

Local News In Brief

Praises La Grande—Dr. A. H. Miller, vice president of the Oregon state board of optometry, who attended the recent meeting held in La Grande, described this city in an interview with a McMinnville reporter as follows: "La Grande is a beautiful inland city of about 10,000 people, with wide streets and a clean business district made up of many modern fireproof structures. Especially noticeable is the street lighting. Beautiful ornamental lamp posts with brilliant lights have taken the place of arc lights and have entirely eliminated the unsightly light and telephone poles from the main streets."
