ASTHMA

Asthma literally means "panting" or a struggle for breath. It is an affliction of the bronchial tubes, in which there are irregular attacks resembling strangulation and the victim must fight for breath. Such attacks come frequently in the night and make real rest impossible.

This condition is usually due to irritation of the spinal nerves leading to the respiratory tract, resulting in a constriction of the air passages. Chiropractic spinal adjustments and electrical treatments will reach the cause of the trouble and will give you almost instant relief.

If you are suffering from this or any other trouble it will pay you to investigate this wonderful science.

You can make your appointment for health by Phoning 497-W.
