RHINELANDER TO FILE COMPLAINT

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 12 (AP)—Harley Harmon, attorney for Leonard Kip Rhinelander, disintegrated son of a well known New York family, disclosed early today that he has prepared a divorce complaint which young Rhinelander plans to file against his wife, Alice Jones Rhinelander, daughter of New Rochelle, N. Y., negro, within the next two weeks. Harmon, who is district attorney here, admitted that Rhinelander had lived in Las Vegas and a nearby mountain resort since January 1 under an assumed name. Rhinelander, who had successfully hidden his identity by the acquisition of a mustache and 21 pounds in weight since coming to Nevada, reluctantly admitted his true name when confronted with news service pictures of himself. He explained that he had sought to avoid publicity while establishing the six months residence necessary to file a divorce action in the state.

Under the name of Lou Russell, Harmon admitted his widely known client had been a resident at the Nevada hotel and in a cabin at Charleston mountain resort, 25 miles north of Las Vegas. He also operated in real estate, through which the attorney and others who knew Rhinelander as Russell said the young man had made a considerable income.

Crucially, based upon the "humiliation my wife caused me by her actions," Harmon stated, it will be filed in the Las Vegas district court. The disclosure of Rhinelander's marriage several years ago to the daughter of the New Rochelle hack driver, was followed by their enforced separation by his socially prominent family. A subsequent suit for the annulment of the marriage and the young couple permanently separated. Last March the property filing of a separation suit by Mrs. Rhinelander in New York, was indefinitely postponed as the announced result of Rhinelander increasing her separate maintenance allowance to $400 monthly.

The former New York society youth, under the name of Russell, has been building a home here in which he said he intended to live. His attorney quoted Rhinelander as declaring he did not care if he heard no more from his family, explaining reluctantly that he had been disinherited by a letter from his family's attorneys about a year ago.

plan of agricultural relief was rejected in that campaign and this plan was one of the most important issues in the principal agricultural states and was given as a mandate by an impressive majority in these states. Subsidies were condemned in the course of the campaign and the so-called devalued plan—that is, the giving of subsidies on exports—was not raised by their party, nor by its proponents.

"I earnestly hope that the congress will enact the conferees' report and allow us to enter upon the building of a sound agricultural system rather than to longer deprive the farmer of the relief which he sorely needs."

FARM RELIEF BUCK PASSED ON TO HOUSE

President Hoover had outlined his opposition to it on terms, the statement issued by the president after the vote yesterday made his position even more emphatic, saying:

"The vote in the senate today at its best adds further delay to farm relief and may gravely jeopardize the enactment of legislation. In rejecting the report of the senate and house conferees, which report was agreed to by members of both parties, the senate has in effect rejected a bill which provides for the creation of the most important agency ever set up in the government to assist in industry—the proposed federal farm board, endowed with extraordinary authority to reorganize the marketing system in the interest of the farmer; to stabilize his industry and to carry out these arrangements in conjunction with farm cooperatives, with a capital of five hundred million dollars as an earnest of the seriousness of the work. It is a proposal for steady upbuilding of agricultural foundations of equality with other industry and would remove the agricultural problem from politics and place it in the realm of business."

can. Wisconsin, previously had introduced a bill to authorize the payment of $25,000 to Virkkula's widow and Representative Clancy, republican, Michigan, had requested the attorney general to investigate the shooting of Archibald Eugster on the Detroit river Monday by federal agents.

Reinforcement of the dry agencies is the first step in the government's announced program to stem the tide of smuggled liquor from Canada. Decision to augment both land and water forces was announced in Washington last week. Details of the program were mapped out Monday at a conference here between Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury; Dr. James M. Dohah, national prohibition commissioner and other authorities responsible for prohibition enforcement in the Detroit area.

Under this order approximately a score of agents who shot persons in pursuit of their duties faced coroner's juries last year. Lowman, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared, however, that all these had been cleared.

The secretary explained that the two border patrolmen could demand transfer of their cases to federal courts but that this would in no way change any charges of use of firearms which might be placed against them.

W. A. Bean is captain and commanding officer. Arthur V. Sanford is first lieutenant and Porfirio V. Webb second lieutenant. Carl Ebert is first sergeant.
