TOXER BURNED TO DEATH IN VILLAGE JAIL

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 20, (AP)—Billy McVee, 25, a Hoquiam purist, better known in sporting circles as Kid Ritchey, was burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed the town jail at Toledo, a village south of Chehalis, Wash.

McVee was to have appeared on a smoker program at Toledo last night, but was jailed early in the evening on a charge of drunkenness.

The jail was discovered on fire by men leaving the smoker at its close but were powerless to save McVee, its only occupant. It is not known how the fire started.

New Styles Stess Rich Sober Shades

By Diana Merwin (Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS, (AP)—There is almost as much change in the color-dress makers of influence here are showing for advance winter costumes as there is in lines and skirt lengths. Among the smartest shown are rich, dull colorings like eggplant purple, mahogany red, leaf mould brown, ivy and deep emerald green, and wine dress or chambertin red which is a shade browner than the burgandy of last year.

An important designer introduces two new colorings which he calls light and dark dahlias, and a rusty flame red with a rust brown tone in it, named for his house.

The dahlia shades border on eggplant purple, the lighter one with much red in it, meant for wear under bright lights; the darker, a close match for eggplant purple with rich blue-black shadows in it.

There is less black in the new styles than was shown for spring and black or dark blue coats and suits are apt to have gray or beige fine dots woven into the material, giving the effect of fine embroidery.

Some of the smartest winter street ensembles have dark coats and vividly colored linings which match one piece dresses. Black felt hats show colored felt linings taking the color ensemble-idea just a little further than it heretofore has been carried in winter styles.

Another version of the ensemble is black broadcloth coat of three quarter length and lame dress and coat lining. Such costumes most frequently combine bright reds or emerald green with black broadcloth and black astrakan trimming used in straight bands on the coat.

There is a great deal of white in brown, in fine lace and chiffon in new color for evening shown by several important houses. Black is still the evening classic and appears in most of the fabrics in general use. Aubergine and mahogany shades are new for evening. Black and white evening dresses are stressed at several houses.

Your fire insurance dollar pays for indemnity—for immunity against financial loss when calamity overtakes you. But that dollar buys so much more than the indemnity it pays for that it ranks as one of the most effective dollars you spend. Its purchasing power is away above the average.

Fire insurance, from the indemnity standpoint alone, is one of the cheapest of present-day necessities. Its cost has consistently declined—even during the period of war inflation—practically every year for the last twenty.

And this in spite of the fact that insurance service—as rendered by the 239 Stock companies constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters—has multiplied its activities for the public welfare and greatly enlarged their scope.

Research and Engineering

Your fire insurance dollar may pay for indemnity only, but for good measure the Stock Fire Insurance companies provide engineering and research services to make life and property safer—laboratories in which to test materials and devices—scientific measurement of fire hazards—building construction codes—arson detection and investigation—organized fire prevention—and many other voluntary measures designed to lower the fire waste and thereby reduce the cost of fire insurance.

A thorough understanding of what Stock Fire Insurance really means and does—and a greater public use of its facilities—should result in a still further reduction of the fire waste and a consequently greater service to the insuring public.
