AUTO MAY REVEAL CLUES TO DEATH

Federal Officers Searching for Machine Used by Paul E. Reynolds.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 12. (AP)—An intensive search was being staged by federal officers today for the automobile in which Paul E. Reynolds, 31, special agent of the department of justice, was seen alive five days ago, in an effort to find a clue concerning his slayers.

Reynolds' body was found floating in an irrigation canal several miles north of here yesterday, a bullet wound in his heart. Friends said the special agent, who had headquarters at El Paso, Texas, had signified his intentions of going to Albuquerque, N. M., late Friday night.

At an automobile agency where he rented the car, Reynolds had said he was going for a "little swim," and that he would return in a few hours. The manager of the concern said they had given him the delayed absence no thought since he often rented machines and kept them for several days.

Authorities here said they were unable to throw any light on Reynolds' slaying as the case was working up at the time of his disappearance was not considered to be of a dangerous nature. It was pointed out, however, that he had been instrumental in apprehending narcotic smugglers along the border recently.

Some significance was placed in the fact that a brief case, which was believed to have contained valuable evidence concerning a large liquor and narcotic smuggling ring he suspected was operating at the Mexican boundary was also reported missing, along with a pistol he was known to have carried.

INVESTIGATION PLANNED WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—

Two agents of the department of justice today were en route by airplane from Washington to Phoenix, Ariz., to investigate the death of Paul E. Reynolds, department of justice special agent, whose body was found yesterday near Phoenix. The agents, N. J. Keith, general inspector of the justice department bureau of investigation, and S. W. Hardy, special agent, left here last night and expected to arrive in Phoenix some time today.

MORE WORK IS SAID NEEDED ON PERRY DAM

Following an inspection of the Perry dam, Ray Bonnett, local sportsman, is of the opinion that more work is required on the dam to insure free passage of fish up the river. He said this morning that a little labor by a crew of men for a couple of days or more would place the dam in such a condition that the high water would remove the last obstacle.

"In my opinion there were very few salmon that got above the dam," he said. "This surely needs some attention from the local sportsmen."

DINNER WILL HONOR CHIEF OF REALTORS

(Continued from Page One) Founder of Culver City. Mr. Culver is the founder and builder of Culver City, located on the path of growth of Los Angeles toward the ocean front. He is president of Harry H. Culver and company. The firm in 1928 began active work on the development of a new city project, University City, located five miles southwest of Culver City. Mr. Culver is president of the Pacific Building and Loan association, vice president of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank, and a director of the Lincoln Mortgage company, Los Angeles.

He is a past president of the Los Angeles realty board and a past president of the California Real Estate association. He has served as a director of the major highway committee of Los Angeles and of the traffic commission of Los Angeles. While in Wallowa county today the two men were under the direction of A. C. TARIFF BATTLE PORTENDS VIOLENT SENATE SESSION

The democratic leaders have given informal assurance that they are willing to accept the tariff measure is disposed of within the extra session, but the manifold opportunities offered by such controversial legislation for debate make no predictions certain. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is a democratic leader in the tariff fight.

Taking up for discussion such legislation in mid-summer is not calculated to be of much help in smoothing over the many points of difference presented by a tariff bill. The 19 members of the finance committee who will take the lead in the tariff discussion will enter the senate debate scene from long days of work on the bill throughout the summer.

The 11 republican members of the committee who assumed full responsibility for revision of the house bill have been closeted together for five hours a day for more than a month and the reports from behind closed doors told of many a hard fought session.

CONDITIONS EXCEPTIONAL FOR DAIRYING

(Continued from Page 1) program, he pronounced the groundwork already laid as exceptionally complete and perfect. He and Mr. Gignoux will give their personal attention to any inquiries from the middlewest that may be directed to them from the local land settlement committee, and every effort put forth on inquiries originating here, will be towards bringing the prospect here and not somewhere else in Oregon. The company adheres rigidly to this rule.

While in Wallowa county today the two men were under the direction of A. C. Miller, president of the land settlement commission.
