

LaGrande Evening Observer

(Incorporated)
An Independent Newspaper

FRANK B. APPLEBY.....Editor and Publisher
HARVEY F. MATTHEWS.....Business Manager

Published evenings, except Sunday, at 1416 Adams Avenue, La Grande, Oregon. The Observer-Star published every Friday. Entered at the Postoffice at La Grande, Oregon, as Second Class Mail Matter under act of March 2, 1879.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF UNION COUNTY AND THE CITY OF LA GRANDE

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited or published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches in this paper, and also the local news herein also are reserved.

National Advertising Representative
M. C. MOGENSEN & CO., Inc.,
San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Chicago, Detroit, New York

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By Carrier

Daily, per month in advance.....	75c
Daily, six months in advance.....	$4.50
Daily, single copy.....	5c

By Mail

Daily, per month in advance.....	$5.00
Daily, per six months in advance.....	$25.00
Daily, per year in advance.....	$50.00
Weekly Observer-Star, per year.....	$2.00

ADVERTISING RATES

Display, foreign, per column inch.....	42c
Display, local, per column inch.....	40c
Time contract prices on application.

GOD IS JUDGE—Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.—Matthew 7:1, 2.

ANGER

Why are so-called rational human beings so easily angered? A scientist is working on the theory that every fit of anger and every bad disposition can be traced back to some illness. He is convinced that people who have disease histories are more quick to anger than those who have never been sick.

Now that he has called it to the public attention it will be observed by many that there is a certain resemblance between the sick and the irascible. For one thing, both anger and fever make one red in the face. And then, are not the ill always irritable, splenetic and petulant?

If this theory holds true, it would appear that the past has witnessed an appalling amount of sickness. Many times during the course of the day the average person "loses his temper" or sees others lose control of themselves. A toe is stepped on, a train is late, the car won't start, the dinner burns, a cake "falls," and then, somebody's tongue slips, there are hasty words, and a few minutes later regret and a resolve to practice self-restraint.

This anger-after-illness theory may be productive of some good, and it may be dangerous. True, society would be more tolerant of the ungovernable temper if convinced it came invariably from sickness, but it might have the undesirable effect of discouraging honest attempts at self mastery.

However, it is not safe at this stage of the investigation to presume too far on one's privilege of getting "mad" because of illness. There is a certain hazard in resenting too strongly and overtly a fancied wrong or an unintentional tramp on the toe, even though that which appears to be the provocation for the resentment is not the real cause.

With the death of Nick Sinnott many Union and Wallawa county people have lost a good friend. After many years representing this district in congress Judge Sinnott knew a great many people. He knew them not primarily because they represented votes that would be useful at election time but because he was interested in Oregon citizens as individuals. He was a politician but those who knew him most intimately would never use the term implying undue selfishness. Nick Sinnott was a politician because politics had to do with government, with the organized progress of this state and this nation. And he was always keenly interested in that progress. He knew Eastern Oregon as few men of this area know it. It was his delight to apply that knowledge to the betterment of this section to the best of his ability. The high position he held while in congress and the high regard in which he was held by his associates indicates the measure of his service to Oregon. No state can have a man of his ability and devotion in public service without reaping many obvious rewards. No state can have such a public servant without suffering a serious loss when he passes on. Oregon is a better, greater state for Nick Sinnott having lived.

It will be a mistake for anyone to consider the Kellogg treaty to renounce war a failure if China and Russia continue hostilities. Both have signed the treaty but it must be remembered that its terms renounce war "as a national policy." No one expects that all signers will interpret that alike or that none of them will effect a change in "national policy" in what they may consider to be an emergency such as this. A few wars may be necessary to establish peace as a worthy national policy. The western world had one recently. Maybe the eastern world needs a similar experience.

Industrial statistics show the United States to have the largest army of occupation ever known.

Even those who are not superstitious are willing to blame it on providence when they meet bad luck.

TRY
W. K. GILBERT CO.
FIRST

Blame It on the Sun Spots!

ABE MARTIN

Eight months of married life with Robert Bow, father of Clara Bow, is enough for Tul Lorraine Bow, screen actress and radio singer. She has announced she will seek a divorce in Los Angeles, giving "I'm 21 and he's more than 45" as sufficient explanation.

SERVICE DISRUPTED
ROSEBURG, Ore., July 20 (AP)—A falling tree in Cow Creek Canyon, north of Glendale, carried over a section of Western Union Telegraph lines shortly after midnight and disrupted the service until repairs could be made. The tree carried down a section of wires between poles, putting all circuits out of commission. A crew of linemen made hasty repairs and today was engaged in stringing new lines.

HEALTH

Seemingly Trifling Injuries Sometimes Most Treacherous
By F. C. Schurmeier, M. D., Elgin, Illinois.

Lock-jaw is caused by a specific germ carried into the wound produced by a nail, silver, pin, tack, glass, barbed wire or thorn and those wounds produced by firearms and explosives.

The germ is carried in the intestines of herb-eating animals and a small per cent of healthy men, particularly hostlers and dairy men. It is an earth and filth borne microbe, found in fertilized ground in barn yards and manure in and about stables. The germ is peculiar inasmuch as it cannot develop when in contact with air.

There are few diseases so deadly as lock-jaw. The microbe produces a poison that attacks the nerves and reaches the spinal cord in the period of four to twenty-four days. Wounds of trifling character are the most treacherous because they are often overlooked or they may be considered by the patient as being of no consequence.

The disease usually develops slowly. A wound may be healed completely before symptoms of lock-jaw appear. The symptoms are stiffening of the neck, tightening of the jaws, steady contraction of the back muscles, chills, fever, pain, and sometimes difficulty in swallowing.

Although, thanks to the better first-aid and more efficient preventive treatment, the disease is now occurring less frequently in the United States, over one thousand people die from it each year. When wounded, under conditions and in a manner as stated before, be not deceived should the wound bleed freely, for the blood will not wash away all the germs should any be present. If the wound opening is small it must be widened by a physician, if possible. Peroxide should be applied and the wound swabbed to its full depth with tincture of iodine. Another good treatment, often applied by physicians, is the use of carbolic acid in a similar manner as the iodine, and the immediate washing of the wound thorough with alcohol. The wound should then be dressed lightly with gauze.

Whenever possible consult a physician at once for any wound. It is a wise precaution for the patient to submit immediately to the injection of anti-lock-jaw serum which prepares the body to combat the effects of the poison should any be present. Should symptoms of the disease develop, more serum may be given, but the patient has a tremendous advantage because of the early dose administered.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER
PENDLETON, Ore., July 20 (AP)—The body of a man between 30 and 35 years old was found in the Columbia river above Blalock Ferry yesterday by a sheepherder. It had apparently been in the water many days. Paper found in the man's pockets gave the name of Ray Leader, Whiteswan, Wash. The body was taken to Heppner by the Morrow county coroner.

Duluth, Minn., home of many Americans of Scandinavian extraction, has a "Johnson club." It has 200 members bearing that name.

Singing is said to hasten convalescence—that is, if you're the one who's sick.

Bungalow Camps in the Canadian Rockies

Eight delightful locales in the world-famed Canadian Rockies where all the family may enjoy an outdoor vacation at moderate cost. Here you'll find every popular recreation - fishing, swimming, boating, hiking, riding, hunting. At night, songs and stories around the campfire. Plan to go this summer - Canadian Pacific Low Excursion Fares make travel costs decidedly low.

Canadian Pacific
W.H. DEACON Gen'l Agent PASS RUFFET,
115 S BROADWAY PORTLAND 6 OREGON 2332
AMERICAN BANK BLDG.

Little thing, but a man is flattered when his barber tells him he has a mighty hard face to shave.

Love's blind, but that shouldn't make a girl kiss everybody.

Ain't it Hot?
You may keep your shirt on, you may take it off.
You may don what you like, what you like you may doff;
You may sit in the sun, you may sit in the shade;
You may drink hot coffee—or lemonade!

You may curse old Sol for his ardent power,
Or pray for a local thunder-shower;
You may stay at home, reading Office Cat verse
Or go much farther and fare much worse.

But whatever you do do, or don't do, please
Don't expect much of poets on days like these;
We don't know much of art, but of this we're dead sure—
Our temperament varies with the temperature!

Old-fashioned after-dinner speech: "Now go and eat, Aunt Liza, and we'll do the dishes."

"Is your store completely modernized?" asked the efficiency expert.
"Yes," replied Spinke, "now that my school girl cashier has taken up smoking and my old maid bookkeeper has had her hair bobbed—it is!"

A Pollyanna thought for these hot days, is to be glad when you start to cross the scorching pavements that you are no ice cream.

A gardner refused to lay awake nights pondering on the revived argument whether a tomato is a fruit or a vegetable, but he says he knows it is the fruit of hard effort, much hoeing and sometimes excessive picking of big green worms.

Statistics prove that 50 per cent of the married people in the

N. K. West & Co., Inc.

The Florsheim Shoe
for The Man Who Cares

United States women.

Old Lady: "Tell me, dear—what is your little friend crying for?"

Giji: "He's not crying, ma'am—he's been playin' tennis with one of his mother's onions."

Smith: "Have you ever been in a railway accident?"

Jones: "Yes, once when I was in a train and we went through a tunnel I kissed the father instead of the daughter."

Leg shows used to draw the crowds
You can remember how,
But few attend them any more
Nor pay to see them now.

Mrs. Newsome—"There's an account in the paper here of a man who lives on onions alone."

Newsome—"Well, any man who lives on onions ought to live alone."

To cure a bad temper, try arguing with some one bigger than you are.

There was an all-around good-for-nothing man who died, and at his funeral the minister delivered a most beautiful address, eulogizing the departed in the most glowing manner, praising his splendid qualities as a fine type of a man, a good husband and a kind parent.

About this time the widow, who was seated well up in front, spoke to her little daughter by her side, and said: "My dear, go look in the coffin and see if it is your father."

What her Dress Cost
A young wife in this neighborhood confessed recently that a much-admired new dress cost her $75 and a couple of good hard cries.

(Maid)—Mum, the garbage man is here.
(Mrs. Newlywed)—Tell him I don't want anything this morning.

Then there was the absent-minded professor who got up and struck a match to see if he had blown out the candle!

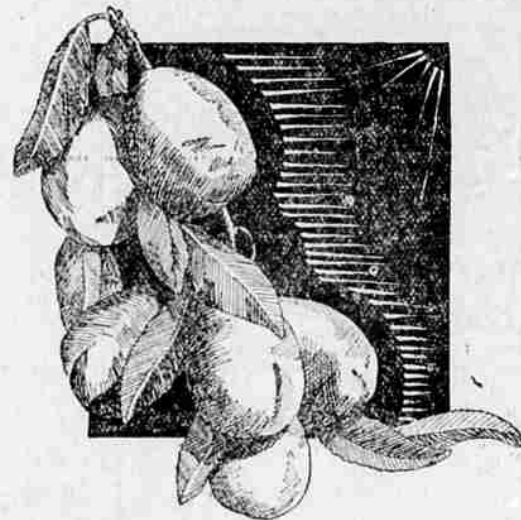

When a La Grande wife kissed her husband affectionately one other day and didn't ask for a new hat or dress, hadn't overdrawn her bank account, in fact kissed him for no reason at all, he could only look at her and murmur, "The thrill that comes once in a wife-time."

1929 Chrysler 65 - 4 Door Sedan

This car is of the latest model. Carries new car guarantee and regular discount.

Perkins Motor Co.

Cor. 4th & Adams --- Main 500

Sound Investments Bear Fruit

Someone has defined an investment as the careful loan of your money among one or more business enterprises or individuals, with or without specific security, either at known or unknown rates of interest return.

If that case, a certificate of deposit in a bank is an investment—loan your money to the bank at 4% payable practically on demand. A public utility bond is an investment—loaning your money to a light and power company, a telephone company at some stated rate of interest payable at some future time. All these bear fruit for you.

The important thing in making a loan—in investing your money—is therefore, to know how quickly you can withdraw money in an emergency, how much interest it will earn, how certain you can be that your money will fail to be fruitful and be lost.

Your banker is naturally in the ideal position to tell you these things. If he hasn't the information you require, he can get it. His experience and his judgment are invaluable to you in making an investment decision. And he is always glad to be of service to you.

La Grande

National

Member Federal Reserve

Resources Over 2 Million

"Forty-First Year Of Friendly Service"

LET CLOROX DO THE JOBS YOU DREAD

So says a fastidious woman who uses Clorox daily. Dish towels, dish mops, dish rags can be kept white, clean, odorless and sterile too, when Clorox is added to their washing suds. And towels made of unbleached linen, flour or sugar sacks, can be easily and quickly bleached with Clorox. Just follow directions on bottle.

bleaches removes stains destroys odors kills germs

AT ALL GROCERS

CLOROX