Haying

A drive over the valley this week is very much worth while just to see the big crop of alfalfa being cut, dried and put away. The alfalfa for this season is unusually heavy and the weather so far has been ideal for haying. One of the most interesting fields in the valley last week was that on the S. L. Brooks farm north of Imbler. There, Hugh Hiron had 150 acres in alfalfa which was about the finest growth to be seen anywhere. Friday to Sunday the alfalfa was cut, the last two days nine teams having been at work, six mowers and three rakes. In addition there was a group of boys working on the shocks. The hay was all down by Sunday evening with the exception of two small strips of the grain which Mr. Hiron was saving for seed. It was estimated that the crop would make 2 1/2 to 3 tons of hay to the acre, so it is not hard to figure how much would be realized from this 150 acre tract. Mr. Hiron has been one of the successful dealers in Grimm certified seed and has always found a good market for all he had to dispose of.

Visiting Friends

Mrs. E. T. Peebler, of Portland, is in the valley visiting among her old friends and neighbors. Allen, of Wallowa, spent last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Austin, north of Pleasant Grove. The present home of the Austins is the old home of Mrs. MacKenzie, of Lostine, and she was delighted to see how the trees and shrubs she had planted years ago had grown, and what other improvements had been made since the years her home had been there—more than 29 years ago.

Have Opening Sunday

The swimming pool at the Pine Cone camp had a very pleasant opening Sunday, with the day quite ideal for such an event. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ingram, proprietors of the camp, have made many improvements on their place for this season, have placed all the buildings, the grounds, etc. in excellent shape, have erected four more of the attractive cabins, and now with the popular swimming tank open to the public, have their entire plant going at full force.

Start Shipping Lambs

It was expected that shipments of lambs from North Powder would start yesterday, July 1. In speaking of conditions in general in that section of the county, the News of last week had the following to say: "Lambs from North Powder bands will begin to be shipped to market next Monday, July 1. Leo & Son and Walter Stogger plan on making shipments that day, and others will follow. With wool, lambs, sheep and beef cattle being marketed at different seasons, the wheat and grain crops in the fall, and dairy products all year around.

North Powder farmers and ranchers have something coming in all the time. Cutting of hay began here the first of the week and is quite general now. Some stacking was done as early as Tuesday and the first cutting of alfalfa will be put up as rapidly as possible now. The yield will be fair, it is said, and a heavy second crop is expected."

Hug Reunion Is Held Sunday At Elgin, Oregon

Sunday was the annual Hug family reunion at Elgin—probably the eighth. And it was a splendid reunion this year, with something over 200 people present, a day ideal for an out-of-door gathering, and some added features which are not on the program every year. Chief of these was the wedding which came just before the family dinner, the names of the parties most interested having been kept a secret until the time of the ceremony arrived. At twelve-thirty o'clock, before the company of relatives, Miss Adeline Flexer, of La Grande, a member of the Hug connection, and Hilding Onstrom, of Wallowa, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spivey, of La Grande, were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Harriman of the Christian church at Elgin. Immediately following the ceremony the dinner was served, the wedding cake, of immense proportions, being quite prominent. During the dinner the bride cut the cake, there having been a piece for each guest present. Mr. and Mrs. Onstrom were given a shower of canned fruit.

The business meeting, which is always quite interesting, was held right after the dinner. Al Hug was elected president, Verne Hug was chosen for vice president, Matilda Hug, secretary-treasurer, and Bernal Hug, historian.

The program was very good this year and included the following numbers: Song, choir of Niederers from Summerville, "Hear the Bells." Music, violin and banjo, W. F. and Julius Hug. Harmonica solo, Mildred Howard, La Grande. Piano solo, Gaston Ston, Pumpkin Ridge. Song (dedicated to "Aunt Anna") Conrad Niederer, La Grande. Reading, Mrs. Fred Huffman, La Grande. Talk, Dr. Mayville. Song, "Von Meino Berge." Talk, Bernal Hug, historian.

COUNTY AGENT ASKS POTATO GROWERS TO ARRANGE INSPECTION

Word has been received here that E. R. Jackman, former crop specialist working under the state college, has been reappointed to that department and took up his duties yesterday, July 1. He will work with Prof. George R. Hyslop, well known in this valley, and will have charge of the inspection for certification of the potato, grain and small seed fields here. County agriculturist Wray Lawrence calls the attention of all farmers to the fact that those who wish the services of the inspector this season should notify his office at once. July 5 should be the last date on which to give notice of any potatoes which are up for certification this year. Alfalfa and other small seeds and grains should be on the list within a few days. The schedule for inspection trips is being made out at the present time and those in this valley should speak at once for places on the trips. It is hoped that enough grain may be certified this year; that is, grain of standard varieties, to take care of the local needs. This is not always the case, but it is believed by those who know that there are enough producers of certified seed in this valley to take care of all needs. The important thing right now, however, is to notify the county office if the services of Mr. Jackman are desired.

Song, "Village Bells." Reunion Song and Closing song, Benediction, Rev. Ray Hug. The central figure at these reunions is always "Aunt Anne" or Grandma Hug, who is now 93 years old. She is very well this year for her years, though somewhat frail on account of a fall which she sustained some time ago. The day is always a great event for her, as it is for all those eligible to attend.
