Critic's Duty
The aim of criticism is to distinguish what is essential in the work of a writer. It is the duty of a critic to praise; but praise is merely a part of his duty. What we ask of him is that he should find out for us more than we can find out for ourselves.—Symonds

Old-Time Playing Cards

The earliest of these which we know are also French, two vilets or knaves which are thought to have been made in Provence not later than 1440.—Boston Transcript

AWAKENS AFTER 104-DAY "NAP"

It was probably the longest "nap" any little girl has ever taken. Marjorie Dowsdy, 19, lay unconscious for 104 days after being struck by an automobile at Lynchburg, Va. She awakened only recently, and here you see her after she had recovered from the long coma which puzzled medical experts. Though still confined to bed, she now is able to speak and physician say she will recover.

AT THE THEATERS

Davey Lee At Arcade In "Sonny Boy"

It is taken for granted that men know nothing about women, but the question reverses itself here just how much women know about men or how much either know about the mental workings of little boys. In Warner Bros. latest Vitaphone talking picture, "Sonny Boy," at the Arcade, Davey Lee, most delightful little boy of the screen world is starred.

Carol-Stuart Featured In Jazz Age Picture

Lloyd Comedy Mirthful; Shows at Colonial

The wildest enthusiasm greeted the opening of Harold Lloyd's latest Pathe comedy, "Hot Water," at the Colonial theater last night. The house was jammed with an audience that laughed and cheered until the very walls shook. It was a demonstration that only Lloyd could bring to pass and in this, his latest success, he outdoes anything that he has done before.

Three things of little use. Front seats at church, rear seats at the theatre and the third stanza of the meeting house hymn.

An experienced boarder tells us shortcuts got his name because of the shortness of his neck.

Visitor—And do your short-hand pupils do well?
Principal—Wonderfully. Just think; thirty-five of the fifty I sent out last year have already married their employers.

Corn is made by putting the seed in the ground; corns are made by putting a peck of feet into a quart of shoes.

"I got a dirty deal from that jury," said the acquitted murderer. "They turned me loose, but they wouldn't give me back my wash weight."

Voice (on telephone): "Please send me a copy of the song, 'The Child Belongs to Me.'"
Clerk (to stock boy): "Wrap up a copy of 'Yes, Sir, That's My Baby.'"

Tourist: "May I have a couple of towels?"

HEALTH
Health Regime for Young Child Safeguards Against Illness and Deformities
By Charles A. Wilson, M. D.
Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit, Mich.

Birth is the most trying period of life, as indicated by the fact that the death rate is highest among the newborn. Good care during pregnancy would prevent many deaths and much suffering among mothers and babies. Breast feeding is still best for your baby. It prevents deaths and disease. The rapidly growing, fat baby is likely to develop rickets. Protect him with cod-liver oil. Oranges or tomato juices will prevent scurvy. Give your baby regular skilled medical care so that he may be protected against dietary deficiencies and communicable diseases, and so that the earliest evidences of illness or defective development may be observed and corrected.

Development of proper feeding habits is one of the greatest accomplishments of the first year of life. Begin foods other than milk in the early months of the child's life, feed him regularly at intervals of four hours, and he will easily adjust himself to feeding changes; weaning will be gradual over a period of months and complete by the end of the first year. After the first year, feed your baby only three times a day and proper feeding habits can easily be maintained throughout childhood. If his routine is disturbed by illness, seek skilled advice early before bad habits become fixed. Good habits are the basis of good health.
