Charter Members Of Lodge Honored By Organization

Mrs. Emma Harding and Mrs. Lydia Grandy, two of the three remaining charter members of Crystal Rebekah Lodge No. 56 were honored by that organization last night at a meeting when they received tributes that were accompanied by lovely bouquets.

Following their introduction and the presentation of the flowers both Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Grandy, who have been members of the lodge here for nearly 40 years, spoke briefly telling about the beginning of Rebekahs here, their early meetings and their subsequent growth. Their talks were heard with keen interest and they received vigorous applause from the large group of women who attended the meeting last night at the Odd Fellow's hall.

Mrs. R. J. Kitchin, noble grand, presided at the session, the business of which was quickly transacted before the social evening began. Vocal solos by Mrs. Minnie Rymun were enjoyed. Mrs. Lynam was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Hess.

Refreshments were served, with Mrs. Mollie Buck, Mrs. Margaret Crossen and Mrs. Olive Chadwick in charge.

Women Golfers In Weekly Tourney

Weekly sweepstakes play was in progress today for women at the La Grande country club and drew a large number of feminine golfers to the course.

Since the introduction of the Thursday sweepstakes early this summer that occasion was proved a popular one with the increasingly large number of women golfers here and Thursday matches with the pleasantness of the associations and the attendant thrill of the competition have come to be regarded as delightful summer events.

Thursday, however, is far from being the only day on which the course is dotted with fair golfers. Several dozen women make an almost daily round part of their summer program.

Swimming Party Is Held At Cove

A five o'clock party and breakfast was enjoyed this morning by a group of girls, mostly employees of The Observer. They drove to the Cove with Miss Lenore Gibson, reaching the pool at 5:20 o'clock and swimming till about seven when they had breakfast at the Cove park. Those who took the early morning dip were Miss Katherine Moran, Miss Hazel Hopkins, Miss Lois Nelson, Miss Judy Moore, and Miss Gibson.

problem, there is no question about it," he said.

A proposal to extend the loading zones to take care of four cars met with opposition on the part of Commissioner Victor Melville, who pointed out that cars could be handled in by others making this situation worse. In addition, this would absorb too much of the parking space, he said. It was after this that the two time-limit stalls by each zone was suggested.

A. W. Nelson, president, and A. R. Hunter, secretary of the chamber of commerce; George H. Currey, of the rotary board; and H. D. Harpold, of the Lions club, were among the business men present who spoke on the question. All expressed the opinion that the service and civic clubs would give their entire co-operation to the city in solving the problem.

New Loading Zone Promised

Mr. Harpold also requested that a loading zone be established at Fourth and Washington, and he was informed that this would be taken care of immediately.

Mr. Nelson presented the four-car loading zone proposal, which he said was suggested by Sherwood Williams.

City Manager W. C. Crews said that a vigorous campaign would be directed against local people who drive from loading zone to loading zone, parking in each one five or more minutes, and not leaving their cars. He said that loading zones were abused in many instances by local people.

Mr. Hunter also said that he had interviewed numerous business men and that many of them had already promised him they and their employees would park their cars on back streets. All interviewed were of the opinion that some relief is necessary.

At the conclusion of the discussion the city's part of the problem was referred to the city manager and the police chief.

Another thing we didn't used to have in the old days that touch, wine shall never touch mine open doggy days is the "social room." I'll say this for adversity—people seem to be able to stand it, and that's more I kin say for pros.

Ruth Maguire, Jean McKeenon, Lois Jeanne Davis, Rosalie Whiteside, Marjorie Smith, Orvaline McWilliams, Barbara Conlidge, Cecelia Reynolds, Dorothy Wall, Margaret Dixon, Genevieve Flexer, Margaret Robben, Lorene Robertson, Mildred Green, and Dora Hunt passed this rank.

Five girls completed their frog pond, the second rank in swimming. They are Marjorie Smith, Orvaline McWilliams, Cecelia Reynolds, Dorothy Wall, and Genevieve Flexer.

The Wobelo is an honor that is awarded only to those girls who have been good campers in spirit, character, service, and who have shown worthy efforts. This honor was awarded to Genevieve Flexer, Marjorie Smith, Orvaline McWilliams, Dorothy Wall, Lorene Robertson, Fern Bloomfield, Margaret Dixon, Jean McKeenon, Barbara Conlidge, Ruth Maguire, Margaret Robben, Dora Hunt, Cecelia Reynolds, and Charlie Taylor.

Three honors were awarded to the three outstanding girls in camp. An honor painted like the rainbow, symbolic of the "light of camp" was given to Dora Hunt as the best all-around camper. A service honor was awarded to Cecelia Reynolds for the most willing service. Her honor symbolized a kind heart, willing and helpful hands, and an observing mind. To the best girl in the campercraft division, Dorothy Wall, an honor painted with an orange flame surrounded by green trees was awarded.

Several of the girls received eight and nine honors apiece, but only one girl in camp received eleven. Dorothy Wall received one of every rank, her Wobelo honor, a silver head, and the special campercraft honor.

During the ceremonial the girls sang many of their campfire songs. "Burn Fire Burn," "Mummy Moon," and "Sheltering Flame," were some of them.

After the council fire had burned low the girls toasted marshmallows on the coals. The treat was sent to the camp by H. P. Conlidge.
