Normal School Will Hold Open House Tonight

The most important event on the day's social calendar is the open house at the Eastern Oregon Normal school planned for this evening, the hours being from eight to nine-thirty. Those responsible for the affair have been careful to arrange an informal evening, one which the entire populace of our city would appreciate and enjoy, and the desire is that hundreds of local people may avail themselves of this additional opportunity to inspect the new school, to meet the faculty and student body and enjoy the musical program offered.

Lutherans Spend Day at City Park

A very interesting day was enjoyed yesterday by the congregation of the Lutheran church under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. L. W. Awoos. The congregation adjourned to the Riverside park for their morning services, a very large company being present. During the regular service, the pastor preached on "Sermons in Trees" and Fred Matthes sang Sidney Lanier's hymn "Into the Woods My Master Went." Following the service, a basket dinner was served by the Ladies Aid assisted by the Men's Brotherhood of the church. The afternoon was spent socially, the hundred or more people tak-

C. E. Officers Are Entertained Here

Prominent officers of the Oregon and Washington state Christian Endeavor societies were entertained rather informally last evening by local members of the Christian Endeavor society when they passed through La Grande enroute to Kansas City where they will attend the international convention. Girls Return From State Convention

The La Grande Rainbow Girls who were in Corvallis last week attending the state assembly of the order have returned to their homes here very enthusiastic over this year's gathering, attended by about 300 girls from all over the state. During their stay in the college town, they were all entertained at Waldo hall which gave unusual opportunity for broadening their acquaintance in the order and in making new friendships. Outside of the regular work of the assembly, there were a number of social features—a banquet, a pajama party Thursday night at the hall, a water carnival on the campus Thursday, a tea under the tryling trees on the campus, given by the Corvallis Eastern Star, etc. Eastern Oregon has one girl on the list of officers for next year, Miss Esther Wheeler, of Baker, the first

HEALTH

ALMOST A PERFECT FOOD
By Dr. Frederick Stierker
Milk is a food, not just a beverage to drink in order to quench thirst. When we consider its food value, it is one of the cheapest foods. Milk contains the greatest assortment of nutritive substances of all single food materials. The proteins build and repair body tissue and yield energy. The fats give energy and store energy as reserve fat. The sugars supply energy and warmth. Lime, phosphorus and iron build bone and teeth. The vitamins promote growth and prevent disease. Milk is the foundation upon which an adequate diet can most safely and easily be constructed.

In order that milk may be of excellent quality when it reaches the consumer, faultless precautions must be taken to keep it clean, cool, and covered on the farm, in the dairy and in travel. Upon the housekeeper devolves the important duty of further scrupulous care. Her share in the care of milk begins as soon as it is received into the home. Milk should be taken into the house as early as possible, the containers washed, wiped, and placed at once in the refrigerator. When pouring milk from containers the top of the container should be cleansed with flowing water and the milk remaining should be returned at once to the refrigerator and an inverted glass used as cover.

Milk is unquestionably one of the most difficult foods to produce, distribute and serve properly. Milk can be a menace to life if it is contaminated. Water infected with disease germs used for cleansing purposes; milk handlers infected with disease; sick or tubercular cows; or the milk may transmit disease by way of milk. Germs causing diphtheria, septic sore throat, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, dysentery or tuberculosis thrive in milk.

Pure milk can be produced only from healthy cows. Cows must be properly fed, watered, housed and kindly treated. Cows should be tuberculin-tested annually. Clean milk is whole milk produced from healthy cows under such controlled sanitary surroundings and conditions as will safeguard the milk from contamination by any dirt or dangerous organisms.

However, to make the milk absolutely safe, every drop of it should be heated to a temperature of 145 degrees F. and held at that temperature for at least 30 minutes and then cooled rapidly and bottled in sterile bottles. Only properly constructed and properly operated pasteurization apparatus can meet the necessary heating and holding requirements which insure absolute safety.

It is a noteworthy fact that where strict regulations for the production and distribution of milk have been adopted and enforced there has been an increase in the amount of milk consumed as high as 100 per cent.

Veteran Georgia Educator Taken For Ride Sunday

ATLANTA, Ga., July 1 (AP).—Metropolitan gang methods confronted police today in the mysterious murder of Professor A. H. Johnson, 41, veteran Georgia educator, who came here last weekend to attend the National Educational association convention.

The body of the teacher, who was principal of two Hartsell, Ga., schools and a federal vocational training director, was found in the driver's seat of his automobile yesterday. The head had been brutally crushed, and two rifled bullets had been left in the car, although Professor Johnson's watch was un-touch. Police Detective J. A. McKibben advanced the theory that the teacher had been "taken for a ride" by a motor thief ring feudist. The detective cited the arrest of Johnson in 1926 and his indictment here on charges of receiving stolen automobiles.

Arrested at Franklin, Ga., at the time, Johnson was brought here for trial and acquitted.

KIDDIES!

Here is a chance to win some cash prizes each week, besides having a lot of fun. In today's issue you will find the "Kiddies in Jingleland" page. Each firm will keep its original position throughout the contest.

In each space will always be printed the original Mother Goose rhyme. In the same space will be printed an "unfinished jingle" for you to complete. As an example,

Rub-a-dub-dub, three men in a tub—
And who do you think was there?
The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker;
They all jumped out of an Irish potato.

And in the same space will be a jingle such as:

There was a boy who won a prize,
Who wasn't large, but of medium size;
He submitted answers to all the jingles,
And now in his pocket the dollars tingle;
So let this be a lesson to you,

Get busy now and see what you can do.

When you have a good ending for the unfinished jingles, write it neatly with pencil on the ad where the dashes are.

It is very important that you sign your name and address on each ad, then be sure to cut out each square. Put them all in one envelope and mail or bring them to the Jingleland Editor, care this paper.

Each contestant may write answers to one or all of the jingles. Contestants may have the help of the whole family. Be sure to write your name and address below each jingle. You may win a cash prize from one or all of the firms. Try to win a prize each week, it will help you to know something of the products or business of the firms represented. Do not send in answers on separate paper.

If your name appears on the "Jingleland" page you may claim your prize at the office of the firm giving the prize. Get into the contest at once and win some cash prizes. Write answers plainly with lead pencil. Each advertiser gives a cash prize of one dollar each week to the winner.

NOTE: Original ending of jingles will help you win a prize. Mother Goose characters may be colored if you wish to do so.

All answers must be in to our newspaper office by next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Next Wednesday this page will appear again with the new jingles and this week's winners.

This page will appear every Wednesday for several weeks
