

The Observer Want Ad Page

The Market Place of Union and Wallowa Counties

NEW TODAY

FOR RENT—Clean, modern, furnished apt. 2011-2nd St. Phone 223-R. 7-12-11.

FOR RENT—Furnished apt., 1407 O. Ave. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE—Piano, Call 218-J. 7-12-11.

STAYED—From Slicker place, large cow, about to freshen. Houston and Guernsey. Light red and brindle, about one tenth white. Notify Mr. McKel, Imbler. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE—Strawberries $1 crate, pick them yourself. 2 bins full of old highway shoes on 2 Ave. apt. 7-12-11.

WANTED—Work by mother, daughter 17, and son 13. Phone 526-J. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE—Pie cherries, Phone 295 W. 7-12-11.

WANTED—A competent woman for general housework. Call in person, Joe's Grocery. 7-12-11.

FOR RENT—5 room modern furnished house. Newly kabinated. 418 Monroe. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE—Nice home, like modern house. Cheap. Close to school and church. $50 down, $20 a month. 1415-N. Phone 409-J. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE—One folding iron camp bed. One camp stove. Call 1195 Spring Ave. 7-12-11.

FOR RENT—Furnished apt., 2188 Adams. 7-12-11.

WANTED HAULING—Any where for hire truck. Insured hauling. prompt service. Phone 237-11. 7-12-11.

FOR RENT—5 room modern house at 367 Spring St. Garage. Phone 273-M. 7-12-11.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

FOR SALE—Cow, 2516-No. 2nd St. 7-10-11.

FOR SALE—1 milch cow. Phone 263-M. 7-10-11.

FOR SALE—Alfalfa hay in field. J. D. Robbins, Farmers 29-N. 7-10-11.

TYPEWRITERS FOR SALE—rent or exchange. E. C. Tuckey, 504 Wash. Ave. 7-11-11.

FOR SALE—5 room house, large garage, shade and fruit trees, on paved street. Good location. Terms. Phone 375-M. 7-11-11.

FOR SALE—New and used fruit jars, all sizes. Where you save money. Bates Furniture Store. 7-9-11.

CALIFORNIA HERBS—For blood, liver, kidneys, stomach, bowels and rheumatism. Chick Miller, Adams, Ave. 6-27-11 mp.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Several good boys in need of stoves. Work like new. Furniture Exchange. 6-28-11.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Prt portable phonograph, good as new $15.00. Furniture Exchange. 6-28-11.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Oak library table, worth no less than $25.00, selling from $6.00 to $12.00. Furniture Exchange. 6-28-11.

FOR SALE—Well improved small tract, just outside city limits on Island City highway, new five room house, garage, lawn etc. 7-10-11.

Observer Want Ad Rates

(Count five average words to the line.)
Per line, 1st insertion—10c
Per line, each added consecutive insertion—7c
Minimum charge on one order—25c

RATES BY MONTH
2 lines, per month—$2.50
3 lines, per month—$3.25
4 lines, per month—$4.00
5 lines, per month—$4.75
Each additional line over five charged at 50c per line per month.

CASH IN ADVANCE is required on all Classified orders to card these rates. Higher rates charged on all credit insertions. Copy for all Classified orders must be in this office by 10 A. M. DAY OF INSERTION. Stop orders on ad inserted until further notice must be received by the same hour or extra insertion will be charged.

Telephone orders solicited. Cash rates may be earned on phone orders by payment on or before date of last insertion.
PHONE MAIN 37
"An Observer Want Ad Will Do It"

Flowers and shrubbery, pumping plant, fruit trees. Bargain if taken at once. Bird Bennett. 7-11-11.

FOR SALE—Six room house on Washington street near Highway shops and Normal school. Priced very low and terms to suit purchaser. W. R. Hohmannkamp Co. 7-10-11.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Housekeeping rooms. 1512 Adams Ave. 7-6-11.

FOR RENT—Modern 5 room house. 2112 2nd St. Ph. 472-R. 6-24-11.

FOR RENT—Rooms over Silverthorn, Weight Drug Store 6-13-11.

FOR RENT—Furn. houses and apts. with baths clean, quiet, low rates. Adults. 1310 Greenwood. 7-10-11.

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished house. Call Mrs. Harley Smith, La Grande Hotel. 5-10-11.

FOR RENT—Furn. furnished house. Bggf $20.00. Phone 225-J. 7-11-11.

FOR RENT—One clean, modern apt. 2011-2nd St. Phone 223-R. 7-5-11.

FOR RENT—Cool modern rooms. $3-55 per week. Zuber Brick, 1408 Wash. 7-3-11 mp.

FOR LEASE—Entire upper floor over Putnam's store. Furnished. Suitable for apartments. Ing. L. Soudgen, 1508 4th. 7-10-11.

APARTMENTS—Newly finished inside and outside, well furnished, cool. Very reasonable. Ing. Summer Hotel. 7-2-11.

FOR RENT—Small room on Adams Ave. next to Star Theater. Now occupied by Wilt's Shoe shop. $35 a month. Phone Main 845. 6-25-11.

WANTED

WANTED—Tractor or truck driving. Call Main 54. 7-10-11.

WANTED—Lady with little boy wants light work. Union employment office. 7-9-11.

FOUND

FOUND—The best and cheapest place to get Sedan door and wing shield glass. Quickly installed and satisfaction guaranteed. Chas. Harris, 1501 Madison. 4-12-11.

MISCELLANEOUS

EASTERN GILGON School of Music—color, piano, voice. Credit 1. O. O. P. Temple, Ph. 447-J. 7-1-11.

ANGEL'S hat evening, blacking. Best in town. Across of Broken-knaps. 8-2-11.

LADIES DRESSER—Vails and prints. Guaranteed fast colors. 41-79. Swede Art & Gift Shop, 1396 Adams. 7-11-11.

ANYONE FINDING fine bib, overalls with keyring full of keys and note book in pocket, valuable to owner, bring to Observer. Reward. 7-11-11.

MONEY TO LOAN on improved city property, straight loans or installment plan. Lowest rates. United States Investment Co. Phone Main 33. 3-16-11.

LA GRANDE MATTRESS & Upholstering & Rug Cleaning Works. Phone 424-W. Chas. Ed wards, Prop. 12-1-11.

MONEY TO LOAN—We have money to loan on desirable city property at the low rate of interest of 4%. We write all kinds of insurance, including life. Chas. H. Reynolds. 2-4-11.

OFFICE CAT
By Junius

Instead of going on a long vacation this year, a La Grande family is living in a tent at home and every day all members pile into a car and drive around a five-mile square circuit.

One good way to attain a reputation for wisdom: Keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth closed.

If you love her make her take your word for it. It's safer than putting it in writing.

Al had shot a man and was sentenced to be electrocuted. On the morning of the execution the warden told him how sorry he was, and how it was going to cost the state five hundred dollars to electrocute him. "Bum business," spoke up Al. "Give me fifty dollars and I'll shoot myself."

Asked if he could name the largest diamond in the world, tough little Tommie replied: "You bet. It's the ace, and the king's best."

Showing Up
"The world's going slower."
As it wanders in its track,
And here's an item proving it,
"Souquet is coming back."

Astrologer
MRS. FREDERICK BALMER
401 N. Ave., La Grande, Ore.
Readings daily.
Readings by Mail a Specialty

OUT OUR WAY

AT THE THEATERS

"Sin Sister" Is Playing Today At Colonial

Of timely and absorbing interest is the theme of "The Sin Sister," Fox Films' highly emotional drama of the frozen North country which is playing at the Colonial today and Saturday.

It is timely because of the present interest in the land of ice and midnight sun raised by the dramatic experiences of various expeditions into the Arctic and Antarctic regions.

It is absorbing because of the varied reactions of a given number of human beings at the slow but certain approach of death under conditions imposed by the bitter North. Their masks of civilization are thrown aside, revealing men and women as they really are.

This is the astonishing motif back of "The Sin Sister" and with Charles Klein, director, at the megaphone with a cast of players like Nancy Carroll, Lawrence Grey, Josephine Dunn, Anders Randolf, Myrtle Steiman, Richard Alexander, Frederick H. Graham, George David and David Callie, the result is doubly effective.

"Show Boat" Features Songs Of The South

"Show Boat" Universal's super talking picture which is now at the Arcade theater with Laura La Plante and Joseph Schildkraut in leading roles, revives a popular old "coon-song" long since forgotten by all but oldtimers. It is "Coon, Coon, Coon." Others in the cast are Alma Ribens, Emily Fitzroy, Otis Harlan, Jack McDonald, Jane La Verne, Neely Edwards, Elise

Barlett and Stepin Fetchit, Harry Pollard directed. Many Klotfeld songs from the stage production of "Show Boat," sung by the original stars and choruses, are included. Helen Morgan and Jules Blodson are seen and heard this way.

BEFORE THE MIKE

SATURDAY PROGRAMS
7:30 National Broadcasting company programs for Saturday night follow: 8, Temple of Air 8:30, symphony concert 10, School Days, 11 dance music.

The American Broadcasting company program for Saturday night follows: 8, comedy sketch; 8:30, Vale of Yesterday; 9, Gene Dennis and Salton orchestra; 9:30, Vic Meyers orchestra; 10:30, singers; 11 to 12, Show Boat.

Portland
KGW (620kc) 8 NBC; 10 to 12, 11, Jinx.

Los Angeles
KFI (640kc) 8, NBC; 10, symphony; 11, Midnight frolic.
KXN (1060kc) 8, features; 10 to 1, dance music; 1 to 2, Midnight express.

Salt Lake City
KSI (1130kc) 8, male quartet; 8:30, amateur 9, variety; 10, Amos and Andy; 10:15, dance music.

Oakland
KLN (830kc) 8, popular program; 9 to 10, recordings.
KOO (790kc) 8, NBC; 12 to 1, dance band.

San Francisco
KFO (890kc) 8, NBC; 10, concert; 11 to 12, dance music.

KELC (1040kc) 8, features; 9, symphony; 10, Amos and Andy; 10:15 to 1 a. m. dance music.

Spokane
KHQ (590kc) 7, Nights in Spain; 8, NBC; 10, Amos and Andy; 10:30 to 12, dance orchestra.
KGA (1470kc) 8 to 12, ABC program.

Seattle
KOMO (920kc) 8, NBC; 12, blues singer.
KJR (570kc) 8 to 12, ABC program.

HEALTH

Ten Commandments for Infants and Children

By George B. Lake, M. D., Chicago, Illinois.
1. The child must live and sleep in fresh air, summer and winter. The only night air which is dangerous is that found in closed rooms. Open the window wide and let it out.

2. The child must drink plenty of cool—but not iced—water. Three or four quarts of fluid is the proper daily quota for an adult. The child should have the same relative amount, in proportion to his size and weight; more will be needed in summer when sweating is free.

3. The child must have a varied diet and chew the food. A baby diet the other day because they were trying to rear it on a diet consisting solely of Aunt Somebody's pancakes and granulated sugar. The child needs milk, cereals and eggs, but also fruits and cooked as well as leafy, raw vegetables.

4. The child must rest awhile after eating. The same thing cannot be in two places at once. After a meal the stomach needs blood to enable it to carry on the processes of digestion. If the child plays violently immediately after eating, most of the blood goes to the muscles and skin, and indigestion results. A short nap, or half an hour of cool—but not iced—water. A baby diet the other day because they were trying to rear it on a diet consisting solely of Aunt Somebody's pancakes and granulated sugar. The child needs milk, cereals and eggs, but also fruits and cooked as well as leafy, raw vegetables.

5. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

6. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

7. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

8. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

9. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

10. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

11. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

12. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

13. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

14. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

15. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

16. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

17. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

18. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

19. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

20. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

Professional Directory

This directory is especially handy for the newcomer or for the out-of-town reader who may want the name and address of some professional man. It has been carefully prepared and will prove to be a ready aid to any reader in obtaining prompt professional service.

Classified for Quick Reference

Osteopathic Physicians
J. L. INGLE, D. O.
MARGARET INGLE, D. O.
General practice and the "Post SYSTEM" for fallen arches. Telephone 218. Building Main 186

Physicians & Surgeons
LEE H. BOVY, M. D.
LEWA WILKES, M. D.
Practice limited to diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Telephone Main 16

A. L. RICHARDSON, M. D.
Surgeon. Telephone Main 15

J. A. WONDERLICK, M. D.
Over L. & L. Drug Store. Phone M-678

Hospital and Row 1708 2nd St. Phone M-622

"Sitting down work" after meals is a good plan.
2. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

3. The child must have a varied diet and chew the food. A baby diet the other day because they were trying to rear it on a diet consisting solely of Aunt Somebody's pancakes and granulated sugar. The child needs milk, cereals and eggs, but also fruits and cooked as well as leafy, raw vegetables.

4. The child must rest awhile after eating. The same thing cannot be in two places at once. After a meal the stomach needs blood to enable it to carry on the processes of digestion. If the child plays violently immediately after eating, most of the blood goes to the muscles and skin, and indigestion results. A short nap, or half an hour of cool—but not iced—water. A baby diet the other day because they were trying to rear it on a diet consisting solely of Aunt Somebody's pancakes and granulated sugar. The child needs milk, cereals and eggs, but also fruits and cooked as well as leafy, raw vegetables.

5. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

6. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

7. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

8. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

9. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

10. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

11. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

12. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

13. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

14. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

15. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

16. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

17. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

18. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

19. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

20. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

21. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

22. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

23. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and all the other activities and experiences of life, in their due season, alternated at regular periods, make the healthy, happy child who will grow up into a vigorous and long-lived man or woman.

24. The child should have an annual health examination. The child should be taken to the doctor, whether ill or well, once a year (the birthday is a good time), for a complete audit. Physical examinations of thousands of children are uncovering many correctable defects, and making it possible for them to avoid many distressing ills.

25. The child must bathe (or be bathed) every day.

26. The child must not eat when angry or violently excited. Anger, fear or violent emotional conditions of any sort affect the action of the digestive glands, so that digestion is entirely impossible for a varying length of time. To put food into the stomach at such times is to court disaster. Wait until all the emotions of the day have passed and the child is in a healthy condition. The evaporation of the sweat keeps one cool in summer, and the contraction of the capillaries of the skin prevents chilling of the blood in winter.

27. The oily secretions of the skin catch the dust and dirt of the street, unless frequently removed by means of soap and warm (not hot) water.

28. The child must be in the sunshine as much as possible. All energy in this world comes, directly or indirectly, from the sun. The child needs as much of this energy, directly, as he can possibly get. Take off all clothes that the weather will permit the youngster to do without, and expose every possible inch of the skin to the direct rays, for moderate periods at first and later, when there is a good coat of tan, as long as practicable. Plenty of sleep (including daytime naps for the little tots), and periods of quiet, are as necessary as the vigorous play which develops the muscles and the mind. Emotional quiet is needed, too. The home where quarrelling, nacking and scolding is the rule is not a wholesome place in which to bring up children.

29. The child must learn moderation in all things. Enough—but not too much—food and play and rest and work (when they get a bit older) and