

Dies After Scuffle
In Portland Place

PORTLAND, July 26 (AP)—An autopsy into the death of Fred Childs, 20, hospital orderly, today resulted in the verdict that death had resulted from heart failure. Childs died a few minutes after a scuffle with Ben Cline, 24, a fellow worker. The district attorney's office said there was no criminal case involved and that Cline would not be held.

After the tussle Cline, ignorant of Childs' condition, went to a hospital official and said that as he was unable to get along with Childs, he was going to restrain. He was told to return for his pay check in half an hour.

When officers arrived they found Cline in his room packing. He was then told of Childs' death. Nurses and internes said Childs had been complaining for some time of chest pains and headaches and had been taking treatment from a staff physician.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26 (AP)—An argument over the failure of a fellow orderly to appear at work on time, resulting in a scuffle, caused the death today of Fred Childs, 20, night orderly at a hospital here. Ben Cline, 24, day orderly, was held for the district attorney.

At 8:45 p. m. Loretta Schlegel, night nurse, heard a scuffle and found Childs and Cline just emerging. Childs, passing her with his shirt torn at the shoulder, and with blood stains on it, said there had been a fight.

At 7:05 a. m. Childs called Miss I. Boyce, day nurse, and asked her to find an interne, remarking that he did not feel well. A physician was summoned but the orderly died 25 minutes later. An autopsy was ordered.

ish of the second round or at least the next one.

The chin that absorbed Mickey Walker's punches, and the battering of Pete Luzzo was an open target for Fields' sharp right crosses and left hooks. Dundee started to sag under Fields' wallop in the first round and broke completely in the second. A few seconds after the second round opened, Fields sent a crashing right to the chin that dropped Dundee to the floor for a count of nine. There was little strength left in his wobbly legs when he regained his feet. He staggered forward and ran into another right hand punch that landed on the peak of the chin. He went down again, this time for a count of seven. When he got up he fell into the ropes and then cut loose with a terrific right hand punch that landed low in the groin.

Says Unintentional
Dundee claims the blow was delivered unintentionally, but it is doubtful in the opinion of ring-siders whether he could have survived the round. After hitting the floor twice, Dundee appeared completely bewildered and the sting was out of his punches. He staggered around the ring like a drunken man after he fouled his youthful challenger.

Dundee barely made the welterweight limit of 147 pounds when they jumped on the scales at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He scaled about an ounce under the figure, while Fields weighed in at 145. To all appearances Dundee was forced to exert every effort to make the weight.
