The San Francisco Seals yesterday opened their week's campaign at Los Angeles by defeating the Hollywood Stars 7 to 5 in a close contest, thereby strengthening their hold on the Pacific Coast league lead. The Stars stand in second place.

An exciting climax was brought to the game when the Stars rallied in the ninth inning and were on their way to tying and possibly winning, with the bases loaded. However, Frank filed out, and the affair was ended.

The Oakland Oaks bunched hits of three Sacramento Indians on the lot across the bay, to put over a 7 to 5 victory.

Wade Kilfer's Mission Reds won a 7 to 1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, pounding "Deacon" Pitt out of the box in the second inning, and forced out Lefty Peters in the eighth.

Dave Harris' single with the bases full and two out in the tenth inning drove in the winning tally of a 2 to 1 victory Portland's Jacks took over the Seattle Indians in the Rose city. Fred Ortman had a 1 to 0 game within his grasp until the ninth inning, when outfielder Wade smashed a homer into the left field stand.

Old "Socks" Seibold Twirls Boston to Victory Over League Leaders.

By Edward J. Neil
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
It's beginning to look as though into the reign of each of baseball's master minds the monkey wrench of some last error of judgment must fall sooner or later.

Now it's the turn of Joe McCarthy who does the heavy mental drudgery for the Chicago Cubs, to knock his teeth and attempt to reach the back of his trousers with the heel of his right foot. The Cubs are in first place in the National League today, five games ahead of the tottering Pittsburgh Pirates, but it might be more if it wasn't for old "Socks" Seibold. Socks is no youngster by any means. He pitched for the Athletics about ten years ago. Last year he hurled for Reading in the International League and was considered the best pitcher in the circuit. Well along in the 30's, Sock's curve is mostly a wrinkle now and his "hard" one probably looks like Lefty Grove's floated. But he is a smart old warrior.

The Cubs brought him back to the majors just because. Then a chance came to acquire Rogers Hornsby and with half a Pullman car full of team mates, Socks was traded to Boston for the great second baseman. Yesterday Socks was back in Chicago.

He pitched the Braves to a neat 7 to 1 victory over the Cubs, the second time he has snubbed old master McCarthy in his last two trips. In addition Socks has beaten the Pirates three times along with several other clubs. If these victories were added to the Cub win column and corresponding defeats subtracted, the McCarthy clan would be as far ahead in the National circuit as the Philadelphia Athletics are in the American League.

The Cubs came back to put the Braves in their proper places in the second half of the double header when powerhouse Wilson lashed out two home runs to make it an even 2 for the season.

While his mates rallied round, Pat Malone ceased home, 6 to 3. Kiki Cuyler returned to the Chicago lineup after an absence of 11 games due to a leg injury. Threatening to take a sudden nose-dive in the standing as the Cardinals did a few weeks ago, the crippled Pirates dropped another engagement to the Phillies, 6 to 2, and slipped another half notch back of the Cubs. "Chuck" Klein hit his 33rd homer for Philadelphia and Don Hurs picked up his fifth in the past four games. Lou Koupal, a right hander Wilbert Robinson sent to the Phillies from his own bullpen, held the Pirates singly. Koupal probably will be called to jump into one of Uncle Robbie's sincere regrets.

The Cincinnati Reds and New York Giants staged an old-fashioned pitchers' duel with Eppa Rixey, the tall left hander, beating Joe Genevieve, a cripple most of the season, 2 to 1. The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals wrestled through another double header that ended in a draw, the Cards winning the first 5 to 2, behind Jess Haines' fine twirling but losing the second, 8 to 2, when wild Bill Hathaban gave more passes than base hits.

The day in the American League was four on hits but short on results. The Philadelphia Athletics maintained a 3 to 2 game lead over the Yankees by blasting the Tigers 10 to 1 while New York belted the inoffensive Chicago White Sox 16 to 2 for the seventh straight win. Kube Walberg held Detroit to four hits. Thirteen Mackmen battled against Carroll and Hillings in the fifth for nine runs. Hilary got two hits in this inning and Pykes two passes.

The Boston Red Sox split a double header with Cleveland, winning the first 4 to 0, and dropping the second 6 to 2. Lefty Stewart held Washington to five hits as St. Louis won 5 to 1.

Now that we have talking signboards, tourists soon will have to start wearing earmuffs.

JACK DEMPSEY WATCHES MAX
DO HIS STUFF

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1. (AP)—"He looks good," steps around nicely, and is plenty fast." Such was Jack Dempsey's appraisal of Max Schmeling, Germany's heavyweight title hope and likened by many title followers to the erstwhile "Marionna Mauler." Dempsey watched Schmeling to four exhibition rounds at the Olympic auditorium here last night.

The former heavyweight champion would not go any further in his appraisal of the new heavyweight hope, and the two may meet if promoters can lure him back to the ring. However, he watched Schmeling's display of fistic qualities intently, as the German outboxed Steve Hayden and Ray Ortega from pillar to post for two rounds each.

Isn't it about time we'd be hearing of a woman with twelve grandchildren staying up in a plane 200 hours?

Sammy Mandell Works Out With Police On Guard

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Surrounded by police guard to thwart possible attempts at violence against him, Sammy Mandell today went through final preparations for the 16-round clash in defense of his world lightweight championship against Tony Cannoneri at Chicago stadium Friday night.

The champion late yesterday secretly slipped away from his training camp accompanied by the police guard, upset by annoyances believed to have been inspired by a gambling group endeavoring to stage a betting coup. Mandell went to a hotel where he expected to remain with his bodyguard, leaving only to take a final workout today.

Mandell was a big favorite in the betting, the odds having mounted steadily in his favor during the past week. He was quoted at 1 to 2 1/2 late yesterday and it was learned that he was only a fraction of a pound over the division limit of 135 pounds.

Both the champion and Cannoneri, the challenger, today were to finish up with six rounds of floor-work. Mandell still had a little weight to remove, but Tony was down to 132.
