La Grande Scores Seven Runs in One Inning to Trim Pendleton.

GAME LIKE THOSE THEY TALK ABOUT

Outcome in Doubt Until Myers is Tagged Out at the Plate in the Ninth Frame.

Blue Mountain League table with columns for team, W, L, PCT., and runs.

Sunday's Results At La Grande: Pendleton 6, La Grande 7.

For six innings Pendleton played like champions here yesterday and then, in the seventh, after an airplane had circled over the high school athletic field, the Bucaroos also went on a ride in the clouds.

But it was a thriller, and for a moment one didn't know whether the score was tied in the first half of the ninth or not. With the count 7 to 5, Olson singled and Myers hit for two bases. Garrett sacrificed Olson after Adams fied out to centerfield. King was hit by a pitched ball. Then Walters went to the plate and Myers came home, Marchison grabbing the ball out of the dirt and tossing it to Duff, who rushed in to cover home. Duff tagged Myers out at the plate, the umpire ruled, and for about five minutes it looked like a free-for-all fight was to climax a day of half a dozen heated arguments.

As a result of winning yesterday, the Pirates kept the Round-Up City team from clinching the 1929 pennant and still have a chance to tie for first place—if they can outdue Enterprise twice and Baker can trim Pendleton next Sunday.

During the first six innings, only two runs were made of Myers' handicap. Until the fifth inning only one La Grande man reached second. In the meantime, the Bucaroos gathered in four runs on a three-bagger, two two-bases hits, four singles and four sacrifices, scoring in the first, fourth and sixth.

Then, while the La Grande contingents were feeling gloomy, the tide turned—and with a vengeance. Solvester started it off with a single and Helms hit into what looked like a double-play, but was safe at first on a wild throw by King. Stokke grounded out to short. With two down, Pendleton blew up. Alexander's rap to short was fumbled and Spud scored. McKennon hit a two-bagger, and Alexander scored on a wild pitch. Moore drew a walk. Marchison and Duff hit successively. Duff bringing in the fifth run, and then Myers was sent into the field and Zweifel took the box. He hit King, next up, and Solvester lashed out a two-bagger, scoring Duff. Zweifel was rushed to where the showers would be in a big league town, and King went into the box from second. Helms singled, scoring King and Sylvester was caught off second for the third out. Six hits, seven runs, two errors.

Pendleton was shaky on the defense in the eighth, with two more errors, but squeezed through without allowing another score. In their half of the eighth, they scored a run when Walters singled and Hargett's long extra base hit brought him in. Hoskins struck out.

Like Old-Time Battles It was a game that reminded one of the old-time contests when the

Circuit Judge Knowles Scores Liquor Dealers

Clarence Munley, who was convicted of burglary of a dwelling house in circuit court last week, was this morning sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary and then paroled by Circuit Judge J. W. Knowles.

In passing sentence, the judge declared that he would rather sentence the man who gave Munley liquor, stating that the Jones law was not too severe for those who furnish intoxicants to young people. The testimony in the trial showed that Munley was partly under the influence of liquor at the time of the burglary for which he was convicted.

BODY FOUND BY CHILDREN LATE SUNDAY

Mrs. Emily Sophia Harris, Despondent, Plunges Into River.

OFFICERS MAKE INVESTIGATION

Had Been Ill for Several Years and was Grief-Stricken at the Loss of Her Husband.

The body of Mrs. Emily Sophia Harris was found in the Grand-ronde river back of 1007 Lake street about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a group of children who had gone to the river to fish. The body had drifted onto the shore below what is known as the old Rineheart swimming hole.

An investigation by authorities here resulted in the decision that her death was suicidal, due to despondency. She has been subject to epileptic spells for the last several years and the death of her husband about a year ago is believed to have added to her troubles.

Left Note at House Mrs. Harris, who has been living with her daughter at 1602 Adams avenue, left the house yesterday, leaving a note in which she said she had gone for a walk. Authorities say that they traced her route through some thick bushes near the swimming hole to a point where she plunged into the water.

Mrs. Harris, who was 57 years one month and three days of age, came here from her home at Lostine last March for medical attention. She is survived by the following children: Mildred May Harris, of La Grande; Ethel Alice Munson, of Cumberland, Wash.; J. L. Harris, of Lostine; and Paul A.

Educators Find Backward Swing In Legislatures

Charge that More than Organized Movements Seek to Curtail Public Education in U. S.

ATLANTA, July 1 (AP)—The charge that there were organized movements afoot in most state legislatures to curtail public education today was before the National Education association convention whose representative assembly gathered for its first formal meeting.

The charge was made by Dr. U. W. Lankin, president of the association, in the course of an address to summer students of the University of Georgia at Athens.

Declaring that only one of the state legislatures which have met in the last 12 months had shown whole-hearted support of public education, Dr. Lankin said the attitude of lawmakers generally indicated a backward swing which ultimately would lead to "deplorable conditions." He urged all teachers to fight the efforts of the enemies of educational progress.

Women Receive Praise Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, Maine state commissioner of education and president of the World's Federations of Education associations, addressing a Second Baptist church audience, declared that women have written the most brilliant page in history since college doors were opened to them hardly a generation ago. Since then, he said, women have advanced from non-property owning citizens to holders in their own names of 42 per cent of the national wealth.

But, he said, education's goal was far from realization. He pointed out that but one and one-half per cent of the public and private income was spent for education, while crime costs accounted for nearly nine per cent. The more spent on education, he said, meant that much less expended to detect, apprehend and punish criminals.

The 1,200 delegates of the representative assembly, the association's governing body, were called today to organize and nominate candidates for the office of president of the association.

Two Names Suggested The only two names known to be before them were those of Miss Ruth Pyrtle, principal of Bancroft high school, Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Effie McGregor, principal of John Burroughs school, Minneapolis, Minn.

Theater Burned In North Powder; Loss Over $6000

By Buddie Forstrom (Observer Correspondent) NORTH POWDER, July 1 (Special)—The Bungalow theater of this place was completely destroyed by fire which was discovered last night at about 11:30 o'clock, half an hour after the last show had closed and the theater emptied, but it is believed by the theater owners, Haynes and Olsen, that defective wiring was responsible for the disaster. The entire fire fighting apparatus of the community was used, but all efforts succeeded only in confining the flames to the one building. The merchandise and the city hall were both threatened at times, but fire did not reach them. The building and equipment were covered by $6000 insurance which will not take care of the entire loss.

The theater had been remodelled about six weeks ago when the owners put in the talkies. North Powder being the smallest town in the state to have the talkies, it is asserted.

KING GEORGE IS GIVEN WELCOME

Ruler of Great Britain Returns to Palace with Renewed Health.

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—King George, his face shining with happiness and renewed health, came home to Buckingham palace at noon today to the acclaim of one of the greatest demonstrations of his reign.

Leaving Windsor castle an hour earlier with Queen Mary in a closed motor car, the royal pair changed to an open landau with royal-entitled liveries at Albert Hall, Kensington Garden, and from there, on route between throngs of applauding thousands who cheered them to the echo.

At Buckingham palace one of the largest crowds ever seen outside its gates had gathered and their majesties after entering reappeared on a balcony outside to respond in gratitude for the manifestation.

As his figure, remarkably straight and military for all the years of the past few months, was seen on a little platform the palace hands started to play the British national anthem, "God Save the King."

The music stirred the throng to tumultuous enthusiasm, cheer after cheer coming from thousands of throats, while hands waved handkerchiefs and flags. King George returned his hat and saluted and waved at the crowd, with Queen Mary, who fairly beamed her pleasure as he pointed out groups in the crowd.

The little Princess Elizabeth was led out and Queen Mary lifted the little curly headed blonde baby, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, to the railings, the diminutive princess clapped her hands and waved to the people below, at which his majesty appeared thin in the face but he looked well. He wore morning clothes with a silk topper. He took evident care not to respond too much to the excitement of the notable hour, and at times seemed to restrain himself in his acknowledgments.

The number of Americans among the crowds was a notable feature of the great celebration. They were largely in evidence in the throngs which lined the pavements while particularly numerous groups of them were noted in front of Buckingham palace. Their keen interest in the king's reappearance on his restoration to health was evident and they appeared generally as eager as the British demonstrators to join in cheering the king's homecoming.

TRANS - PACIFIC AIRSHIP ROUTE IS CONSIDERED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1 (AP)—The Examiner today said negotiations were in progress between the Dollar Steamship company and the Goodyear-Zeppelin company for the inauguration of a trans-pacific dirigible service.

Stanley Dollar, vice president of the steamship company, was quoted as having said he had held several conferences with Goodyear-Zeppelin officials and that while no agreement was reached, negotiations were continuing.

Dollar said if the plans materialized the first service probably would be between San Francisco and Hawaii, and, if commercially successful, other lines connecting with the Atlantic mainland would be established.

Jap Government Is Expected To Fall Tomorrow

Resignation of Premier Baron Tanaka and His Cabinet Likely, According to Reports.

TOKYO, July 1 (AP)—The Japanese government will fall probably tomorrow with resignation of Premier Baron Tanaka and his cabinet. The action was decided upon this morning at an urgently summoned cabinet meeting after a crisis precipitated by handling of the Kellogg anti-war pact and investigation of the assassination of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin at Mukden last year.

It was believed Yuko Hamaguchi, leader of the Minsito or opposition Liberal party and home minister in the 125 government, would be requested by Emperor Hirohito to form a cabinet with Baron Kijuro Shidehara, Japanese ambassador at Washington in 1922, as foreign minister. Admiral Hye Takarabe was expected to be minister of navy.

The cabinet crisis is the outgrowth of the assassination of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, defeated northern China war lord, last year at Mukden while in territory over which Japan acted as protector. Investigation of the assassination absolved Japanese military officers of blame, it was understood, but punishment was insisted upon for certain officers for failure to notify the home office of withdrawal of their supervision on the night of Chang's arrival.

The minister of war, General Hoshinori Shirakawa, protested this, and was understood to have maintained an intransigent attitude which precluded further cooperation with either him or any other officer of the army, which backed him.

Wedding Guests Suffering From Food Poisoning

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Twenty-two guests at the wedding Saturday of Louis Assaro, 22, and Mrs. Edith Courtaud today were suffering from food poisoning. The wedding cake was held responsible. The 22 became ill shortly after the wedding supper, and the Assaro home in Brookfield which had surrounded with joy a few moments before was turned into a hospital. Six physicians were called and the sufferers were placed in makeshift beds throughout the house.

Physicians were unable to say whether the poisoning might prove fatal in any cases until they determined definitely the nature of the poisoning.

Joe Sarno, the baker from whom the wedding cake was purchased, went at once to the Brookfield police when he learned he was sought for questioning. He was unable to offer any explanation.

Three of the doctors suggested that a preparation sometimes used in making cake frosting and which contains a trace of lead poisoning may have caused the sickness.

TRACE RUMOR TO EAGERNESS OF REPORTER

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—An explanation of the widely printed reports that Assistant Secretary Lowman, of the treasury department, in charge of the prohibition enforcement, had been asked to resign by President Hoover, was given today by the treasury department.
