

School Budget To Be Voted On At Cove June 17

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin.
(Observer Correspondent)
COVE, Ore. (Special)—A budget meeting of the Cove school board was held in the assembly room Tuesday. The school board, T. C. Henty and R. J. Mackland and three other citizens, George Golay, R. S. Comstock and C. W. Clark made up a budget for the coming year. The annual school meeting will be held Monday, June 17 when the budget will be voted upon by the people.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Geer, of Walla Walla, and their daughter, Mrs. Faye Eckenbeck, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Birdie Hawks of Pendleton, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Bell this week. Mrs. Geer and Mrs. Hawks are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bell. Mrs. Eckenbeck, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geer was a bride of last summer and went to make her home in Los Angeles, where her husband is a physician. She has been making her first visit to her old home at Walla Walla and her grandparents and other relatives here in Cove.

Prof. and Mrs. C. G. Springer left Cove Thursday morning instead of Wednesday. The 24-hour delay here will eliminate their planned trip to Washington and instead they will go directly to Portland and then to their old home at Philomath. Mr. and Mrs. Springer have both been retained in the Cove school and plan to return here about the middle of August.

The financial report of the community dinner which was sponsored by the Mt. Fanny grange last Saturday night totals $100.00 with a few tickets that were sold which are unreported. Everyone is well pleased and the committee is grateful to people for their hearty response in furnishing the dinner and for the liberal patronage the dinner received.

Miss Ruth Comstock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Comstock, of Cove will graduate with the class at the Sacred Heart academy of La Grande Friday evening.

Miss Gladys Harris has received her quota of popularity and they will be on sale from now until Memorial day.

Mrs. T. C. Henty and infant son, Donald, who spent the past week at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Baker returned home Wednesday with the baby much improved in health.

Miss Helene Lincoln will leave within ten days for a visit to her old home in Cleveland, Ohio. She will travel by car and will be accompanied by Mrs. Andrews, of La Grande.

"Out Our Way" Comes to Life

NEA El Paso Bureau
"Cotton" and "Curly," two characters out of Jim Williams' comic strip, "Out Our Way," rode right into El Paso, Texas, the other day to compete in the rodeo. At the top, Cheyenne Kiser, left, is shown as "Cotton" and Mack Harmon, as "Curly." Below is "the gang," entered by the El Paso Post, in the parade opening the El Paso rodeo, characters being taken from Williams' drawings. "Cotton" is a bulldogger and "Curly" is a bronco buster. Williams once was a cowboy on a New Mexico ranch near El Paso.

A congressman says the present session is likely to last all summer. Great news for the parographers and vaudeville actors. Seven Chicago people were bitten by squirrels in the parks in three days recently. Why didn't the people use their bombs?

THE GARDEN

THIS YEAR'S PETUNIA MODELS

Petunias are one of the newest and one of the oldest flowers in the garden, oldest in popularity and common use, and newest in the wonderful range of colorings and fringing and trailing that the modern strains offer us. Double petunias, favorite old-time home plants, always reliable bloomers during the winter months, to be set out over summer and then taken in again, have lost some of their vogue of the single types. But they remain one of the finest of summer bedding plants.

The small flowered petunias with their myriads of bloom, the much planted Rose Morn being typical, give more bloom for the effort devoted to their culture than any other annual in the garden. It isn't much more than necessary to sow the seed to be sure of petunias. The Rose Morn years ago was preceded by Countess of Elmore, a small flowered rose petunia with a white throat. Then came Rose Morn with a better style of growth, more compact than the long sprawling stems of the Countess, and now we have Rose of Heaven, a little deeper rose and better liked by some than Rose Morn, but not even threatening the popularity of the former.

Many blue, sky blue, and rich purple blues in this same type, give wonderful material for color effects in summer.

The larger flowered balcony types so admirable for window boxes are now grown by thousands, a fine type and a variant on the old-fashioned single petunia of grandmother's garden.

The giant types, while fewer flowered, are magnificent things and admirable to grow as pot plants on porches or in window boxes. They do not make the mass of color but a bed of the huge blooms with their marvelous veining, blotching, fringing and fringing never fails to attract enthusiasm and admiration.

Sow petunias, seed at once for summer bedding. Sow thinly and transplant the tiny seedlings as soon as they are large enough to be handled. If not transplanted, thin them to half an inch apart. Otherwise there will be too many weak-stemmed, spindly plants which will take a long time to recover if they ever give real satisfaction.

"King's English"

It is the king's English just as it is the king's army, the king's navy and the king's country. Everything in the light little blue is subject to him, in theory at least. The expression is proverbial. It is sometimes credited to Shakespeare because of his use of it in the first act of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," but it antedates him.

Age Does Not Give Value

The fact that a violin is old does not necessarily mean that from an intrinsic standpoint it is more valuable than a newer one. Some of the recently made violins have such exquisite tone that they can scarcely be identified when compared with the work of the old violin makers.
