Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Stoddard Give Bridge Luncheon

One of the prettiest of the numerous spring parties of the last few weeks was the bridge luncheon given yesterday, when Mrs. Charles H. Reynolds and Mrs. Elmer Stoddard entertained about forty of their friends. The luncheon was served in the main dining room at the Sackajawa Inn, the guests having been seated about four tables. The colors, yellow and pink predominated in the decorations which consisted of baskets of lovely flowers and tapers of the two colors. The luncheon was served in four courses.

After the luncheon there were four tables for bridge on the mezzanine where flowers had also been used lavishly and tastefully. The first prize was won by Miss Federan of Enterprise, second by Mrs. Howard O'Brien and third by Mrs. H. E. Dixon. Miss Federan and Mrs. J. R. Campbell, also of Enterprise, were the guests present from out of the city.

Swastika Club Ends Its Season

The last meeting of the year for the Swastika club was held yesterday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Fowler, 508 Spring street. Sweet peas were used for the decorations in the Fowler home, pink and white being the prevailing colors. Several hours were spent at bridge. Mrs. Lowell

Williamson, making high score, gentleman's prize going to Walter Newland and guest prize to Mrs. D. J. McKay. A delightful evening was concluded with the serving of a two course lunch.

Classroom Teachers Install Officials

About sixty teachers of the La Grande public schools attended the closing meeting for the year of the Class Room Teachers' department of the National Education association held last evening at the Sackajawa Inn. This was the time for the installation of the recently selected officers and the following were properly inducted into the various offices, president, Arnold Grinapp, first vice president, H. A. Wilkerson, second vice president, Miss Marie Tinglebeck, secretary-treasurer, Miss Florence Williams, Mrs. Beatrice Young, the retiring president, served as installing officer.

A program was offered, on which were representatives from each of the city schools. The teachers from Central gave a group of songs; a clown dance was given by one from Riveria; Mrs. Morelock of Willow gave a pinnacogue; E. D. Towler of the high school sang a pretty group of songs; W. W. Nuhsbaum gave a report of the recent high school orchestra and music supervisors convention at Spokane; Mrs. Young of Willow talked on the subject "Why have a class-room teachers' organization?" Mr. Evans of Greenwood school, presented a clever news sheet "The Tattler" which had been prepared by some of the men teachers and which chronicled the plans for the summer of the La Grande teachers. It was reported to have been a very successful as well as an enjoyable meeting.

Seattle Couple Married at Manse

The Presbyterian manse, 909 Pennsylvania avenue, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Thursday evening at six o'clock. The Rev. J. George Walz read the ring ceremony which united Ethel Hyde and Samuel Wesley Wolff, of Seattle, Wash., in holy matrimony. Mrs. J. George Walz and Miss Charlotte Kuhl were witnesses to the service. Mr. and Mrs. Wolff left immediately for Baker, Ore., from where they will have their future home.

Miss Edith Bragg To Wed Mr. Carson

Many pre-nuptial affairs are being given in Salem for Miss Edith Bragg, instructor in the Salem high school, who is to wed Wallace Carson next month. Miss Bragg has many friends in La Grande, made when the family lived here. Mr. and Mrs. Bragg were very prominent in La Grande circles. Mr. Bragg having been county superintendent of schools for many years and was later post-master. The account of a large party given Wednesday will be of local interest. Betrothals are the very essence of romance and being such they are prone to shed a bit of such romance where every they go. Such was the case with the delightful formal tea for which Mrs. George A. White was hostess Wednesday between 3:30 and 5:30 o'clock complementing Miss Edith Bragg who has only recently announced her betrothal to Wallace Carson. White was the color motif showing Mrs. White for the tea table and for many of the flowers about the guest-rooms. The tea table was centered with a silver bowl of which were arranged lilacs of the valley on either side of which stood slender white tapers, the suggestion of "June brides" was perfect. Other flowers used about the guest rooms were spiraea, and iris. Little Miss Sybil Spears and Sally McClellan, assisted by Miss Virginia Holt received the cards at the door. In line with Mrs. White and Miss Bragg, was Mrs. E. E. Bragg, mother of the honor guest. Mrs. Henry Cornoyer, Mrs. C. H. Roberts, and Mrs. Dan McClellan of Bend, sisters of Miss Bragg, assisted in the living room. Mrs. John Carson, Sr., Mrs. John Rand, and Mrs. Irene Lee Patterson poured and were assisted about the dining room by Mrs. Frank Decker, Jr., Miss Leah Ross, Miss Henrietta White and Miss Dorothy White. There were 150 invitations issued for this affair.

the junior class is invited, as well as parents of the seniors, is to be given at the Sackajawa Inn at 8:30 o'clock. The program, which follows, will be followed by dancing and during the intermission, Bill Heikel will sing. Address of welcome, Maurice Baker, student body president. Piano solo, by Barbara Piddcock. Reading, by Myran Ward. Saxophone music, by high school quartet: Henry Culp, Stanley Zuley, Cleland Waldinger and Clark Buschman. Dance, by Sally Siegrist. Reading, by Alta Fairbanks. Musical saw number, by David Coughenower. Piano solo, by Edna Towery. Closing address, by E. D. Towler, high school principal.

Mrs. Jack McGhean Entertains Club

At a lovely one o'clock luncheon yesterday, Mrs. Jack McGhean entertained the N. W. club at its closing meeting for this year. Mrs. McGhean had selected lavender and yellow as her colors, and on the tables and about the house she used lilacs and yellow and lavender tulips quite effectively. Three small tables accommodated the dozen guests, for the delicious two course luncheon served by the hostess. An afternoon of bridge followed the luncheon, and then, before separating for the summer, the members had an exchange of gifts.

MENUS

Mothers who are going through a case of measles for the first time are often at their wit's end as to what to feed the patient. As usual, the doctor has said "something light while this temperature lasts" and milk has been the chief source of nourishment. Orange juice, weak lemonade and plenty of water can be used with the milk diet.

When the fever leaves the small measles sufferer and the rash disappears, more foods can be used, but as long as the skin is rough all foods that might be irritating to the digestive tract should be avoided.

Of course, the age of the child determines the selection of his food in illness as in health, but all care should be observed not to give him food that is at all difficult to digest.

Change Must Be Gradual Even during the worst stages of the disease, unless the patient is very sick, junket and jelled milk can be used. In a day or so broth and gruels can be added to the list of foods.

When the eruption is gone the diet is gradually brought back to normal as the child regains his normal health. Easily digested eggs and cereals, baked potato, cream soups, sifted prune pulp, custards and gelatine desserts with plenty of milk and orange juice can be served with good effect.

Vegetables should be added as soon as possible and a nourishing diet be followed regularly.

The diet has much to do in bringing a child back to normal and preventing annoying after-effects during contagious diseases. An attack of indigestion or constipation along with measles means that much greater tax on a small body working to eliminate abnormal conditions.

Making Milk Palatable Milk is necessary, and if the patient refuses it, plain it can be made palatable for him in several ways.

One teaspoonful of sugar and a little cinnamon can be added to a glass of milk to change the taste. Nutmeg or vanilla offer two more flavors.

Two teaspoonfuls of well-cooked cocoa can be added to one glass of milk.

A few grains of salt make a desirable change sometimes. One tablespoonful of lime water added to each glass of milk may be used.

The library and graciously acknowledges some thirty-six books donated by Mrs. R. H. Morgan which will be put into circulation as soon as they may be cataloged.

Pajama Suits Borrow Peon Bell Trousers

By Diana Merwin (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Beach clothes, after going as far as possible in the way of elimination, having the other way and now are one of the most dramatic aspects of the haute couture.

Midsummer models nearly all have ankle long bell trousers, with Mexican influence apparent. The most exciting of the new models have triangular gullets inset below the knee of trouser legs, producing exaggerated flares. Chantal introduces the fashion, in pajama suits of rose beige tussore.

Mary Nowitzky has many varieties of plain and printed silk combinations of bell trousers, matching vest and plain coats. Some of the new Nowitzky coats have short flared peplums and exaggerated flared fore-sleeves. The Nowitzky mannequins wear floppy beach hats, with or without crowns, and wooden beach sandals of colors to match their beach suits.

Plain and printed linen beach suits are another well established form. White job pants and printed linen coats, with or without sleeves, are going to be worn by many girls. The trousers go over a one piece bathing suit which provides the vest top.

For elaborate silk pajama suits, double jackets in contrasting or blending colors are new. Chantal shows panel coats, some of them in cotton velvet. They are three-quarter length, slashed vertically to show the pajamas underneath. Chantal stresses emerald green and rose beige for pajamas and aid in digesting and prevent an unpleasant taste after drinking that makes it a difficulty for some children. Later cream soups and milk toast take care of the milk problem when the child won't drink milk.

John Gilbert and Ina Claire were married the other day after a steady courtship of a month. They probably felt that matrimony is something you "shouldn't be in too much of a hurry about."

A former St. Louis gunman is employed as a director of under-world films. Judging by the number of that kind of shows you've seen lately, Al Capone is raising a big chance by not buying a movie camera.
