U. OF O. PICNIC IS ENJOYED BY MANY LAST NITE

Merrig for the informal evening into a big "Oregon family" some 100 alumni, students and parents of students of the University of Oregon enjoyed an outdoor supper and program at the Riverside park last night. They had as special guests a group of prospective Oregon students. Members of students directed the serving of a picnic supper, cafeteria style, shortly after 6:30 o'clock.

Songs by a trio made up of Kermit Ragain, Lee Moser and Robert Guild were features of a program. Hearty applause followed songs by Kermit Ragain, an Oregon and an L.H.S. "alum" who has recently re-established his home here. A knock at entertaining that Mr. Ragain was well known for in his high school days has lost none of its flavor, his part of the program last night demonstrated.

Among the "alums" of the university at the picnic was one whose home is now across the water—Miss Mae Nell, who is returning soon to Hii, Hawaii, after a summer stay here.

Miss Dorothy Ann Warnick was general chairman of last night's event. She was introduced by Hugh E. Brady, program chairman for the evening.

IDEAL EVENING INDICATION BIG BAND AUDIENCE

With the prospect of an ideal evening for an open air concert, it is thought that one of the largest crowds of the summer will listen to the La Grande municipal band program at Riverside park at eight o'clock this evening.

The addition of several new numbers to the program and the solo numbers of Miss Asgardt Erigaard, of the normal school, are of particular interest.

The band will play a march, "Garland Entree," "Valse Triste" from "Kuolema," Sibelius; Jesse's Intermezzo, "The Wedding of the Rose," a descriptive Indian and American fantasia "The Death of Custer," Johnson.

After intermission, excerpts from "Rose Marie," Rudolph Friml's light opera; Lubomirsky's "Danse Orientale," and Gomec Overt, "H Guarany."

Miss Frigaard will sing "Songs my Mother Taught Me," Dvorak, and "Roses of Picardy," Woods.

The audience is again requested to sit in the pavilion rather than to remain in their cars in order to avoid congestion. Director Andrew Loney Jr. announces.

Thinks Daniel Boone Carved Turtle's Shell

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Because its undershell bore the inscription, D. Boone, 1769, a small, ordinary-looking turtle has come under official notice.

The turtle was found by Ralph Lyons of Wingate, Ind., while he was sheeking wheat on a farm. Statehouse officials compared the lettering on the shell with those Boone inscribed on a tree when he killed a bear. The signatures bore a resemblance, they said.

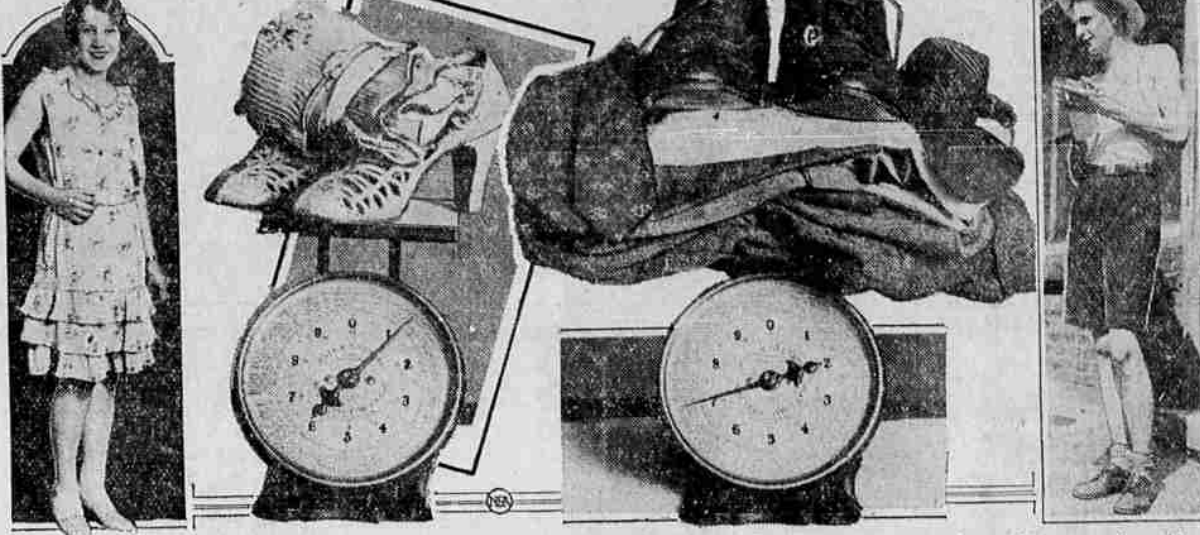

If a hoax, those who examined the turtle said, the perpetrator had not lived to know the outcome. The inscription had been made years ago.

Yes, Indeed—the Women Get All the Breaks in Hot Weather!

It's no secret that women have all the luck when it comes to hot weather wearing apparel—and here's a picture layout that proves the point. The left is Miss Ethel South of Cleveland, garbed as any modern young woman is garbed on a hot day. In the next picture Miss South's clothing is shown reposing on a scales; net weight, one pound and three ounces. Next we have the average man's summer clothing—which, if you'll notice weighs one ounce over seven pounds. The last picture shows the hot weather garb devised by Herbert Barrier, a Knoxville (Tenn.) newspaper reporter. It's cool, all right—but when Barrier tried wearing it to work he found out it just wouldn't do.

Dogs Burial Plot

English Phone Books Bar Ads For Liquor

LONDON (AP)—Liquor advertisements have been barred from England's telephone books. They will be absent henceforth also from postoffice buildings and the covers of books of stamps, all of which will result in an annual loss to the government of about $100,000 in advertising revenue.

The postmaster general explained that the new policy is based on the general rule that advertisements capable of giving offense to large sections of public opinion ought not to be accepted.

The postoffice controls not only the mails, but all telephone and telegraph lines.

The telegraph companies are trying to "humanize" their service. But haven't the wires been a fall of human touches for years?

Senator Glass complains that in the Republican campaign discussions only the prohibition law was referred to as a subject for law enforcement study, and the crime commission is going to take in more subjects. Maybe the Republicans have found that there are actually some crimes not caused by prohibition.

SHORTAGE OF MEN
ABERTILLERY, Wales (AP)—The man problem has become acute in many communities in this South Wales mining district. The youth of the country apparently prefer to make their fortunes in America or the Dominions with the result that hundreds of girls are stranded.

Abertillery has been particularly hard hit and the number of bachelors so far exceeds that of bachelors that the girls themselves are contemplating emigration to places where positions and men are more plentiful. In addition to the large number of unmarried girls there are 500 widows in Abertillery, the majority under 30.
