn was introduced by Mrs. Ira H. Aldrich who sang "The Stars" by Rogers and "Golden Wings" by Wilkey, with Mrs. Sherwood Williams at the piano. Miss Mabel E. Doty had charge of a short "Edgar Guest" hour, and she with Mrs. G. N. Tarkington, Miss Bertha Waininger, Miss Wilma Hansell, Maxine Peterson, Elsie Peiper, Lyle Gerber, Keith and Charles Patton gave readings from Guest. Miss Gladys Miller concluded the program offering, as suggestive of the closing season of the year, "Evening Song" by Johnston and "Jubilant Duo" (Silver).

Renwick Clark as "Father Time" with his hour glass and scythe, announced the processional, the months and weeks being followed by their guest days to the dining room. The dining room elicited at once words and exclamations of admiration and surprise. Each month had its own particular table or corner and there served refreshments appropriate to the month and also with quite attractive, elaborate and appropriate decorations. The younger girls were responsible for January and from a snow covered table, they shovelled white ice cream from an ice cream snow bank, accompanied by snowball and lemon cakes. The girls all wore white sweaters and white caps. Miss Bernice Pierson was the month.

February was "Valentine" month with Mrs. Will Adler presiding. Her table was pretty with its red hearts, red candles and red carnations, and the ice cream was white with a red heart for a center.

Mrs. Lawrence Graham was the hostess for March and she and her weeks had one of the tables. They attracted many compliments, which followed a Dutch windmill scene, with the two mills, gorgeous tulip beds, and Dutch boys and girls in wooden shoes playing along the banks. They offered musical selections during the serving. Mrs. Marguerite Cooper singing. Their ice cream was orange and white stripes.

April was the Easter month, and Miss Rosa Sherman was hostess. A centerpiece of Easter rabbits and eggs, gorgeous bouquets of the jonquils, yellow tapers and white ice cream with a yellow baby chick for the center carried out their idea in decorations.

Another of the most beautiful and elaborate months was May, where dainty dolls in colonial costumes of the pastel shades wound with beautiful streamers the May pole, set upon the green, May-pole suggestions for May. Mrs. Renwick Clark was the hostess.

June was the bride's month, and Miss Alice Kippel and her weeks had for their centerpiece a very beautiful miniature bridal party, with the bride and groom, the bridesmaids, the flower girl, the ring bearer, the musicians, and the minister. Their table was set under a bower of pink and white, and a white wedding veil in straw, heavy cream completed their motif.

Patriotic colors, with red, white and blue tapers, plain ice cream with each serving topped with a small silk flag, very tastily carried out the idea of the committee for July, headed by Mrs. C. E. Stine.

August was the picnic month, and the August guests enjoyed a table spread in a mountainous region, with sparkling lakes and restful picnic spots. Here the committee, with Mrs. Howard Clark as chairman, built their campfire and served with their hot coffee and tea, ice cream sandwiches.

September was the harvest month, and their display of fruits and vegetables, their sheaves of wheat, barley, flax and oats were taken care of by miniature farmers and farmerettes. Their ice cream was in the autumnal colors and was served by a committee working under Mrs. Fred Smith.

Spooks and goblins greeted those who were guests of October, the table having been lighted with jack-o'-lanterns. The ice cream was white with a yellow pumpkin center. Mrs. Guy Miller, as the month was responsible for the success of this group.

November was Thanksgiving, and from a table most beautifully and tastily decorated, Mrs. Ernest Burnett and Mrs. A. E. Burnett, as Puritan maid, served the frozen fruit salad and cakes. The centerpiece was a gorgeous array of fruit in a brass bowl from India. Mrs. H. S. Brownton was the hostess for the Thanksgiving month.

Miss Iona Harriman was the hostess for December. Her table had for its centerpiece a prettily decorated Christmas tree, was lighted with red candles and otherwise appropriately adorned. Miss Harriman as Santa Claus and Miss Frances Menger, as the Christmas angel, served the ice cream, which had a green Christmas tree for its center, the cakes and coffee. Each guest at the Christmas table received the proverbial Christmas treat.

The party, throughout, showed considerable thought and work, it was given as a benefit for the work in which the young women are especially interested, that of assisting Dr. Ida Belle Lewis and her college, Hwa Nan, at Poonhow, China.

Play Reviewed At Neighborhood Club

There was something so substantial, so authentic and so sincere in the characters, plot and writing of "Sun-Up," a play in three acts by Luitpold, that in itself it was engaging. Then too, it was so graphically and so well read by Mrs. Howard Miller that it became doubly enjoyable as it was given at the La Grande Neighborhood club meeting yesterday afternoon at the La Grande hotel.

The stage of the ballroom lost its identity during the reading of the folk-play and became a room in a North Carolina cabin sheltering the family of the Widow Cagle, typical addicts to the feud feeling common to many of the southern mountaineer communities.

Under the able reading of Mrs. Miller the story went through tragedy, comedy, realism and finally to tragedy but ultimate victory when the Widow Cagle, indomitably willed but true blue hiding a world of tenderness beneath a hard-boiled exterior, repeated the words which had once been said to her, "As long as there is hate there will be feuds and wars." Then the bitterness she had had as the result of the killing of those nearest her through "law" and of her son in the world war, disappeared.

Mrs. Florence Lynch Miller sang a group of enjoyable vocal solos as part of the program yesterday.

A feature of interest during the afternoon was the presentation of prizes to the children of the La Grande elementary schools for the best poems and essays on "Home Beautiful" week, sponsored by the club. Prizes from the Chambers Art club were awarded by Mrs. A. R. Hunter, and for the club by Mrs. Robert Eakin.

Mrs. J. L. Douglass, art supervisor, was called upon to speak. She described the purposes and work of the children in art in the schools, telling of their efforts and love of the subject, and of the benefits which come to them directly and indirectly from the aesthetic study.

Mrs. Sherwood Williams, member of the committee in charge of music week in La Grande, spoke briefly concerning the plans for the event next week, the program to include a band concert Tuesday night and a musical program by the MacDowell club of Baker, Monday night.

The next meeting of the club will be the night of May 14 when a song cycle will be presented by the Triad choir as part of an evening of music being prepared under the direction of Mrs. Alfred E. Richardson.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
Too often the woman who is trying to reduce accepts party invitations with a feeling of dissatisfaction. She realizes that she may offend her hostess if she fails to partake of the rich pastry fare usually served and at the same time she knows that if she does eat she breaks her carefully guarded diet and undoes the work of weeks of effort.

But the wise hostess of today plans her menus with her reducing friends in mind. She also knows that every guest will be much more comfortable during an idle afternoon if she has not indulged in too rich food. The rich or sweet afternoon tea spoils the appetite at dinner time for everyone.

There are a few general suggestions in mind when planning her menus.

In the first place, take stock of the calories. It's the fats, starches and sugars that increase the calory count. This includes in the food list hot rolls and all breadstuffs, cream sauces, mayonnaise, whipped cream and yolks of eggs and cake mixtures. Angel food cake is not "so bad," since it's made mostly of egg whites, which are extremely low in fat.

Toasted crackers can take the place of bread. A soda cracker is said to have about one-fourth as many calories as an unbuttered piece of bread the same size as the cracker.

Fruit cocktails (unsweetened), jellied meat, one hot vegetable dressed simply with salt, pepper and a little butter, plain lettuce or endive salad and if dessert must be served a fruit whip or gelatin is desirable. Bouillon and consommé are also low in calories and make a delicious first course for a luncheon if fruit is wanted for dessert.

Ideal Wife And Husband Outlined By 1,000
CHICAGO, May 1—(AP)—May's present day girls aren't good cooks. Who cares? Out of 1,000 questionnaires in the "Ideal Home Mate Contest" of the Chicago own-your-own-home exposition only two men showed the slightest interest in woman's culinary skill. Specifications for ideal mates stressed the following points: The ideal wife: She doesn't have to be a good cook if she is handy with a can opener; she must be "guddleome" at least part of the time; she must not nag; she ought to know how to darn socks; she must be neat and sensible—and beautiful, if possible. The ideal husband: He must un-
