Closing Heavy In Wall Street; Day Irregular

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—The stock market again failed to develop a definite trend today, price movements being extremely irregular. There was little public interest in the proceedings, and the activities of professional operators were confined chiefly to a readjustment of speculative accounts.

A brief flurry of buying developed in the oil shares in anticipation of constructive developments at the Colorado Springs conservative conference next week. One block of 10,000 shares of Atlantic Refining changed hands at 78, followed by a further advance to 79 1/2, or slightly a point of the year's high. Pan-American, D. Lugo and Indian refining sold 1 1/2 to 2 points above yesterday's final quotations.

Weakness also developed in several of the minor and necessary stocks, Haysen body breaking 4 points, Packard 2 and several others yielding a point or more. General Electric, Radio and American Tobacco, also yielded readily to selling pressure.

The closing was heavy. Total volume approximated 1,100,000 shares.

Wheat Firm And Higher At Close

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—With offerings scarce, fresh options in wheat prices went hand in hand early today with dry weather complaints both from Canada and Argentina. The fact that Liverpool wheat quotations were relatively firm operated also to help lift values here. Opening unchanged to 1/2 cents higher, the Chicago wheat market later scored a decided general advance. Corn, oats, and provisions developed strength like wheat, with corn starting unchanged to 1/2 cents up and subsequently showing a pronounced rise all around.

Wheat closed firm, 1/2c to 1 1/4c net higher, corn 1 1/4c to 1/2c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

 Mrs. Ruth Comstock, of the Cove, was awarded the Marvin Daniel scholarship at the summer course for boys and girls' club members yesterday afternoon. This is a much coveted honor on part of the club members all over the county and competition is exceedingly keen. The points taken into account in choosing the winner are 10 on record book and report, 10 on annual show, 10 points on showmanship and 70 points on an essay. The scholarship is given annually by Dr. W. T. Phy in memory of Marvin Daniel, son of R. H. Daniel of Cove, who was a very prominent club member.

Troy Becker, of Lower Cove won a similar scholarship from the livestock show, this one being awarded annually also. Troy has been active in club work for several years. These two young people, together with eight others from this county will make up a party starting tomorrow morning early from La Grande for Corvallis, where they will have a delightful two weeks experience at the college.

Lloyd Mills won the Tony Smith prize yesterday for showmanship, winning over a large class. Almon Gens won the silver trophy offered by the Union Commercial club the points entering into the decision including the condition and fitness of animal shown, condition of stalls and entry for three days showman ship while exhibiting the animal, completeness and neatness of record book.

The boys and girls were, as usual very prominent this year at the show. In the nine livestock clubs in the county, there are 60 members and each individual was working this year, and their total exhibits numbered 100 head. Their animals were well fitted for exhibition, an item in which they had worked especially hard and had had special instruction by L. J. Allen during his recent visit.
