Apple Gases Poisonous
The average individual would think that no harm could arise from a cargo of apples; the wicker knows different. The gases they give off are highly dangerous in a confined atmosphere, and apples—harmless apples—spell death to the man who is imprisoned in the hold while them. As a matter of fact, seamen have lost their lives from this apparently innocent cause.

ABE MARTIN

"I remember how I used to feel like a big hunk 'cause I didn't know how to dance, but it must be fierce today for a youngster to be on the water wagon," says Lyle Hud. "The way of the transgressor ain't so hard if he kin just manage to involve the right people."

GRAVE WATER SHORTAGE

HONGKONG, June 11 (AP)—Honkong Island, after unprecedented droughts, is suffering from a water shortage termed the worst in the history of the British colony. Water, which is dependent upon the rainfall, has been reduced to a scant month's supply.

The island's population, totaling 1,000,000, have been placed on the strictest water dole and the streets are lined with queues awaiting their portions.

DEMOCRATIC DINNER ENDS IN HARMONY

sippi, who was ill.
Mr. Raskob not only made it clear that he had no intention of withdrawing from the chairmanship, but announced that Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, would become a member of the executive committee to assist Mr. Shouse by taking charge of women's activities, and that Charles Greathouse of Indiana, would continue as secretary and James W. Gerard as treasurer.

Direct and indirect references to Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 presidential nominee, brought vigorous applause during the dinner. One such reference was made by Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, chairman of the democratic national congressional campaign committee, who charged that the republican party was lacking in policies for dealing with many problems confronting the nation.

Another was made by Senator Overman of North Carolina, who has attended no night functions previously for a number of years. Declaring he was "a democrat and an untrifled one," he said "no cold chills run down my spine at the mention of the leader of the democratic party in the last campaign."

Fears "concentration"
Chairman Raskob assailed republican policies as leading toward a concentration of authority in Washington which he thought was threatening the establishment of "a power so colossal as to be unending and incapable of administration, and ultimately might 'well result in revolution.'"

Outlining plans for strengthening the party's organization, Mr.
