Wouldn't it be a great joke on the reporters if it finally developed that Colonel Lindbergh really didn't have anything to say?

Radio advertising, according to Roger Babson, statistician, is not so hot. He told a Cleveland audience the other day that a half hour broadcast on the Columbia network at a cost of $3000 brought in 16 inquiries, while a newspaper advertisement in five cities costing the same amount brought 4000 inquiries. He figured the radio replies at $166.66 each and those from newspaper advertising at 75c each.

A WISE GROUP OF STUDENTS

The 17 boys and girls who compose the high school senior class at Godwin Heights, Mich., will shortly put into realization a scheme that other high school youngsters might well copy.

These 17 students, accompanied by two teachers as chaperones and general caretakers, are going to leave on a three weeks' automobile camping tour of Yellowstone National park.

When they were freshmen they decided to map out some definite project for the close of their senior year and work for it. Agreeing on the Yellowstone Park tour, they put in their spare time for the rest of the high school course in laying away money to make it possible.

The class presented plans and movies to add to its fund. It operated a school book store, conducted magazine, candy and lunch sales. Individual students contributed what they could earn. Some of them got spare-time jobs and turned in the money that they received to the class treasury. Others took brief spring and Christmas vacation jobs and contributed their wages.

So it went—until, when graduation time finally came, they found they had plenty of money to provide them with a very nice trip. So they'll start out for three weeks in the Yellowstone, camping out and cooking their own meals for the extent of the trip.

That trip will undoubtedly mean ever so much more to those 17 young people than it would if their parents had simply given them the money for it. It is something they have worked for—something for which they have sacrificed, something they have put over by their unaided efforts. They are, we think, to be praised rather highly for their perseverance and good sense.

A thing of that kind is a valuable experience as well as an enjoyable vacation. What that project has taught those students of the necessity for thrift, hard work and self-denial will be worth much to all of them in years to come.

DURABILITY EFFICIENCY POPULARITY

AN all-steel cabinet that cannot warp. A mechanism that is hermetically sealed, dust-proof and self-oiling. No wonder the General Electric Refrigerator has set new standards! It actually operates more quietly—it uses less current, it provides the maximum food storage capacity. And—important to busy housewives, it operates automatically, regulating itself so that the temperature is always within the safety zone—several degrees below 50.

These new all-steel models are remarkably low in price, beginning at $215, at the factory. They are as durable as a safe and cannot warp. They keep cold from seeping out and heat from creeping in more effectively than any previous refrigerator ever offered.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models and learn how easily they may be bought with conveniently spaced time payments.

There are now over 250,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators. Not one of them has ever spent a single dollar for repairs or service. That was our guarantee to them.

Be sure to listen in on the General Electric Hour broadcasting every Saturday Evening from 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.
